Editorial

The principal significance of this first edition of the "Alma Mater" lies in the simple fact that it exists. The Alumni Association now has an official publication and the feeling is somewhat akin to owning your home. The future success of the "Alma Mater" depends upon the exercise of those same virtues which unite and bind the family: mutual respect, faith, and the willingness to work together for the good of all.

The editorial policy shall be in accord with the objectives of the Association as printed in the new Constitution and restated by our President. We shall attempt, thru these pages, to record events of our time, bringing information, and, we hope at times, inspiration, to over 4,000 Alumni practicing in twenty-six countries.

We invite comment, seek news, and with your support and encouragement, are willing to accept the challenge of a new opportunity.

Our Heritage

From An Address by FERDINAND J. S. GORGAS, M.D. D.D.S.
January 22, 1907

"The first effort to establish a college of dentists was made by Dr. Chapin A. Harris, assisted by Dr. Horace H. Hayden, the latter having delivered in 1837, in the University of Maryland, the first course of dental lectures in America. It was the object of Dr. Harris to organize a dental school in connection with the University of Maryland, but not being successful in convincing the faculty of the University of the usefulness of this project, he became the principal factor in instituting the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1840, and through his untiring efforts and labors can be justly regarded as the founder of the present system of dental education in this country.

In 1882 the legislature of Maryland chartered the Dental School as one of the departments of the University of Maryland. A summer session was first organized, which continued from May to October, when the first regular or winter session of 1882-1883 opened with a class of 60 matriculates. Its later classes have each numbered several hundred. That the dental department of the University of Maryland has contributed to the advancement of the science of dentistry is beyond question, and is shown by the rank it occupies among the dental schools of the country.

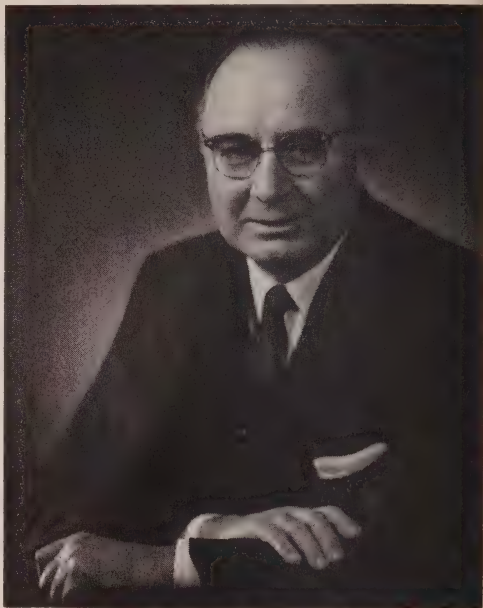

We have every reason to be proud of its alumni, who can be found in the faculties of dental schools, north, south, east and west, upon state dental examining boards, and in prominent positions in State Societies."

Message From The President—Alma Mater

It is indeed a great honor to serve as President of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, the oldest dental school in the world, and the privilege of writing a message for the first edition of the "Alma Mater" is likewise appreciated.

First, I wish to extend to our entire membership greetings and best wishes for the New Year. During these past several years, your Alumni Association has been quite active; our membership has grown, sectional organizations have been formed in New Jersey and Rhode Island, and four other sections are contemplated in Maine, Maryland, North Carolina and West Virginia.

The adoption of the new Constitution last June at the annual business meeting, which was very well attended, the compiling of a roster, and the publication of the "Alma Mater" all indicate interest and worthwhile activity, which brings me to the heart of this message.

Continued alumni support is necessary in order to achieve the "objectives" of our association so clearly expressed in the new Constitution: "to further the scientific, research, professional and cultural advancement of the members, and to stimulate within the dental school the sound teaching of dental practice so essential to the advancement of the profession. To support and maintain the traditions of the oldest dental school so that leadership in dental education and professional progress shall be fundamental to our dental school and its graduates."

Future progress within the dental school and its esteem which we prize so highly depends in no small measure upon the development of an atmosphere of academic and professional achievement. Your officers, councilmen and committeemen are all dedicated to this spirit of progress and with the active support of our large alumni will surely succeed in the fulfillment of the alumni "objectives".

The Secretary's Report

This year has been a most gratifying experience for me as secretary of the Alumni Association. In every organization of any consequence progressive changes are necessary in order to keep pace with the times. Our organization is no exception to this rule. As an organization grows in number there are new problems that face its administration.

In recent years the Alumni Association has been in dire need of a strong constitution. A constitutional committee was appointed and after two years of hard work a new constitution was adopted by the membership at the annual business meeting held last year in Baltimore. This was a big step forward in the new look of our Alumni Association.

Once the constitution was adopted it brought about very important changes in the organization of our Association. A budget was established for the first time for expenditures of money to run the Alumni Association. Each alumni activity was allotted an appropriation to cover that particular area. The expenses of our organization are getting higher each year because of the increased activity.

One of the important changes brought about has been the formation of alumni sections. These sections serve to stimulate interest in the various parts of the country for our Alma Mater. At present there are two official sections of our Alumni Association—the New Jersey Association and the Rhode Island Section. Both of these sections have been very active. The Rhode Island section was formed during the past year. There is a proposed West Virginia Alumni Section which will be acted upon at the annual business meeting in June. Many of the activities of these sections will be covered in separate reports.

The alumni breakfast meetings held during the American Dental Association conventions have been very popular. Each year more and more interest has been developed in this activity. For the past three years we have sponsored alumni cocktail parties at the American Dental Association meetings. These parties have given our alumni an opportunity to get together and visit with each other during the American Dental Association meeting. Interest has developed for official sections in Florida, Maine and North Carolina. This whole idea seems to be catching fire throughout our alumni and we feel that this is a healthy situation.

The birth of a new Journal, The Alma Mater, was established this year. This periodical will be the expression of our Alumni Association and it will keep our membership informed. It will be a change that all of us can be proud of.

Our Association has seen fit to establish an annual award honoring a distinguished alumnus. This award is called the Distinguished Alumni Award and shall be offered each year during June Week.

The alumni may look forward to some very outstanding activities during 1959. In June there will be a Triennial Meeting in conjunction with the usual June Week activities. It will mark a very important period in our yearly schedule. This meeting was combined in order to avoid two meetings within the same year.

We have organized our thinking on the Greater Alumni Fund Drive to the advantage of the dental alumni. It is our thinking that dentists who are graduates of the Dental School, University of Maryland, wish their contributions to be spent on activities related to dentistry. This was a difficult task but your officers and board have convinced those individuals in charge of this fund drive that this must be accomplished. Dental graduates usually have their first loyalty to their Alma Mater, the Dental School, University of Maryland; rather than to the Greater University of Maryland. Progress is slow but we are gradually attaining the goals for which a strong alumni stands. The following reports will keep you informed of past and future activities of our Association.

Joseph P. Cappuccio

The First Alumni Meeting

"According to notice, a meeting of the graduates of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery was held on the 6th of March last, in the College Building, Baltimore City, with the object of forming an Alumni Association.

About one hundred of the graduates assembled, quite a number coming from other states and cities. The meeting was organized by the call of Dr. S. J. Cockerille, of Washington, D. C., to the chair; Dr. F. J. S. Gorgas, of Baltimore, acting as secretary.

The balloting for officers of the association resulted as follows:

President—Dr. S. J. Cockerille, of Class of '53

First Vice-President—Dr. T. A. LaFar, of Class of '60

Recording Secretary—Dr. T. H. Davy, of Class of '74

Corresponding Secretary—Dr. Wm. B. Wise, of Class of '74

Executive Committee—Drs. F. J. S. Gorgas, of Class of '55,

Jas. H. Harris, of Class of '60,

W. H. Hoopes, of Class of '56

Dr. Cockerille, on assuming the chair, made some interesting remarks on the present strength and dignity of the profession, the necessity for organization, and the claims of their Alma Mater upon those she sends forth to practice the dental art. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, in which it was determined to hold the annual meetings on the commencement days of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery."

Report of Historian

The historian has been called a facts collector, a chronicler of events, a gatherer in the field of biography and even sometimes the keeper of ancient archives. And the historian of dentistry has not escaped these sobriquets. If one would refer to most standard volumes on the history of dentistry, there would be found such introductory remarks as: "This volume . . . is to preserve the memory and perpetuate the names of the men who wrought . . . to achieve the wonderful improvement, discoveries and inventions that made dentistry what it is today" (Koch). Another states: "The purpose of this work is two-fold: to present, first the history . . . and second a bibliography of its important literature" (Weinberger). The author of a recent book on dental history begins with the statement: "The pens of many writers of the past have preserved the records of the evolution of dental progress and it is the efforts of these chroniclers that this volume has been made possible" (Lufkin). And, a final illustration: "The object of this volume is to furnish the student or the busy practitioner . . . a large number of facts which may be of use in his professional work" (Weinberger).

If I subscribed to this concept of the dental historian, then of necessity I must report to you a long list of important activities that have taken place within the past two years. I would have to give you a chronological chart of "people, places and things" which has already been done so adequately by our reports of the Secretary and the publications of our Editor.

However, I hold to the theory that dental historiography is much more than the collection and classification of historic material. This is but part of the job. What is perhaps more important is the conception and interpretation of historic material. Dental writers have a tendency to believe the development of dentistry to be synonymous with the history of dentistry. And yet, they are two separate and distinct historical processes. When we speak of "development" in terms of dentistry, it is an exposition of the progress or evolution of the various factors that comprise the profession whether it be in areas of practice, education, technology and so on. But, the history of dentistry attempts not only to arrange and record what has happened, but it desires to ascertain how and from which causes and purposes everything has happened. This concept is known as pragmatic historiography.

It is in this frame of reference I wish to report to you as Historian. Our Alumni Association has been in continuous existence for 117 years—although it was officially organized in 1849 as the "Society of the Alumni." But I say 117 years—or since 1841—from the moment Robert Arthur received his Chirurgiae Dentium Doctor degree from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. It is true he never paid dues in cash; but his dues were paid to our school and the alumni in credit. Credit in the world-wide renown acclaimed to us as the first institution of its kind anywhere which gave to dentistry—from that day to this—its complete educational autonomy in the health professions. And each succeeding class of graduates has added to this great movement. The addition of the Maryland Dental College in 1878, the addition of the Dental Department of the University of Maryland in 1913 and the final amalgamation in 1923 of all the dental educational interests in Baltimore was an historic evolution which has brought with it the strong alumni group we know today.

Our Alumni Association through its distinguished membership and through its many activities both professional and cultural has maintained a commanding position in the forefront of dentistry not only in the United States but in foreign lands as well. I believe the reason for this is the fact that our Alumni Association for over 100 years has held steadfast to the practices and principles laid down by our founding members: an association dedicated to loyalty to our Alma Mater, devotion to the profession of our choice, inspiration to the dental student and dedicated to the creation of continuous vibrant friendships and cordial associates.

I would like to close this report with an excerpt from a report recently published entitled: American Higher Education—1958: "Years ago Dr. Hu Shi, the scholar who was then Chinese Ambassador to the United States said America's greatest contribution to education was its revolutionary concept of the alumnus: its concept of the former student as an understanding, responsible partner and champion.

Today, this partner and champion of American higher education has an opportunity for service unparalleled in our history. He recognizes, better than anyone, the essential truth in the statement to which millions, finally, now subscribe: that upon higher education depends, in large part, our society's physical and intellectual survival. He recognizes, better than anyone else, the truth in the statement that the race can attain even loftier goals ahead, by strengthening our system of higher education in all its parts. As an alumnus—first by understanding, and then by exercising his leadership—he holds within his own grasp the means of doing so.

Rarely, has one group in our society—indeed, every member of the group—had the opportunity and the ability for such high service.

Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio, Secretary
The National Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery
Dental School
University of Maryland
Baltimore 1, Maryland

Dear Dr. Cappuccio:

In Dr. Elkins' absence from the campus for a few days, I am replying to your letter of July 31 concerning the resolution adopted by the National Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland.

We are pleased to know that your group has gone on record requesting that a Department of Oral Hygiene be established in the Dental School. Dean Aisenberg, and the faculty of the School of Dentistry, have indicated this need and a strong desire to establish such a training program. They have felt that the present facilities are so heavily in use that it would be difficult to allot sufficient space for this program to be undertaken immediately.

A new building is being planned for the School of Dentistry, with the hope that construction might get underway in 1962. In the planning of this building full consideration will be given to sufficient facilities to meet this need.

Dean Aisenberg and his associates are at the present time re-studying the facility needs in connection with this training, to determine whether there is any practical way for this program to be instituted prior to the construction of the new building.

We have been convinced for some time that this is an important program for the University to undertake and we hope that it will be possible to meet this need without great delay.

Very truly yours,

A. O. Kuhn,
Executive Vice President

Dr. Harry Levin,
5320 Park Heights Ave.
Baltimore 15, Maryland.

Dear Harry:

I enjoyed lunch with you Saturday and our discussion of your letter of December 12th. It would seem that this is moving towards a constructive and beneficial conclusion.

In specific answer to your questions:

1. All funds designated for dental purposes will be used for these purposes only. Also, it is assured that there will be a continued right for all alumni to designate their own school for their gifts.
2. The officers of the Association will be consulted concerning the expenditure of the funds which they have helped raise.
3. The names of all contributors are published and we will endeavor to furnish special lists by schools according to our information.
4. Each year we publish an annual report of the Fund. A copy of this year's published report release is enclosed. The money collected has not been applied to overhead, as you can see.

I might add, in connection with these questions, that we are a State Agency under continuous State audit and we publish reports regularly as required by statutes and regulations concerning tax exemptions, tax deductions and charitable solicitations. We will welcome an examination by any proper auditing committee you select.

Your people have always been noted for their loyalty to their school and this move should give them the means to make their loyalty felt in an effective manner. You deserve credit for your pioneering work in this area before the Greater University of Maryland Fund was established and again you should be assured that there is no intention of disturbing this fund that you established.

In conclusion, we want to express our appreciation of the fine support and assistance of the Dental Alumni who helped make the Founders Program of the Fund so successful.

We shall get out your letter promptly.

Best regards,

A Letter From Dr. Henry S. Zaytoun, '46, Of Rocky Mount, N. C.

During the annual meeting of the North Carolina Dental Society held at Pinehurst, North Carolina, the Alumni of our School joined in a breakfast meeting. The meeting was under the general arrangements of Dr. Robert Baker, Kings Mountain, North Carolina, and he, in his remarks to the group, invited all the Alumni to make this an annual affair. The next meeting will be under the general chairmanship of Dr. Robert R. Morrison, Raleigh, North Carolina.

I took this occasion to enlighten the group on the Greater University of Maryland Fund and what it means to the future students and faculty in our school. I also advised the group of the recent honoring of Miss Katharine Toomey by Mt. Saint Mary's College with an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree. The group rejoiced in this great honor to Miss Toomey and extended their good wishes.

Those in attendance were as follows:

Dr. C. A. Thomas, Wilmington, North Carolina; Dr. C. B. Ledbetter, Raleigh, North Carolina; Dr. L. G. Coble, Greensboro, North Carolina; Dr. L. G. Page, Yanceyville, North Carolina; Dr. Riley Spoon, Winston-Salem, North Carolina; Dr. W. A. Presley, Greensboro, North Carolina; Dr. H. S. Zaytoun, Rocky Mount, North Carolina; Dr. S. W. Shaffer, Greensboro, North Carolina; Dr. R. R. Morrison, Raleigh, North Carolina; Dr. M. P. Nicholson, Raleigh, North Carolina; Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Martin, Enka, North Carolina; Dr. W. P. Weeks, Winston-Salem, North Carolina; Dr. V. Andrews, Mocksville, North Carolina; Dr. C. H. Teague, Greensboro, North Carolina.

It is our feeling that when a more suitable hour for the meeting can be arranged that the attendance will be much greater and we are working on this now for next year.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed)

Alumni Banquet

On June 6th the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland held their annual Dinner-Dance at the Southern Hotel in Baltimore honoring the graduating class of 1958 and four "distinguished" alumni who were presently serving as deans of Dental Schools. This was a very fine affair attended by over 400 members and guests; its success was due in no small measure to the efforts of Dr. Eugene D. Lyons, Chairman of the Banquet Committee. Preceding the dinner a cocktail party was held on the terrace, the weather being excellent for such an occasion. Dr. Thomas B. Symons, member of the Board of Regents, was our guest as was Mr. David L. Brigham, Director of Alumni Relations, who commented that the Dental Alumni group was the most active of any; the turnout was indicative of enthusiastic support.

Dr. Harry Dressel, Chairman of the Alumni June week Committee, who worked so successfully with Dr. Calvin Gaver, Faculty Chairman, introduced to President Daniel E. Shehan two graduates of the class of 1908—Dr. James E. Funderburk of Cheraw, North Carolina, and Dr. Raymond S. Nieman of York, Pennsylvania. They received a certificate in recognition of 50 years of service in dentistry. The five remaining members of that class were unable to attend.

Dr. Samuel H. Bryant received from Dean Myron Aisenberg an award for 25 years of service at Maryland.

The recipients of the Distinguished Alumni Award were:

Dr. Frank J. Houghton, Dean of the Dental School, Loyola University of New Orleans—Presented by Dr. Gerard A. Devlin;

Dr. Harry B. McCarthy, Dean of the Dental School, Baylor University—Presented by Dr. Paul A. Deems;

Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg, Dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland—Presented by Dr. Harry Levin;

Dr. J. Ben Robinson, Dean of the Dental School, University of West Virginia—Presented by Dr. Ernest B. Nuttall (Award received in absentia by Dr. Katharine Toomey, Administrative Assistant).

Each received a replica of a bronze plaque located in Dean's Hall of the Dental School. It is inscribed as follows: "In recognition of constant devotion and outstanding contributions to the art and science of dentistry."

Dr. Howard S. Spurrier of Utah, who incidentally was President of the senior class, received the University Gold Medal for highest scholastic attainment. Numerous other honors were conferred upon members of the graduating class.

The formal ceremonies were concluded with the installation of officers. Dancing followed.

West Virginia Alumni Section

Luncheon Meeting at White Sulphur Springs

During the last West Virginia State Dental Association meeting at the Greebrier, White Sulphur Spring, July 20-23, 1958, a luncheon was arranged by Dr. Walter Brown for the purpose of discussing the formation of a West Virginia Alumni Section. Our President, Dr. Edwin Gail and your Editor attended this meeting bringing greeting and news of events elsewhere.

Dr. Brown, as Chairman, asked those in attendance to express their views regarding this new Alumni activity. Dean Emeritus J. Ben Robinson and the newly-appointed Dean, Kenneth Randolph, spoke eloquently on the values of continued loyalty to our Alma Mater, and encouraged strong support of organizational efforts. It was a pleasant and thoroughly enjoyable gathering. Those in attendance were:

Doctors J. Ben Robinson, '14, Clarksburg, W. Va.; Edwin Gail, '18, Baltimore, Md.; Laco W. Gochenour, '22, Clarksburg, W. Va.; J. A. Martindale, '29, Ansted, W. Va.; Kyrle W. Preis, '29, Baltimore, Md.; Edgar B. Reese, '31, Fairmont, W. Va.; M. E. Brown, '33, Fairmont, W. Va.; Kenneth V. Randolph, '39, Morgantown, W. Va.; W. W. Corder, '42, Buckhannon, W. Va.; W. B. Brown, '44, Fairmont, W. Va.; John M. Mallow, '44, Marlinton, W. Va.; C. R. Gerber, Jr., '44, St. Marys, W. Va.; Theresa A. Edwards, '48, Beckley, W. Va.; Emanuel A. Kostas, '49, Whitesville, W. Poling, '51, Philippi, W. Va.; Dr. and Mrs. H. Byrd Teter, '51, Franklin, W. Va.

The following were elected officers of the contemplated section:

Dr. Walter Brown, President

Dr. Laco Gochenour, 1st Vice-President

Dr. Theresa Edwards, 2nd Vice-President

Dr. Francis Edwards, Secretary-Treasurer

Dr. Morris Brown, Historian-Librarian.

New Jersey Alumni Section

On Wednesday, November 19, the New Jersey Alumni Section held an afternoon of clinics at the Robert Trent Hotel in Newark. Those invited to speak were: Dr. Irving Abramson, Assistant Professor of Oral Medicine, speaking on "Endodontics"; Dr. Wilbur Ramsay, Associate Professor of Dental Prosthesis, speaking on "Hypnodontics"; and Dr. Edward Dobbs, Professor of Pharmacology and Therapeutics, speaking on "Antibiotics".

The scientific presentations were followed by a dinner during which awards were presented to Dr. Harry B. McCarthy, Dean of the Baylor Dental School at Dallas, Texas, and to Dean Emeritus of both the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, and the West Virginia Dental School, Doctor J. Ben Robinson.

Dr. Gerard Devlin of Newark, N. J. was chairman of the Committee on Awards.

The officers of the New Jersey Section are:

Dr. Saul M. Gale, '22, President; Dr. Joseph Martin, '34, President-elect; Dr. Alan A. Gale, '50, Vice-President; Dr. Samuel H. Byer, '27, Treasurer; Dr. Robert H. Jernick, '50, Secretary.

ATTENTION PLEASE

Undoubtedly many of our Alumni have achieved honors and merited distinction, but the facts surrounding such occasions have escaped our attention. Perhaps modesty or indifference has interfered with the news reaching us.

This is regrettable, for one of the principal purposes of the Alma Mater is to serve as a repository of events. Our past records are indeed meager and Alumni activities during the time of the merger of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery with the Dental School, University of Maryland, are wrapped in confusion.

Therefore, we urge you to send us information so that we may print the news.

Rhode Island Alumni Section Meets

Dinner Meeting in Providence

The Rhode Island Alumni Section held its annual meeting on Monday, January 19, at the Biltmore Hotel in Providence, R. I. in conjunction with the Rhode Island State Dental Convention. This meeting was one of the largest gatherings of Rhode Island alumni of the Dental School, University of Maryland.

There was a cocktail party, banquet, and business meeting. At this banquet Distinguished Alumni Awards were presented to Dr. Kyrle Preis and Ernest Nuttall. This Award was the first of its kind in the New England area.

It is rather interesting to note that the smallest state in the Union represents approximately 100 graduates of the Dental School, University of Maryland. At its first organizational meeting held last year 47 graduates attended. This was a remarkable attendance for an alumni section. A great deal of this success is due to the leadership of Dr. Edward C. Morin, President, and Dr. William F. Decesare, Secretary. No section could prosper without the able backing of all the graduates in that area. They should be congratulated for their loyalty and devotion to the Dental School, University of Maryland.

Rhode Island dentistry has been blessed with men such as Dr. Michael B. Messore, Dr. Edgar L. Bessette, Dr. James H. Kershaw, Dr. Charles Heaton, Dr. Peter T. Kanelos and Dr. Eric Waxberg, who have been leaders of the dental profession.

Many of the younger men such as Dr. Eugene M. Nelson, Dr. Frank V. Tirrochi, Dr. George Weir, Dr. Carlo C. Calenda, Dr. Frank S.

Celestino, Dr. Pasquale Capalbo, Dr. Albert D. Picozzi and many others have contributed their parts in this effort.

The officers and council of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, congratulates this Section and are proud of the record made by its graduates in little "Rhody".

Alumni Breakfast in Dallas

Excellent turnout at Dallas Breakfast

A very successful alumni breakfast was held at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Dallas, Texas, on Tuesday, November 11, 1958. Approximately 110 alumni and friends gathered together for this annual breakfast meeting. This represented a very excellent turnout for a meeting held at such a great distance from the east coast.

President Gail introduced the following members and guests at the head table: Dr. Ernest B. Nuttall, Dean Kenneth V. Randolph, W. Va. University; Dean Myron S. Aisenberg, University of Maryland; Dean Frank J. Houghton, Loyola University; Dean Emeritus J. Ben Robinson, Dr. Katherine Toomey, Dr. Lynn L. Emmart, Dr. Lawrence Bimestefer, Dr. Edward R. White, Trustee of the Fourth District of the ADA; Dr. George B. Clendenin, Dr. Daniel F. Lynch, Past President of the ADA, Dr. Eugene L. Pessagno, Dr. Harry W. Dressel, Jr., President-Elect of the Alumni Association.

Dr. Gail congratulated our Alumni Association for its success throughout the years and he felt that this breakfast meeting was most surprising to him because of the interest shown by our alumni members. He thanked Dr. Cappuccio, the secretary, for helping him to secure a room which originally was scheduled for the Maryland Alumni cocktail party. The room was necessary to Dr. Alstadt for a reception of the Board of Trustees of the ADA. The Association is indebted to Dr. Alstadt for his kind remarks and for his presence at breakfast.

Dr. McCarthy was introduced as the guest speaker of the morning. He welcomed the alumni and guests to the great State of Texas. During his remarks he explained some of the problems of housing as it was related to the convention. He introduced Mr. and Mrs. William Meek as guests of the Association. Coach Meek is the head coach at Southern Methodist University and served at one time as a former assistant coach at the University of Maryland. Dean McCarthy thanked the entire group for the opportunity to speak and he welcomed them all to visit the Baylor Dental School during their stay in Dallas, Texas.

One of the high points of this breakfast meeting was the presence of the five deans who are graduates of the Dental School, University of Maryland. This distinction is unparalleled in schools of dentistry in this country.

President Gail introduced the secretary, Dr. Joe Cappuccio, to make a few introductions and announcements. Dr. Cappuccio introduced the oldest graduate, Dr. Daniel N. Cushing of the Class of 1897. Dr. Cushing is now residing in San Antonio, Texas. Among those introduced by the secretary were Dr. Marion McCrea, Associate Dean at the University of Minnesota; Mr. Glenn Millard, Mr. Joseph Welch, Dr. and Mrs. Buckey Clemson, Monsignor Franczak, Regent at Seton Hall University; Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm B. Bowers, Mrs. Helen McCarthy, Dr. Gerard A. Devlin, Dr. and Mrs. Englander, Dr. and Mrs. Eichenbaum. The largest ovation was given to Lt. Col. Garnet P. Francis, who made the death march from Bataan. Capt. Joseph Scanlon, U. S. Navy, a former hockey player for the University of Maryland, was introduced to the group. Time did not permit to introduce all the illustrious alumni and guests in attendance. The secretary presented to Mrs. McCarthy and Mrs. Meek souvenir bracelets of the State of Maryland. These presentations were mementos to the wives of two distinguished men who once were associated with the University of Maryland.

The secretary made announcements regarding the triennial meeting to be held in conjunction with June Week, the adoption of a new constitution by the Association, the formation of an Alumni Section in Rhode Island, the activity of the New Jersey Alumni Section, the proposed West Virginia Alumni Section and the establishment of a new Alumni Journal, The Alma Mater, which will be published around February 1, 1959. He explained the mechanism of the Greater Alumni Fund Drive and how it affected the dental alumni. He congratulated those present for their interest and loyalty to their Alma Mater.

Dr. Gail announced the cocktail party to be held that evening at the Statler Hilton Hotel. He welcomed the alumni and their guests to attend. He concluded his remarks by thanking all of those present and inviting them to attend the alumni breakfast in New York City in 1959 which is the Centennial year of the American Dental Association. Thus was ended another milestone in the history of the oldest dental college in the world.

Did You Know—

G. V. Black was noted for his pursuits in fields other than dentistry. His scientific curiosity led him into research concerning over 80 species of Oak trees. The factual data obtained is considered authoritative today.

Just as a tree stands monumental in stature, so does Dr. Black. His contributions to dental education need no repetitions or embellishments. Suffice to say his textbook and his procedural system of technics have withstood the test of time for over 50 years.

Kenneth V. Randolph Appointed Dean

Dean Robinson congratulates Kenneth Randolph

The Alumni Association is indeed honored and proud to pay tribute to Dr. Kenneth V. Randolph, '39, who recently has been named Dean of the Dental School of West Virginia. He succeeds Dr. J. Ben Robinson who retired on June 30.

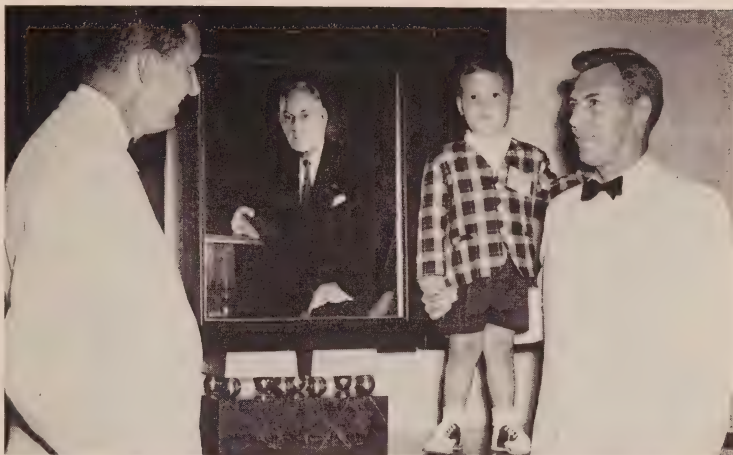

Dr. Randolph completed his pre-dental training at the West Virginia University, then attended the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, graduating with honors in 1939. He remained as a teacher of Operative Dentistry and within a few years was appointed Professor of that Department.

In 1957 he left Maryland to return to his native state of West Virginia and served as Professor of Operative Dentistry and Associate Dean of the Dental School there.

The Alumni Association congratulates Dr. Randolph upon his appointment as Dean.

Our chief want in life is somebody who shall make us do what we can. Emerson

Baylor Honors Dean Harry McCarthy

During the alumni meeting of the Baylor Dental College at the Adolphus Hotel on November 10, Governor Price Daniels and Baylor University President, Dr. W. R. White, presented Dean Harry McCarthy with the following citation inscribed on a beautiful plaque:

"Dean Harry B. McCarthy, in recognition of his service to the Baylor College of Dentistry and to the Profession of Dentistry, the Alumni of the College join in this public record of appreciation." This is the first time in the history of the school that this award or citation has ever been given.

The recipients have appeared on the scientific programs of the Rhode Island State Dental Association on many occasions. Congratulations are in order to Dr. Preis and Dr. Nuttall for this distinguished honor. On this same occasion Dr. Cappuccio, acting as the presidents representative, presented a component charter to Dr. Edward Morin, president of the Rhode Island section.

"The worst thing about history is that every time it repeats itself the price goes up."

Lawrence W. Bimestefer Honored

Invitation to membership in Omicron Kappa Upsilon is indeed a rare privilege and a cherished honor, for this society places such high regard for academic excellence and professional idealism, in a sense it epitomizes those values which we all hold dear.

This year the honor was conferred upon Dr. Lawrence W. Bimestefer, '34, of Dundalk, Maryland.

Dr. Bimestefer has contributed to scientific publications and has been active in local and state dental organizations and is presently the Editor of the Maryland State Dental Association "Journal."

Navy Honors Hammond L. Johnston

of the Naval Academy*

In recognition of the many hours during which he has assisted the Dental Department in the care of members of the Brigade of Midshipmen; for the thought and care that he has injected into their treatment during the past three years; for the inconveniences which he has cheerfully suffered to aid the Naval Academy's dental program; for his experience and worldly goods of which he has given so freely when needed; and, above all, for the health and happiness which he, through assistance and supervision, has brought to scores of Midshipmen by making possible a program of preventive dentistry related to the field of orthodontia at the U. S. Naval Academy; in recognition of these and many other acts which do in fact distinguish him as a true friend of the Navy, I do therefore, with great personal pride and pleasure, present him with the Severn River Naval Command "Good Neighbor Award."

Orientation Program For The Class Of 1962 At The Dental School

A very successful freshman orientation program was held on September 16, 1958, with the faculty and student body participating.

A word of greeting was given by the Dean of the Dental School, Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg, who acquainted the students with some of the trials and tribulations in the life of a dental student. Dr. Aisenberg suggested that all students should feel free at any time to call on him when there were problems confronting them.

Mr. Foley gave the new class a very interesting and stimulating talk on the history and background of our school. He emphasized some of the famous men that were associated with founding of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery and outstanding contributions made by our graduates throughout the years.

Dr. E. Gaston Vanden Bosche discussed admissions and the selection of the class. He stated that this year's class met the same high standards of all other classes and that they were expected to hold their own during their dental education. It was rather interesting that the freshman class had a large representation of students from the State of California.

Dr. Hahn presented a talk on the dental curriculum. It was an overall survey of all courses taken by the dental student. He explained the importance of the pre-clinical sciences as they were related to the dental sciences. He presented a very interesting diagram of an arch representing the various subjects taught in the dental school.

Dr. Provenza presented a talk on the pre-clinical sciences. He discussed the purposes, texts, study methods and examinations. A great deal of emphasis was placed on the proper study habits and that the student should prepare himself well before the examination period.

Dr. Ramsey acquainted the students with technique studies. He also emphasized the proper texts, study methods and examinations in the technical subjects.

Dr. Edward G. Vanden Bosche presented a talk on the dental clinic. He explained the various clinic areas and their locations in the school. The students were introduced to the various teachers responsible in those clinic areas and the mechanics of handling patients in the various clinics.

Dr. Ogden, the school physician, acquainted the new class with the student health program and how it operates. He explained to them that in cases of emergency he should be contacted. He stated that each student would be given a complete physical examination upon entering the school. He introduced Mrs. Graffam, the nurse in student health, who would see the students with their various problems and make arrangements for Dr. Ogden to see them when they were ill.

Mrs. Robinson, the librarian, presented the complete story on the dental library. She emphasized that all students would be required to do a certain amount of outside reading in order to pass their courses and to develop their overall knowledge. This completed the faculty aspect of freshman orientation.

Dr. Cappuccio, the chairman of this meeting, stated that much of the information presented to the incoming class would be an asset to them in the coming years. He felt that this class had received a rather thorough introduction to the dental school and the profession of dentistry. The program was then turned over to the student body to present their aspect of orientation.

The student body under the direction of Mr. Swoope, the president of the student government, presented a very interesting program on student life and welfare at the school. In this area the student body covered fraternity activities, inter-fraternity council, student dances and student government. The day was concluded with a tour of the school and a luncheon given by the student government. This was a most gratifying day in the life of the incoming freshman student. Probably all the questions and problems were not answered but everyone would have to admit that this was a more graceful way for the student to be introduced to the dental college for the first time. Congratulations are in order to all those individuals that made freshman orientation a reality.

Did You Know—

Casey Stengel attended Western Dental College, Kansas City, for three years in pursuit of his dental degree. He played second base in semi-pro ball in order to help pay his tuition. He was such a good hitter he was sent out to pasture and made his mark as an outfielder.

Casey's record as a major league manager needs no elaboration. His claim to fame concerning us in his historic remark: "I did not have any desire to become a left-handed dentist".

Admission Committee

Following the orientation program on September 16, 1958, and registration on September 17, the 1958 entering class has become an integral part of the Dental School. Instruction began on the following Monday for the new freshmen, as well as for the other classes.

In the new class there are 50 Maryland residents; this is the largest number of entering resident students ever to have been admitted by the Dental School in any single class. Fourteen other states and Hawaii are represented in the all-male class:

California	8
Connecticut	2
District of Columbia	1
Florida	11
Georgia	1
Hawaii	1
Maryland	50
Massachusetts	8
New Hampshire	2
New Jersey	7
North Carolina	2
Pennsylvania	4
South Carolina	3
Utah	1
Washington	2
West Virginia	1

Of the 104 freshmen 51 hold a bachelor's degree and three have the M.S. degree. An additional 22 expect to receive the bachelor's degree from the University of Maryland in 1959 under the combined Arts and Sciences-Dental program. The number of freshmen students holding degrees compares favorably with the 1957-58 ratio for all classes, when 224 students out of a total enrollment of 415, or 54%, held a degree. The national average for all dental schools in the same year was 44%.

It is important to the School and to the dental profession that great care be exercised in the selection of students.

In considering candidates for admission, the Board of Admissions gives preference to those applicants who have high scholastic records in secondary school and in college; who make satisfactory scores in the dental aptitude tests; who present favorable recommendations from their respective pre-dental committee or from one instructor in each of the departments of biology, chemistry, and physics; and who, in all other respects, give every promise of becoming successful students and dentists of high standing. Applicants are not admitted with unabsolved conditions or unabsolved failures.

The Dental Aptitude Testing Program is conducted by the Council on Dental Education in cooperation with the American Association of Dental Schools. The tests are given nationally three times each scholastic year, in October, January and April. Since applicants are permitted to take the tests only once during a given scholastic year, it is suggested that they take the tests in April of the year previous to the desired date of admission. Only one retake of the tests is allowed. The test scores, consisting of an academic average and a manual dexterity average, are most helpful in predicting the probable success of students in dental school.

The Board of Admissions consists of 5 members, appointed by the Dean. The Board has recently been provided with a new office (Room 10) on the first floor of the dental building. The alumni are encouraged to visit this office as well as the other new facilities of the School. The aid of the alumni in recommending to our School qualified applicants is invited and deeply appreciated.

New Space For An Old Department

Pharmacology Laboratory

After 118 years of existence the Department of Pharmacology and Therapeutics has been allocated separate space for its departmental needs. This includes a large, well equipped laboratory, a stock room, an animal preparation room and office space for the staff.

This all came about when the Pharmacy School, which has been occupying this space, moved into its new building at 636 W. Lombard Street. Previously, the Departments of Pharmacology and Biochemistry have shared the same laboratory facilities. This crowding curtailed each department in its teaching, not only on the undergraduate level, but also on postgraduate and graduate levels. Basic laboratory research was made difficult by the need of setting up and taking down equipment each day.

This modern Department of Pharmacology and Therapeutics is the outgrowth over the years of the older Department of Therapeutics and later of Materia Medica and Therapeutics. The founding fathers of dental education, Hayden and Harris, established a Department of Therapeutics in the original faculty of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. As this was the first dental school in the world (1840), this department was the first of its kind in a dental school. The first professor was Thomas Emerson Bond, Jr., M. D., who was listed as "Professor of Special Pathology and Therapeutics"; he served in this capacity from 1840 to 1872. The records for the next ten years are not clear, but in 1882 Samuel C. Chew, M. D., was listed in the school catalogue as Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics. From 1886 to 1899, Isaac Edmondson Atkinson, M. D., was listed as the Professor. It is interesting to note that from 1900 to 1906 the department was divided, with David M. R. Culbreth, M. D., Ph. D., as Professor of Materia Medica and Charles W. Mitchell A. M., M. D., as Professor of Therapeutics.

In 1906, the departments were again combined, with Timothy Oliver Heatwole, M. D., D. D. S., as Professor of Dental Materia Medica and Therapeutics. Dr. Heatwole served in this capacity until 1924, when J. Ben Robinson became dean and appointed Edward Hoffmeister, A. B., D. D. S., as Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics. Following the death of Dr. Hoffmeister in 1931, Dr. Robert L. Mitchell, Phar. D., M. D., assumed the responsibility for the lecturing until the appointment of Edward C. Dobbs, D. D. S., B. S., in the fall of 1932. As this was a full-time appointment, it permitted him to devote all of his time and efforts to this subject. The course title was changed to Pharmacology, Materia Medica and Therapeutics. In the school year 1939-1940 a laboratory course in Pharmacology was added to the lecture course, and the course title was shortened to Pharmacology and Therapeutics. In the 1943-44 school year, a lecture course on Nutritional Therapeutics was added, and in 1946-47 a lecture course in Oral Therapeutics was included in the curriculum by the Department. Both courses were added to the senior year, when the students could profit most from the instruction.

The newly acquired space has been put to work. Student research projects have been started, the results of which will be presented in theses and, in some instances, may be published. Three new local anesthetic drugs are being studied with the intent of finding a short-acting, high-potency anesthetic to be used in high-speed operative dentistry. Work is also underway to find a drug to be combined with local anesthetic solutions to dry the mouth as the tissues are anesthetized.

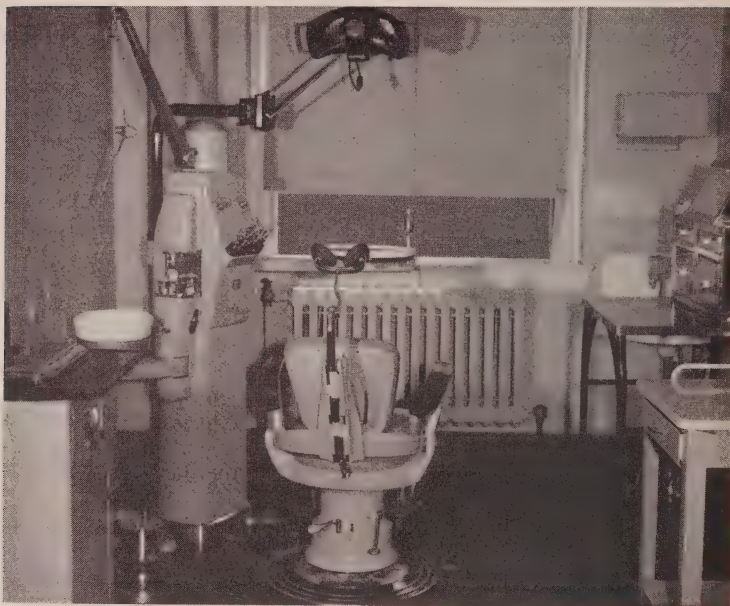

The Department did much of the clinical screening prior to the introduction of Ravocaine as a local anesthetic and of Levophed and NeoCobefrin as vasoconstrictors. Ravocaine and Procain with NeoCobefrin is now one of the best selling local anesthetics on the American market.

Calling All Dentists

According to the United States Department of Commerce, Office of Business Economics, the average dentist's peak earning period is between the ages of 35 and 44. After that there is a steady decline until at age 65 or over the average dentist earns 65% less than at his peak.

Oral Diagnosis And Roentgenology

New equipment in Oral Diagnosis Department

Several changes have been made in recent years in the Departments of Oral Diagnosis and Roentgenology. As a part of the changes, the Roentgenology Department has been made a part of the Oral Diagnosis Department, in order to achieve a better understanding of roentgenology as an aid to diagnosis.

Both departments are proud of new installations—the Diagnosis Department of all new chairs, units, and sterilizers—the Roentgenology Department of its new dryer and two high speed x-ray units. All precautionary measures have been taken to protect the patients and the operators from excessive radiation in the Roentgenology Department. The departments are happy with these improvements and proud, too, of additional staff members in both departments.

While these are the only physical changes, several new procedures have been instituted within recent years. Among these procedures is the emergency treatment of oral conditions other than extractions. These patients are treated by a senior student on assignment for the immediate complaint and later assigned for complete treatment.

Included in the procedure changes is the method of patient assignment, registration, and patient record cards. The use of patient agreement forms and revised health questionnaires has been incorporated as routine procedure.

Regularly scheduled Oral Diagnosis Seminars, with a physician and dental teacher as moderators, are a part of the Junior Diagnosis Teaching Program. The purpose of these seminars is to evaluate the total health of the patient from medical and dental aspects.

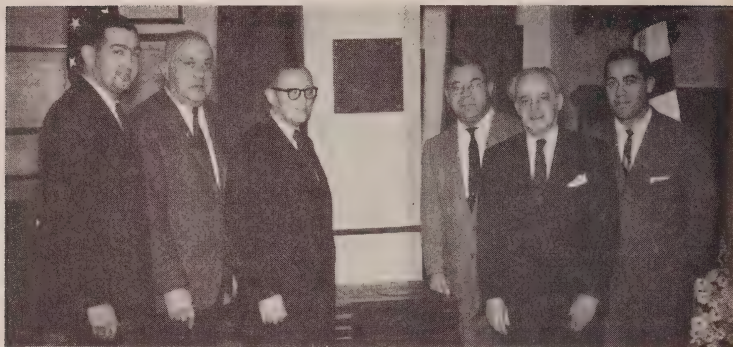

It is interesting to note that since records have been kept in this department, the number of patient visits have averaged between ten to twelve thousand per year. Thus, it is evident that a great variety of teaching material is available to our dental students.

The Departments of Oral Diagnosis and Roentgenology would deem it a genuine pleasure to welcome alumni visitors at any time.

Joseph Biddix

The individual's value to society does not lie exclusively in the professional services which he renders. It would be a sorry society in which men gave nothing to their contemporaries over and above the services for which they are rewarded and which enter into the computation of national income. That would be no society at all. Often enough one has a frightening vision of such a society, when one sees in some suburban train tired men traveling back from the day's toil to the small house in which they will shut themselves up to eat and sleep until they travel back to the factory or to the office. At those moments one treasures what is left of society; warm hospitality, leisured and far ranging conversation, friendly advice, voluntary and unrewarded services. BERTRAND de JOUVENAL.

Alpha Omega Presents Plaque

On Friday, February 13, 1959, amid the quiet, history-filled surroundings of the Dental School Museum, a beautiful bronze plaque, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Alpha Omega Fraternity, was presented to the school.

Fifty-two years ago, in 1907, this dental fraternity was founded at the school by a handful of far-seeing students. Since that time, the fraternity has grown to over 6,000 members with chapters all over the United States, Canada and Israel.

The stirring presentation to commemorate this founding was conducted by Past National President, Dr. Jesse Trager, and the tablet was accepted by Dean Myron Aisenberg for the dental school. Speakers included Dr. Samuel Neistadt, one of the few remaining founders, and Dr. David Dyen, present National President of Alpha Omega. Also in attendance were Dr. Walter Levine, National Secretary and Dr. Ben Williamowsky, National Regent, as well as a large audience of Alpha Omegas, Faculty members and wives.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, Miss Katherine Toomey entertained with delicious refreshments.

The Newman Club

During the early months of the 1955-56 Session, students who had attended colleges in which the influence of a Newman Club was helpful, and still a greater number who were also conscious of the spiritual good accomplished by such a society, planned for the formation of a chapter in our School.

The initial meeting held on the noon hour in a lecture hall inspired the students to elect officers, seek a chaplain, and found a permanent organization.

In 1956 we were so fortunate as to be accorded the privilege of holding our meetings in the Newman House located at 2941 N. Charles Street in Baltimore. The programs since that date have included members of the clergy and prominent laymen. Facilities of the house make it possible for meals to be served on the evenings of our meetings. Twice each year the students and alumni, together with their wives, attend both the special Mass and the communion breakfast.

It has been most gratifying to have our graduates participate, and we extend a hearty invitation for others to join with those alumni who have given such effective support to this student project.

John F. Clark, 1922 Class
Alumni Representative.

"The shady dental practices of the Crawcour brothers who came to this country from France in 1833 included the blatant advertising of an infamous amalgam which they called 'Royal Mineral Succedaneum' and for which they made fantastic claims. A crusade called the 'Amalgam War' was begun about 1839 by the American Society of Dental Surgeons to check the use of what they considered an ineffective and often dangerous filling material. The Society even declared it a malpractice to use any filling material except gold. This now appears to have been an extreme measure, especially when we consider that some of the most widely-used materials today are amalgams."

A Letter From Dr. Ferguson

... "In 1919 Dean Foster asked me to organize an Alumni Association and make an effort to raise $3,000.00 to pay for a monument honoring Doctor Chapin A. Harris, one of the founders of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. I regarded the request as a challenge and agreed to do it. Raising the money turned out to be a hard and difficult task. Viewing it now in retrospect I think it was a determination not to fall down on the job that put it over. I wrote a personal letter to every living Alumni. Some sent as little as $1.00. The last $500.00 was the hardest to raise.

In November 1921 I called a meeting of the graduates for the purpose of organizing an Alumni Association on the City, State and National level. The attendance was excellent. From out of the State we had about twenty in attendance. Doctor Carroll Frink came up from Jacksonville, Florida, Doctor Jackson from Savannah, Georgia, Doctor Gorman from North Carolina. Doctor Paul Stillman and Doctor James K. Burgess from New York City both nationally known for their contributions to Periodontia and Fixed Bridge Restorations. Doctor Frank P. Duffy from Rhode Island, and several from Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

After a lengthy discussion of our plans for presenting the monument of Doctor Harris to the City of Baltimore, during the graduation week of May 1922, we selected Doctor Harvey J. Burkhart of Rochester, New York to make the presentation to the City. Mayor William F. Broening was to accept it for the City. Doctor Burkhart was Director of the George Eastman Children's Dental Clinic and a former president of the American Dental Association. Dean Foster asked me to preside at this conference with Maryland and visiting Alumni in attendance. At the end of the meeting Doctor James Kendall Burgess of New York requested that I permit him to conduct the election of officers. He then proceeded to read off a slate of officers that he said had been decided upon the night before in his room at the Rennert Hotel. It follows:

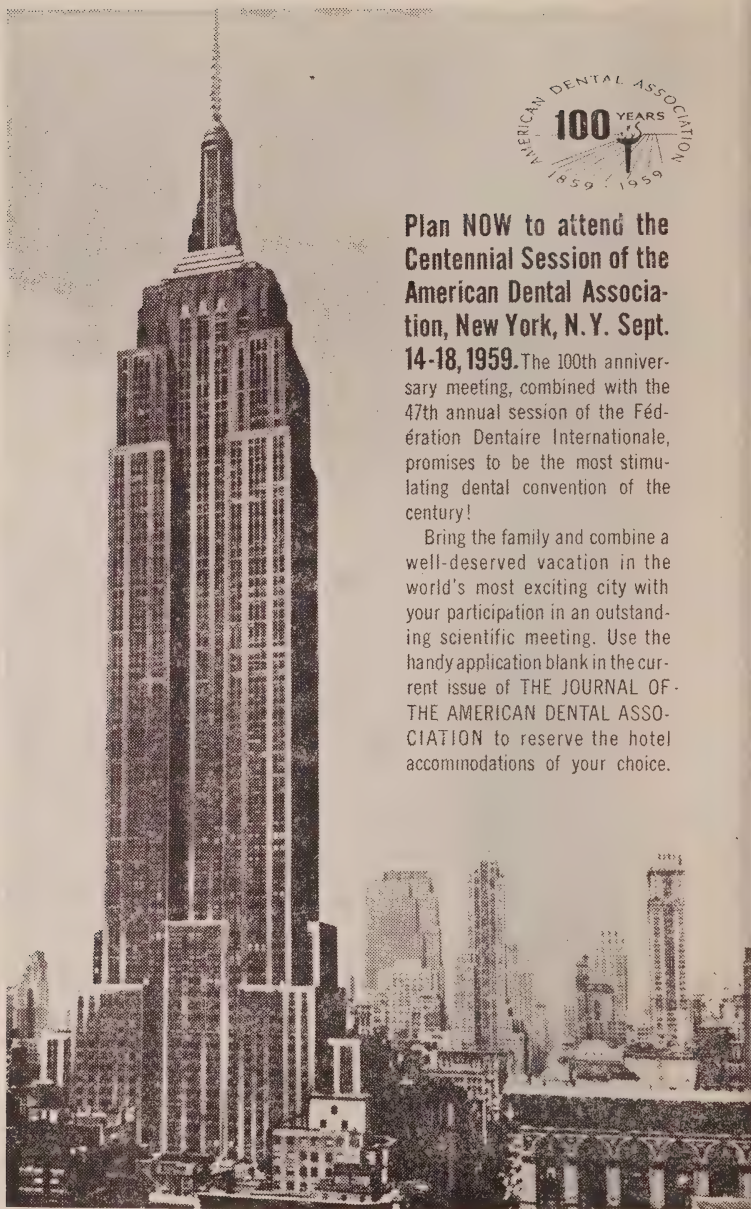

Ferguson, Maryland, President
Duffy, Rhode Island, 1st Vice-President
Frink, Florida, 2nd Vice-President
Stillman, New York, 3rd Vice-President
McDonald, Maryland, Secretary
Milholland, Maryland, Treasurer

At a subsequent meeting in May 1922 during the week of the Commencement exercises and following the dedication of the monument to Doctor Harris, Doctor Frank P. Duffy was elected to succeed me as president. Dean Foster, Doctors Finney, Hardy, Hoffmeister and also Doctor Duffy had urged me to stand for reelection for another term but I felt an older man should take over as I had fulfilled the request of Dean Foster to raise the money to pay for the monument which stands today in Wyman Park. It was removed about fifteen years ago from the original location at North and Linden Avenues because of the change in the character of the neighborhood. The much beloved and late Doctor Albert Askin was the motivating influence in having the Baltimore City Park Board agree to remove the monument. He asked me to help him select the site and we agreed upon the one where it now stands which is southwest of the Museum of Art in Wyman Park. This is the history behind the founding of the National Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery which was organized prior to its merging with the University of Maryland."

Very cordially yours,

James H. Ferguson, Jr.

Acknowledgment

The publication of the "Alma Mater" is a new experience for the Alumni Association, and it could not successfully be accomplished without the wholehearted support of many interested friends.

We wish, therefore, to express our appreciation for the assistance of Dean Myron S. Aisenberg—the cooperation of the Faculty of the Dental School—the Student Body—the Visual Aids Department—Alumni members who have been thoughtful and kind in sending us news—The Baltimore Sunpapers' cartoonist, Mr. Stees, for his caricatures—those who have advertised in this issue—the helpful suggestions of the artist in designing our cover—the painstaking perseverance of our printers, 20th Century Printing Co. To all these, and others who have helped, we gratefully offer our thanks.

Charity

"Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.

And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,

Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;

Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;

Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.

But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.

When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.

And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

Editorial

Judging from the letters received and remarks heard, the first issue of the "Alma Mater" seems to have met with general approval. This, of course, is most gratifying to the officers and staff—amateurs in the art of journalism—who had hoped that their efforts would not be in vain.

Our task now is to sustain interest by keeping you informed and maintaining high standards of publication befitting our profession. In this issue a roster of the membership is included thus eliminating the expense of a separate mailing. Consequently, news coverage is not as extensive as in the first issue.

The cost of printing the "Alma Mater" semi-annually—entertaining the alumni and graduates during June Week—providing a rallying center during national dental meetings—these and other necessary functions are not inexpensive. Incidentally, no officer receives any remuneration and each pays his own way at the many dinner-business meetings.

If you believe these efforts worthwhile and are in accord with the "objectives" so clearly stated in our new constitution, may we respectfully ask that you do your part and pay your dues, ($10.00), so that the Association may proceed with its work.

The Secretary's Report

On March 17, 1959, a most successful breakfast meeting of our Alumni was held at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., in conjunction with the Postgraduate Clinic of the District of Columbia Dental Society. Approximately 110 graduates were in attendance to renew old acquaintances and to visit with many of their friends.

During the meeting, many members indicated an interest in forming a Metropolitan District of Columbia Section of our Alumni Association. This area has a great potential because of the many graduates of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, who have settled in and about the District for the practice of their profession. There is every reason to believe that a strong Section can be formed along the lines of the New Jersey and Rhode Island Alumni Sections of our Association.

Congratulations are in order to all those individuals in the Washington area who have made the recent breakfast a success and the possible organization of a Metropolitan District of Columbia Section a reality.

During June Week, our Association will honor a distinguished graduate as the recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award. Our officers and executive council are in the process of making this most important choice. All graduates of our school should make every effort to attend our June Week activities to be held on June 4, 5, 6, 1959 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. A most interesting scientific program is being planned for you at that time. Please bring your membership cards in order to register at the meeting.

The Editor of our Association should be congratulated for the first issue of the "Alma Mater." It offers an excellent publication for informing the membership on the activities of the Association. A great deal of effort went into the birth of the "Alma Mater." Let us cooperate by sending news and information to our Editor in order that our periodical can keep in touch with the activities of our graduates. This is your Journal and it represents the spirit and heart of your Alumni Association.

The Greater Alumni Fund Drive has had growing pains as far as the Dental Alumni is concerned. It is true that dental graduates are loyal to the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, and wish that their contributions be allocated for dental use. This situation is entirely in your hands, if you would take time to state so on the official forms of the Greater Alumni Fund. Please make every effort to contribute to the growth and progress of your Alma Mater, The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland. Ours is a heritage that cannot be rivaled by any other dental college in the world.

Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., March 17, 1959

A Trustee meeting was held following the Alumni Breakfast in Washington, D. C. on March 17th, 1959.

Not all of you are familiar with the duties and functions of the Trustees, and since these are numerous I will refer you to your copy of the Constitution and By-Laws on pages 7, 13 and 14. Our great concern is MONEY for the Dental School. How to get it and how to spend it are our functions in condensed form. At the Washington meeting it was decided to initiate a campaign to all the membership explaining the difference between Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland solicitations and those initiated by the General Alumni Fund of College Park. Naturally, we wish you to contribute first to our fund and later to that at College Park.

We have lost much money and endowments to College Park through incorrect use of our name. All checks, wills, etc., must specifically state that it is for the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland. If this is not carried out, College Park will reap the benefit and the Dental School will have another unit of good intention only. Please remember our name; it is most necessary.

It was a pleasure to see Dr. Carroll of Wheeling, West Virginia, at this meeting. After three hours of discussion we adjourned until 1 P.M. on June 3, 1959, at the Lord Baltimore.

Lewis C. Toomey, '42 Chairman

Endowment Fund Report

Trustees of the Endowment Fund, incorporated under the National Alumni Association of our Dental School, met at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington on March 17, 1959. A report from the Treasurer revealed accomplishments of which we may well be proud. Trusteed funds acquired through the generous efforts of our Dental Alumni now total $23,871.38 and are yielding well over 4% on the original investment.

Funds under the direction of the Trustees have been growing actively while working to provide awards to deserving students since first initiated in 1946. Those present at our meeting to lay plans for an aggressive and expanded effort to build the Endowment Fund in addition to your Chairman, were Drs. Lawrence Bimestefer, Frank Carroll, Joseph Cappuccio, Harry Dressel, Edwin Gail, Paul Hoffman and James McCarl, the Secretary-Treasurer. A past Treasurer, Dr. Arthur I. Bell, was also present by request.

Positive action concluded the planning of an extensive Publicity Program in behalf of the Fund. The Constitution and By-Laws are to be reviewed by a special committee to bring them into conformity with those adopted at the Annual meeting of the National Alumni Association in 1958. There was also established a Study Committee for a student loan fund including consideration of a Federal Government loan program.

The Trustees take genuine pleasure in reporting the Trusteed Funds in a very healthy condition with every assurance these funds are being given constant and careful attention equal to that of any of the big Trusteed Funds.

Your Trustees would like to emphasize that these Funds are in no way to be compared with those being solicited and administered by the University of Maryland under the Greater University of Maryland Fund. Our efforts and interests are completely concerned with receipts from Dental Alumni efforts for the best interests of our Dental School and our student body.

This relationship will be further clarified in a brochure to go to all Alumni in the near future. Our main purpose here is to let you know the Funds are being safely handled and there is great hope for future development with your continued help.

Arthur I. Bell, '19

ADALBERT JOHANN VOLCK, D. D. S.

Presented to the Clarence J. Gries Library Foundation by the Association of Dental Surgeons of Baltimore thru Dr. George E. Hardy, Sr.

Adalbert Johann Volck was born in Augsburg, Bavaria, April 14, 1828, one of two sons of a wealthy manufacturer. While Volck was still a lad, the family moved to Nuremberg, in which art center the natural artistic tendencies of the young man had their first opportunity of expression. Later he migrated to Munich and from there at the age of 19 he participated in a march on Berlin, 1848. King Ludwig of Bavaria decreed that all those taking part in this march must serve four years in the army. Voicing his objection to this summary treatment, Volck was forced to flee the country and arrived in New York penniless and alone. He went to St. Louis and there became interested in the '49 gold rush. There is no record that he actually joined in it. He finally landed in Boston where his work as a chemist with Dr. Keep, a well known dental surgeon, was to bring him to the notice of Dr. Chapin A. Harris of Baltimore. Dr. Harris' suggestion brought him to Baltimore to teach at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery (1850) and at the same time he matriculated, graduating in 1852. It was during this year that he married Miss Letitia Alleyn. Two sons and three daughters resulted from this union.

At the time of the War between the States (Dr. Volck objected strenuously to calling that affray the "Civil War") he had developed an extensive and remunerative practice. His sympathies were intensely partisan and he decided upon seeing the cartoons that were being broadcast from the pen of Thomas Nast the Northern sympathizer, to do a similar work on behalf of the Confederacy.

American Graphic Humor, published under the auspices of the Whitney Museum (1933), gives Volck or Blada (his pseudonym) a foremost position among the South's defenders. Unfortunately the fire seemed to go from him at the close of the War and no further cartoons or caricatures appeared. There is little doubt, had he continued his work, that he would have become as well known, and occupied as important a position in the field of cartoon and caricature drawing, as did Nast.

Volck was a great friend of Sydney Lanier and had the opportunity in 1870, just prior to General Lee's death, to paint in oil a portrait of Lee in his study at Lexington, Virginia.

Volck was one of the founders of the famous Charcoal Club of Baltimore and of the Wednesday Club, composed of the socially and artistically elect of Baltimore during the '80's. In later years up to the time of his death in 1912, he devoted most of his time to silversmithing, receiving many commissions from organizations and individuals.

George M. Anderson '19

Life is what we make it, and the world is what we make it. The eyes of the cheerful and of the melancholy man are fixed upon the same creation; but very different are the aspects which it bears to them. To the one, it is all beauty and gladness; the waves of ocean roll in light, and the mountains are covered with day. Life, to him, flashes, rejoicing, upon every flower and every tree that trembles in the breeze. There is more to him, everywhere, than the eye sees; a presence of profound joy on hill and valley, and bright, dancing water. The other idly or mournfully gazes at the same scene, and everything wears a dull, dim, and sickly aspect. The murmuring of the brooks is a discord to him, the great roar of the sea has an angry and threatening emphasis, the solemn music of the pines sings the requiem of his departed happiness; the cheerful light shines garishly upon his eyes and offends him. The great train of the seasons passes before him like a funeral procession; and he sighs, and turns impatiently away. The eye makes that which it looks upon; the ear makes its own melodies and discords; the world without reflects the world within.

GEORGE M. ANDERSON, '19

Dr. George M. Anderson, '19, was installed as president of the American Association of Orthodontists at their annual meeting held in Detroit, Michigan. This is indeed a worthy tribute to a man who has spent his entire professional life in teaching, writing and practicing orthodontics. Space would not permit a complete compilation of his accomplishments and honors which have come to him, but we shall mention a few to illustrate his diversified interests and talents. He is the former Professor of Orthodontics at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland and author of the textbook, "Practical Orthodontics"—a past president of the Washington-Baltimore Society of Orthodontists—the first president of the recently formed Middle Atlantic Society of Orthodontists—a past president of the Maryland State Dental Association, Baltimore City Dental Society and the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland. He has served on numerous national committees of the various dental organizations, was chairman of the scientific sessions during the Dental Centenary Celebration held in Baltimore, 1940, and as a follow-up, edited the entire proceedings of the meeting. Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

With much interest I read the "ALMA MATER" from cover to cover. I think congratulations are due you and your staff for a fine publication.

In particular, the cover impressed me. It is eye catching and dignified in appearance. The printing throughout is clear and easy to read. The contents seemed adequate and I found the section of letters informative. I also enjoyed the pictures. The section of Personals is, of course, of great interest in any alumni magazine. I liked the change of type for this section.

Any news of alumni in this part of the world that I come across I shall send in to you.

With best wishes for continued success, I am

Sincerely yours,

Alonzo LePage Seidler, '37

Congratulations on a job well done and extend the same to your able staff.

Very cordially yours,

Dear Editor:

Many thanks for the additional copy of the "Alma Mater". The first copy was so good looking that it was grabbed away from me in San Francisco.

You did a wonderful job on the Alumni Journal, inside and out. It represents the Dental School and the University well. The alumni must have a feeling of pride as they read through it.

There is no doubt about our being the oldest dental school in the world, but the Alma Mater must have convinced them that the Alumni were young at heart and were really going places.

Congratulations for a job well done.

Cordially,
Edward C. Dobbs '29

Dear Editor:

The faculty of our School of Dentistry joins me in wishing you and your staff great success with the publication of "Alma Mater." We enjoyed the first edition very much.

Dear Editor:

Both Naomi and I read with a great deal of delight the very fine issue of "Alma Mater". This initiates what we feel is a vital link in the alumni chain and a most promising one too. It is most readable, well presented and brings back a warmth of feeling akin to real college days.

We wish you well and urge many more issues be sent our way soon.

Cordially,

Then What About Today?

Remarking on present trends in undergraduate dress, an alumnus recalls an opinion on the subject by President Faunce. In the early Twenties Dr. Faunce referred in chapel to "a growing carelessness in student attire." Only that day, he said, he had been distressed to encounter two students coming up College Hill "with their overcoats unbuttoned."

J. BEN ROBINSON, '14

The Chapin A. Harris Memorial

... The writer believes that when errors in dental history are discovered, or when misstatements or misrepresentations are injected into the literature, they should be exposed, and that the true facts, supported by acceptable evidence, should be offered in rebuttal.

Such a violation of the facts of dental history appears in the first issue of the Alma Mater. It is included in the body of a letter sent to the editors by a correspondent who presumes to speak with authority on events in dental history that are important to the traditions of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.¹ I submit the following discussion of parts of the letter, and offer in rebuttal documented evidence as proof that some of the important claims that are made are in error.

The letter in question directly or inferentially makes the following claims: (a) That in 1919 Dean W. G.

Foster commissioned the correspondent to organize an Alumni Association for the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery for the purpose of making "an effort to raise $3,000.00 to pay for a monument to Dr. Chapin A. Harris"; (b) that an Alumni Association (inferentially something new in the life of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery) was finally formed in 1921; (c) that the funds to pay the cost of the Chapin A. Harris Memorial were collected by the correspondent, even to the "last $500.00"; (d) that the members of the new Alumni Association planned the details of the official program for the dedication to be held "during the graduation week of 1922"; and (e) that the memorial exercises were an integral and official part of the program arranged for the 1922 meeting of the National Alumni Association.

What does this alleged initial organization of a National Alumni Association for the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery actually mean?

With respect to the life history of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, I must plead a lack of knowledge because of the absence of authentic records of the continuing activities of the Alumni over many years. Only since the merger of the College with the University of Maryland have comprehensive, consecutive minutes of its meetings been kept.

Dental literature reveals that an association called the Alumni of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery was organized March 1, 1849,² and that it held annual meetings for several years after that date; that an "Association" was organized on March 6, 1876, at which time "it was determined to hold the annual meetings on the commencement days of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery."³; that meetings of the Association were held periodically for about twenty-five years after its organization in 1876; that in 1889 "The Alumni of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery have resolved to signalize the semicentennial of this institution, by the erection of a memorial building to its founder Chapin A. Harris."⁴; and that in 1890 the distinguished honorary alumnus, Dr. Norman H. Kingsley of New York, was the president of the Association.⁵

I have the word of responsible alumni of the Baltimore College, contemporaries of mine during the early "twenties," that meetings of the Alumni Association were held from time to time down through the years, even to the time of the merger of the College with the University of Maryland. Certainly it held a very successful meeting in Boston in 1920 during the sessions of the American Dental Association. This meeting was sponsored by the New England Alumni Association headed by Dr. Frank P. Duffy. In a short biographical sketch of Dr. Duffy the statement is made that he was "President of the National Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery for several years before [italics mine] the merger of that school with the University of Maryland School of Dentistry."⁶ The merger of the Baltimore College with the University of Maryland was completed in the summer of 1923. "Several years before" must mean that Dr. Duffy was president of the Association before 1922.

So far as I can learn, the only modern meeting of the Association, prior to the merger, that received full publicity was the meeting during the commencement week, May 30, 31, and June 1, 1922.*⁷

The claims that the Chapin A. Harris Memorial were initiated by the Dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery; that one alumnus was designated by the Dean to lead the Alumni in collecting funds to finance its cost; and that the Alumni of the College officiated at its dedication, do not square with the facts.

What, then, are the facts?

On January 10, 1911, the Maryland State Dental Association authorized the appointment of a committee to collect funds for the purpose of establishing a suitable memorial to Chapin A. Harris. The Committee consisted of M. G. Sykes, B. Holly Smith, W. W. Dumbracco, T. O. Heatwole, J. W. Smith, H. A. Wilson, Treasurer, and W. G. Foster, Chairman.

An announcement of the project was printed in several dental journals which stated in part:

"Connecticut has recognized and honored the name of Horace H. Hayden, a co-worker with Harris by erecting a handsome monument to his memory at Windsor.

"We are now asking contributions from Dental Societies, Colleges and members of the profession at large to aid in erecting a suitable monument to the memory of Chapin A. Harris . . ."⁸

An editorial published in Dental Cosmos states:

"In the Dental Cosmos for January 1912 a Committee, appointed by the Maryland State Dental Association for the purpose, published an appeal for contributions to a fund to be utilized in the creation of a suitable memorial to Dr. Chapin A. Harris . . . The appeal . . . has met with a financial response now aggregating about $1,000 . . . The Chairman of the Committee, having in charge the Chapin A. Harris memorial, is W. G. Foster . . . It is proposed to erect a memorial that shall consist of a bronze statue of Dr. Harris mounted upon a granite base, the whole to cost in the neighborhood of $8,000."⁹

Contributions were slow coming in. At the outbreak of World War I the amount collected was not sufficient to justify the awarding of a contract to the artist. Because of war conditions the work of the Committee was suspended for the duration. When peace was declared, the project was revived, sufficient funds necessary to authorize the artist to proceed with the work were finally accumulated, and the contract for the statue was awarded. However, at the time of the dedication the "last $500.00" to pay the costs had not been collected. There was then a deficit of about one thousand dollars.

The monument was dedicated June 1, 1922. As a courtesy to the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, of which Chapin A. Harris was the first dean, the time of the dedication was arranged by the Maryland

The Chapin A. Harris Memorial

The monument to Dr. Chapin A. Harris, one of the founders of the first dental college in the world, is to be unveiled in Baltimore, Maryland, on June first, at 12 M., under the auspices of the Maryland State Dental Association

The fund for this monument was started thirteen years ago, but a sufficient amount was not collected to give such a monument as the committee thought necessary for a memorial from the dental profession, contributions coming as they did from many parts of the world.

The committee was about to start another collection when the war put a stop to this endeavor.

The height of the monument will be ten feet eight inches; the base and shaft of granite will be seven feet two inches, surmounted by a heroic-sized bust of bronze, three feet six inches, the wreath and name to be of bronze, the inscription to be cut in the granite shaft.

Edward Berge, the sculptor, is a man of national reputation.

The order of exercises will be as follows:

Dr. W. G. Foster, Chairman of the Harris Memorial Fund will, with a few remarks, ask the President of the Maryland State Dental Association, Dr. J. B. Robinson, to act as Master of Ceremonies.

Dr. Robinson will then call for a prayer, minister not yet selected, after which he will call upon Dr. T. O. Heatwole of Baltimore, for an address; this address will be the life of Dr. Harris up to the time of the founding of the first dental college.

Dr. H. J. Burkhart of New York, ex-president of the National Dental Association, will then be called upon for an address; this will be the life of Dr. Harris from the founding of the first college up to the time of his death and the results of his work upon the dental profession up to date, and the presentation of monument to the city.

The Mayor of Baltimore will accept monument on behalf of the City of Baltimore and that all those, excepting a minister, who would participate in the exercises had been selected.

I submit also a photograph taken of a page of the official dedication program which gives the order of the events for the exercises (Exhibit 2). The texts of the three addresses given at the dedication were published in full in Dental Cosmos,⁹ separate and apart from the proceedings of the National Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. The separate publishing of the reports of the two events indicates further that there was no official collaboration between the two Associations in planning for the dedication.

State Dental Association to coincide with the College commencement dates. I should know; I was then the president of the Maryland State Dental Association.

The Memorial Committee for the Maryland State Dental Association made all the plans for the dedication exercises. The responsibility for preparing the details of the official program and having it printed was assigned to the Secretary of the State Association.

I submit a photograph taken of a page in the Dental Digest, May, 1922 (Exhibit 1). It shows that plans to dedicate the Chapin A. Harris Memorial under the auspices of the Maryland State Dental Association had been completed,

Thought For Today

I do not imagine that we would execute Socrates today if he were alive, but I doubt whether he could get a professorship in any American university. For the dean would want to see his bibliography and know something about his personality and I fear that the results of the investigating would not be encouraging. As for the prophets and the apostles, there is no need of comment, for none of them had Ph.D.'s. They were good enough teachers, perhaps, but, bless you, not scholars. They would never do.—George Boas in The Johns Hopkins Magazine.

Self-Reliance

I read the other day some verses written by an eminent painter which were original and not conventional. The soul always hears an admonition in such lines, let the subject be what it may. The sentiment they instill is of more value than any thought they may contain. To believe your own thought, to believe that what is true for you in your private heart is true for all men—that is genius. Speak your latent conviction, and it shall be the universal sense; for the inmost in due time becomes the outmost, and our first thought is rendered back to us by the trumpets of the Last Judgment. Familiar as the voice of the mind is to each, the highest merit we ascribe to Moses, Plato, and Milton is that they set at naught books and traditions and spoke not what men, but what they thought. A man should learn to detect and watch that gleam of light which flashes across his mind from within more than the luster of the firmament of bards and sages. Yet he dismisses without notice his thought, because it is his. In every work of genius we recognize our own rejected thoughts; they come back to us with a certain alienated majesty. Great works of art have no more affecting lesson for us than this. They teach us to abide by our spontaneous impression with good-humored inflexibility then most when the whole cry of voices is on the other side. Else tomorrow a stranger will say with masterly good sense precisely what we have thought and felt all the time, and we shall be forced to take with shame our own opinion from another

Unity of Purpose

The triennial meetings, originated, March, 1950, close to the anniversary of the founding date of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, (Feb. 1, 1840), were successes from almost every viewpoint; however, last year, when it was combined with June Week activities, attendance suffered. Perhaps there are too many conflicting interests during June—parents have children graduating from various schools—many state dental societies hold meetings just previously—so that additional alumni scientific sessions of several days are just too much; furthermore, in June there is an air of release from the more serious aspect of our profession. These facts will certainly be borne in mind when discussing the time and place of the 4th Triennial Meeting.

During the past year a new constitution was adopted which, among other things, gave expression and emphasis to the purpose of our organization—membership has grown in spite of an increase in dues—in distant areas new alumni sections have been formed or are contemplated—and our own endowment fund program is increasing in both interest and principle. The breakfast held in conjunction with the American Dental Association continues to draw strong support in New York (200 were present)—attendance at the social hour preceeding the annual alumni banquet-dance is excellent—even the turn-out at the business meetings has increased tremendously over the mere handful who used to come.

All this and more indicates what? Are these activities and occasions an end in themselves or do they signify a deeper interest in that which we all have in common: a love and respect for our alma mater, and a willingness to participate in any movement which has for its objective the advancement and betterment of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland?

Yes, in this—we do have unity of purpose.

Message From The President

Fellow Alumni;

As you read my words, you are certainly cognizant of the wonderful improvement in communication between Alumni made possible by the progressive policies now pursued by your organization, and exhibited by the genesis of this publication, the Alma Mater.

There appears to be two prime purposes to an alumni association. First, to bind the graduates of a school together in such a fashion whereby friendships and memories may be renewed to the fuller enjoyment of life. Secondly, to establish an organized means whereby the graduates may guard and foster that institution which gave them professional birth, and thereby repay the efforts, time, and talents of those who had previously gone before and done the same for them.

Both of these purposes are good for each graduate of a school and should be a definite responsibility of every individual; for by maintenance of the reputation of our dental school, we enhance our own personal stature professionally and socially.

Throughout this publication you will read about the progress of your school, and some of the ways in which the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland is seeking to foster it. It is the duty of every graduate to support the Association in these activities by attending its affairs, contributing their services, and at least becoming active dues paying members.

There aren't enough Georges to go around. You must do it!

HARRY W. F. DRESSEL

Dr. Gail's Report

It has been a privilege and great honor to serve as President of the "Association" during this year of 1958-59. I have been awarded the benefit of enjoying a post-graduate course on dental personalities, which could not be obtained elsewhere.

I now wish to extend my sincere appreciation and thanks for the loyal support and contributions given this year by my faithful officers; the members of the Executive Council; the Endowment Fund Trustees; the University Alumni Council Representatives; to every Committee Chairman and to each member of every Committee. Many thanks to Dean Aisenberg, who contributed greatly to our progress this year and to Dr. Katharine Toomey and her office staff for their contributions. You all did an excellent job for me and your "Association" in making the year a great success.

I also wish to commend our Editor, the editorial staff members, the Administrative Assistant and the Business Manager for the superb Journal the "Alma Mater". Our Roster Chairman is to be praised for his many donated hours in establishing the 1958 Roster. This is certainly an important accomplishment.

The Distinguished Alumni Award Committee is to be acknowledged for their careful screening and selection of the 1959 Distinguished Award.

Our Nominating Committee must also be given credit for their excellent selections for the 1959-60 slate of Officers.

After serving on the Executive Council of our Alumni Association for three years prior to becoming President-Elect and then President this year, I feel that my experience has justified me to request the following recommendations for the betterment of the "Association".

1. That the Association should maintain an Alumni office of their own for future progress. This office to be established within the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland or if refused to secure said office elsewhere. This recommendation is necessary to comply with the requirements and duties of the officers in accordance with the present Constitution and By-Laws. Files for business letters, records and essential data of the Secretary, Treasurer, Editor and Historian-Librarian should be housed there-in. A mailing address is extremely important.

2. That an annual written report (in triplicate) be sent to the Secretary of the Association twenty days prior to the Annual Business Session of each year by every Officer and the Chairman of the Councils and Trustees, also the Chairman of each Committee. These reports to be published in the following issue of our Journal, the Alma Mater.

3. That the Incoming President appoint a Liaison Alumni-Dental School Affairs Committee. The purpose of the Committee is to establish and maintain a closer relationship between Educational and Organized dentistry as represented at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland. Also to consider and adjust general affairs between the Dental School, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland and the Alumni Association.

4. For the economy of our financial burden, I recommend that the Constitution and By-Laws Committee meet to consider the changes and adjustments or to clarify the following:- To consider "Nominations Submitted" in Section I of Article IV, under Organization, of the Constitution.

5. That Article IV Section IV also be reconsidered. It is recommended that the three elected Representatives of the General Alumni Council to the University of Maryland be recognized and included as members of the Executive Council and to be extended the same privileges. This will promote a more harmonious relationship between the two councils. The senior member to be the Chairman of this Council to the University of Maryland, College Park.

6. That the Constitution and By-Laws Committee carefully study the "Sturgis, Standard Code of Parliamentary Procedure", and should they find it more practical for our Association, that it be adopted in place of "Roberts Rules of Order". The Sturgis Rules have been adopted by the American Dental Association in 1958.

7. In conclusion I recommend that the Nominating Committee continue to carefully screen every candidate for office as to their experience, ability, willingness and sincerity for the future progress of our Alumni Association.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWIN G. GAIL

Why Men Survive

Dr. Laurence M. Gould, president of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn.

This Week Magazine, Reader's Digest April, 1959

I do not believe the greatest threat to our future is from bombs or guided missiles. I don't think our civilization will die that way. I think it will die when we no longer care—when the spiritual forces that make us wish to be right and noble die in the hearts of men. Arnold Toynbee has pointed out that 19 of 21 notable civilizations have died from within and not by conquest from without. There were no bands playing and no flags waving when these civilizations decayed; it happened slowly, in the quiet and the dark when no one was aware.

If America is to grow great, we must stop gagging at the word "spiritual." Our task is to rediscover and reassert our faith in the spiritual, nonutilitarian values on which American life has really rested from its beginning.

The Secretary's Report

I am very happy to report that the past year has been another outstanding example of the rapid growth of our Alumni Association. Our activities are becoming more widespread and the influence of our Association is being felt throughout the dental profession.

For example, during the annual convention of the Rhode Island State Dental Society held on January 17-18, 1959, the alumni section of Rhode Island presented their first distinguished alumni awards to Dr. Kyrle W. Preis and Dr. Ernest B. Nuttall. These awards were presented to two outstanding teachers who had devoted a great deal of time and energy to their Alma Mater and chosen profession. The Rhode Island Section used outstanding judgment in honoring these distinguished alumni. Our Association is very proud of the alumni activity in the State of Rhode Island. Dr. Eddie Morin and Dr. Bill Decesare should be congratulated for their many contributions to the development of this section.

The annual breakfast of our Association held in conjunction with the Postgraduate Clinic of the District of Columbia Dental Society, Washington, D. C., was most successful. It has increased in total attendance over fifty per cent due to the untiring efforts of our alumni in the Washington area. The potential of alumni activity in Washington, D. C., has not been reached but the future seems very bright. The Association anticipates the biggest breakfast meeting this March, during the Postgraduate Clinic meeting.

A great deal of work has been done in the area of endowments. This represents a very important part of our Association. For many years, the Association has operated an Endowment Fund of the Alumni Association with great success. It was felt by the officers of the Association and the Board of Trustees that the general membership should be appraised of these funds and their operation. A very interesting brochure has been prepared by Dr. Paul Hoffman and his committee on solicitations for your information and consumption. This brochure should be in your hands shortly.

The Alma Mater, which represents the official publication of our Association, has done much toward the development of a more united and informed alumni. It covers all areas of our organization in order to bring the alumni closer to the activities of the Association and the Dental School. The Editor, Dr. Preis, should be congratulated for the excellent coverage given by our Journal. Many outstanding events have been recorded by the past issues of our periodical for posterity. It is most important that all events in the very interesting history of our school be recorded for future generations of alumni.

The Alma Mater will serve as an excellent repository of the past, present and future deeds of our Association. It should be very gratifying to the alumni to see the fruits of many years of hard work become a reality with the birth and development of the Alma Mater.

An increase in dues was necessary to meet the added expenses of our Association. The annual budget is increasing each year to meet the ever increasing activities of the Association. For many years, the dues were $5.00 but the membership received much more in return. All associations in dentistry have from time to time increased their dues to keep pace with the changing times. It is very evident that the Association is doing more than at any time in its history. Therefore, the dues were increased to $10.00 per year, this increase has not hurt the total active membership of our Association. Please make every effort to pay your dues this year in order that we may continue with a vigorous and progressive program of our Alumni Association.

It should not be necessary to report in detail the New York Centennial Meeting, since the activities of our Association spoke for themselves. Our breakfast and cocktail party were most successful. The cocktail party held at the Waldorf Astoria for our alumni and friends had an attendance of approximately 700 people. This represented the high water mark of any social event held by our Association throughout its history. As 100 years passed into the records of the A.D.A., the Alumni Association of our school established itself as one of the most important groups in American Dentistry during the past century. Ours is a great heritage, let us work toward the important goal of establishing our school as the most outstanding institution of dental education in the world.

My sincere wishes for a Very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

JOSEPH P. CAPPUCCIO

Child Psychologist

I sometimes think that books on how to raise children should be written by children. Waiting in line at an ice cream stand, I noticed two boys, about seven and two. The older was holding tightly to his little brother, who was announcing emphatically to all the world, "I want vanilla. I want vanilla."

Unfortunately the vanilla machine had broken down. Knowing how my own two-year-old would react to a crisis like that, I wondered how the older boy would handle the situation. Without flinching, he ordered two strawberry cones and handed one—to his little brother. "Here you are," he said cheerfully. "Pink vanilla!"—Mrs. Ralph Crossan in Family Weekly.

Report Of The Historian — 1959

"It is true that Society itself is an effect, but the great personality can neither produce nor prevent this effect. It can only modify it and give direction to it after it has been brought into existence."

This quotation from an eminent historian reflects the position of our Alumni Association and the dental school with dentistry as a whole. The "Society" is dentistry and "the great personality" represents our Alumni Association. We of Maryland since 1839, in truth, did not produce dentistry in America, but rather after its crude beginnings, the School and later the combination of the School and Alumni Association modified the practice of dentistry and gave it some direction.

It is fitting at this time on the occasion of the Centennial celebration of the American Dental Association to reflect how our school and Alumni Association have "given direction" to the most potent force in dentistry today. From its earliest beginnings, the American Dental Association has been directly or indirectly influenced by Maryland graduates. From the high office of the Presidency to each of the administrative subdivisions of responsibility, men of Maryland have guided the destiny of the American Dental Association. And, in passing, let us remember that our own Horace Hayden was the first President of the first national dental society—the American Society of Dental Surgeons.

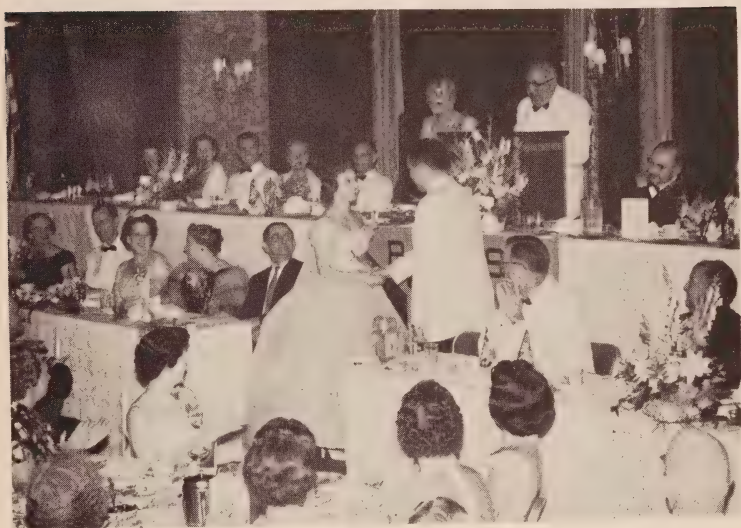

In all other aspects of dentistry, we can be proud that our School has given the leadership to the advancement of our profession. Whether in the areas of organization, literature, practice or education, we led the way. Let us recall that Chapin A. Harris was the editor of the first dental periodical in the world, that it was our first alumnus Robert Arthur who was responsible for the introduction of annealed gold foil into practice, that John McCalla, Class of 1848 was one of the organizers of the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery and this list could grow ad infinitum pointing out the great contributions of the graduates of our Alma Mater.

However, let us focus our attention on the present day scene of our Alumni Association. We have a great and growing membership, we are developing regional component groups, for the first time we are publishing our own official journal, Alma Mater, we are honoring dedicated men by the Distinguished Alumni Award and we are developing a greater sense of friendship and loyalty as yet heretofore not known.

In closing I would like to quote the words of one of dentistry's great historians, Charles R. E. Koch, who had this to say exactly 50 years ago: "If imitation is the highest form of flattery, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery has certainly cause for pride. It set the pace which has been followed in many other cities. Its alumni have the right to claim a large place among the men whom is due the honor conceded to the name 'American Dentist' all over the civilized world."

The problem of darkness does not exist for a man gazing at the stars. No doubt the darkness is there, fundamental, pervasive and unconquerable except at the pinpoints where the stars twinkle; but the problem is not why there is such darkness, but what is the light that breaks through it so remarkably; and granting this light, why we have eyes to see it and hearts to be gladdened by it.—George Santayana.

Reunion 1919

Twenty-seven of the 55 remaining members of the class of 1919 returned for their 40th reunion in June. They represented Maryland, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, West Virginia, North Carolina and other states. They were visited by former Dean J. Ben Robinson, '14 and Miss "Katie" Toomey who became associated with the school that year. How many can non-returning members of the Class identify.

Longest Distance for Reunion

Dr. Carlos Ruiz, A., '24, of Guatemala City, Central America, drove with Mrs. Maria Luisa de Ruiz along the Pan American Highway through Mexico, Texas and north to Maryland. The experience was a good one, since for the first time Mrs. de Ruiz saw many of the classmates about whom her husband had spoken and saw Maryland at its best on the planned tours for wives.

Dr. Ruiz is best known for his active role in raising dental standards in Guatemala. He has been one of the most faithful "Dental Ambassadors" south of the border and has received many honors in both dental and civic circles throughout Pan America. For many years he was a faculty member of the Escuela de Ordonologia Universidad de San Carlos de Guatemala. He has been an Assistant Professor of Prosthetic Dentistry and an instructor in the crown and bridge clinic of the University. Now in private practice he counts among his patients, His Excellency, the President of Guatemala, General Miquel Ydigoras Euentes.

The 35th Reunion of the Class of 1924, was held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, June 4th. There were heart-warming greetings, wives getting acquainted, reminiscing about days gone by and the singing of our old college songs to the accompaniment of an accordion.

The reunion continued with greetings from all present. First, was our guest, Dr. Richard Gaver, who reminded us that the class of 1924 was the first class graduated from the combined schools following the merger of the old Baltimore College of Dental Surgery and the Dental School of the University of Maryland. Dr. Gaver was the first professor of Prosthetic Dentistry after the merger. Greetings were next extended by Dr. James H. Ferguson, Jr., the last professor of Prosthetic Dentistry at the old Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. Dr. Ferguson recalled many events of his association with those members present.

After the guest speakers, all class members and their wives present, arose and in turn spoke briefly, giving their impression of the reunion. The meeting continued with a resolution expressing our regrets at the inability of our absent classmates to be present, and particularly Dr. J. Ben Robinson, who was Dean at the time of our graduation; Dr. Katharine Toomey, who is loved by every member of the class of 1924; Dr. Myron Aisenberg, present Dean, and many others who had been invited to join with us on this memorable occasion.

The meeting adjourned with several vociferous renditions of the theme song dedicated to the 35th Reunion of the Class of 1924, "We don't want to be young any more."

A. D. A. Centennial - New York Alumni Reception and Cocktail Party

The Alumni Association held a most successful reception and cocktail party in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf Astoria, September 14th. This affair, held in conjunction with the Centennial Celebration of the American Dental Association, attracted more than 700 alumni, wives and guests. All seemed to thoroughly enjoy the occasion, for it provided them with a wonderful opportunity to renew old acquaintances and to chat about many things—past, present and future. These social gatherings are becoming almost too successful. The Alumni Association did not expect quite so many friends, which heavily taxed the capacity of the room thereby limiting maneuverability. However, when one considers that this party was “on” the Alumni Association, we should not have been too surprised to find that we had far more friends than we thought. In any event, “All’s well that ends well”, and this may very well be the end of free cocktails!

The above picture and several others in this issue were taken by one of our alumni who took the trouble to bring his camera and help record an event. Obviously they are not masterpieces, but they do convey an impression of the general mood of the occasion and we are grateful for them.

Alumni Breakfast in New York

For a number of years it has been the custom of the Alumni Association to arrange a breakfast meeting in the city where the national convention of the American Dental Association is being held. We were fortunate this year, to obtain the beautiful Sert Room at the Waldorf Astoria for the occasion. It was indeed an inspiring sight to see, as one approached the entrance to this room, a long queue extending well into the lobby; all waiting to purchase tickets for the breakfast (imagine, $4.50—juice, scrambled eggs, potatoes, coffee—no meat!) Approximately 200 were present.

We were honored to have with us, Dr. and Mrs. Percy Phillips of New York, the retiring President of the American Dental Association, and Dr. and Mrs. Paul H. Jeserich, of Ann Arbor, Mich., the incoming President.

Distinguished alumni seated in the room were asked to rise on recognition and when Dr. Wiley I. Smith, Clifton, New Jersey, '12 name was called out as being possibly the earliest graduate from our school in attendance, his candidacy was quickly challenged by more than half a dozen others equally proud of their ancestry and antiquity, including Dr. J. Stephenson Hopkins of Bel Air, Maryland, a graduate of the Dental School, University of Maryland, Class of 1905.

On such a happy note ended another successful alumni event to be recorded in the history of the oldest dental school in the world.

Are You A Member In Good Standing?

It has constantly been observed by the officers of this Alumni Association that many of the graduates have been under the illusion that membership in the Alumni Association of the University of Maryland (solicited by College Park) constitutes membership in the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland.

Both of these are independent organizations, but only the latter is connected solely to the dental school. We urge you to belong to both, but above all to the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland; for this is the organization that distributes the Alma Mater Journal, distributes the Alumni News Letter, sponsors the Alumni Breakfasts, sponsors the Tri-Annual Scientific Meetings, Assists the Dental School with June Week, and finally, sponsors the Alumni Endowment Fund.

HARRY W. F. DRESSSEL

New Jersey Alumni Section

The annual meeting and scientific program of the New Jersey Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, was held at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, New Jersey, on Wednesday afternoon and evening, November 4, 1959. There were seventy-one present.

Our scientific program was started at 3 p.m. with the welcome and address by our program chairman, Dr. Nicholas Giuditta, '38. Dr. Robert H. Jernick, '50 then introduced Dr. Joseph Cappuccio, '46, Associate Professor of Oral Surgery, and Anesthesiology, who spoke on "Complications of Oral Surgery in Dental Practice."

Dr. Nicholas Giuditta also introduced Dr. George Anderson, who presented his views on "Extraction in the Field of Orthodontics."

After a cocktail hour from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., dinner was served at 6:45 p.m. with the Invocation being given by Reverend Eugene B. Kelly of Somerville, New Jersey.

As President, Dr. Joseph Marini presided, the following guests were introduced:

Dr. Charles Roberts, class of 1900, our oldest member, and Dr. James F. Dooley, class of 1959, one of our youngest members.

Dr. George Anderson gave a very fine dissertation on Dr. Gerard Devlin's accomplishments and rise to eminence and respect, not only in the field of Orthodontics, but also among his associates in the Alumni Association.

Dr. Saul Gale made noteworthy remarks concerning Dr. Devlin, after which Dr. Martini presented him with the Distinguished Alumni Award. Following a standing ovation, Dr. Devlin made a short acceptance speech.

Dr. Cappuccio, Secretary of the National Alumni Association, brought greetings from the President, Dr. Harry Dressel.

Dean Aisenberg reported to us on the Harrington Fund, and the Greater University of Maryland Alumni Fund.

OF FRIENDSHIP

"A principal fruit of friendship is the ease and discharge of the fullness and swellings of the heart, which passions of all kinds do cause and induce. We know diseases of stoppings and suffocations are the most dangerous in the body, and it is not much otherwise in the mind. You may take sarza to open the liver, steel to open the spleen, flower of sulphur for the lungs, castoreum for the brain, but no receipt openeth the heart but a true friend, to whom you may impart griefs, joys, fears, hopes, suspicions, counsels, and whatsoever lieth upon the heart to oppress it, in a kind of civil shrift or confession."—Francis Bacon

Gerard Devlin Honored

On November 4, 1959, Gerard A. Devlin, '23, received the New Jersey Distinguished Alumnus Award. This indeed is a fitting tribute to a man who has always shown enthusiastic interest and support of his alma mater.

Dr. Devlin was formerly associated with Dr. Harry E. Kelsey of Baltimore in the practice of orthodontics. In 1929 he left Baltimore to engage in his specialty in New Jersey where he has remained. He is a past president of his local dental society, a past president of the Middle Atlantic Society of Orthodontists and was elected president of the Alumni Association in 1957 but, because of his health, was unable to serve. He is a fellow of the American College of Dentists and a few years ago was elected to membership in Omicron Kappa Upsilon, honorary dental society.

The Alumni Association is proud to have among its distinguished members, Dr. Gerard Devlin.

If time be of all things most precious, wasting time must be the greatest prodigality, since lost time is never found again; and what we call time enough always proves little enough. Let us then be up and doing, and doing to a purpose; so by diligence shall we do more with less perplexity.—Benjamin Franklin.

Rhode Island's Dinner Dance

On Saturday, October 3, 1959, the first annual dinner dance of the Rhode Island chapter of the Alumni Association was held in the Garden Room of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel, Providence Rhode Island. This affair was a great success in every way. One hundred and forty were in attendance. During the dinner, costume jewelry was presented to the ladies and each of the men received a specially inscribed pen. All agreed that the future looks bright for continued enthusiastic support, and they fully expect an even larger turnout next year. The cost per couple was $15.00 and the additional financial assistance from twenty-five patrons was indeed appreciated. Eventually the profits from this affair will be directed to the dental school in some manner. The committee responsible for this most pleasant evening was :

Weir, (51) Executive Council, Eric Waxberg, (19) 1st Vice-President, Edward C. Morin, (20) President, Edward A. Lynaugh, 2nd Vice-President, Peter T. Kanelos, Executive Council.

The Rhode Island Alumni Section held its annual meeting on Monday, January 18th, at the Biltmore Hotel in Providence, Rhode Island in conjunction with the Rhode Island State Dental Convention. It was a most successful meeting with forty-six graduates in attendance.

There was a cocktail party, banquet and business meeting. It was unfortunate that the evening was marred by bad weather which forced many graduates to cancel their reservations because of hazardous driving conditions. Some of the newer members were in attendance which is a good sign for the future of the organization.

The social committee under the able leadership of Albert C. Picozzi, '49, turned in a first rate job in preparation for the meeting. Many other loyal and devoted alumni such as Edgar L. Bessette, '32, William D'Abbraccio, '47, Ferdinand Ashcidla, '47, and Charlie Heaton, '34, should be congratulated for the part they played in organizing the meeting. As usual, under the able leadership of Eddie Morin, '20, and Bill Decesare, '36, the section is moving forward.

Dr. Morin presented the new banner of the section which he had designed for this occasion. It was very similar to the official banner of the parent organization.

The President introduced many Past-Presidents of the Rhode Island State Dental Association who are alumni of the school. Among those introduced was the new president of the Rhode Island State Dental Association, Dr. William F. Decesare, who served previously as secretary. A telegram from the oldest living graduate of our school, Dr. E. A. Charbonnel, who was unable to be present because of illness, was read. Another old graduate who honored the section with his presence was Dr. Henry A. Martin, '05, of Newport, Rhode Island. A special guest Dr. James E. Colgan, President of the Dental Alumni of Tufts Dental College, was introduced to the group.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Distinguished Alumni Award of the Rhode Island Section to Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio, '46. A number of congratulatory telegrams were read.

The final order of business was the election of officers for 1960—

At the 3rd annual dinner meeting of the Rhode Island Section of the Alumni Association, which is held in conjunction with the Rhode Island State Dental Association, Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio was presented their Distinguished Alumni Award. This is a worthy tribute to a most deserving young man. Few in our association have given so freely of their time, energy and talent in helping to reorganize and revitalize the alumni association of the oldest dental school in the world, and fewer still know of his wide range of interests and activities. Here are the highlights of his relatively short professional career:

Dr. Cappuccio, is a graduate of the Rhode Island State College, earned his B. S. Degree in 1943 and later his D. D. S. degree at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland in 1946. He was an interne in oral surgery at the University of Maryland, 1946-1947, and completed his fellowship in oral surgery the following year at the same institution. In 1948 he was appointed instructor in oral surgery at the Dental School. He has remained with the teaching staff of his alma mater on a full time basis since 1948 and presently occupies the position of associate professor of Oral Surgery and Anesthesiology.

Dr. Cappuccio is a member of many professional organizations which include the following: Local, state and national dental societies, American Society of Oral Surgeons, American Dental Society of Anesthesiology, Fellow of the American College of Dentists, Fellow of the International College of Dentists, member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon (honorary dental society).

He has served as Chairman of the Section on Oral Surgery, American Association of Dental Schools, French Lick Springs, Indiana, 1954 and in St. Louis in 1956, delegate to the A.D.A. from Maryland—1954 to 1957 and 1959 to 1961, Chairman of the All Day Committee, Baltimore City Dental Society, 1956, Executive Council of Baltimore City Dental Society—1957-1960, President of Maryland Dental Society of Anesthesiology—1958, and Secretary of the Alumni Association—1955 until present. Dr. Cappuccio has given lectures before local, state and national societies, has engaged in research projects and published several papers on surgical problems.

As a former native of Rhode Island with many close friends there and elsewhere and with many creditable active interests, all indicating a deep willingness to serve his profession, no wonder Rhode Island selected him to be honored so early in his career. We congratulate them on their choice and extend to Dr. Cappuccio our very best wishes for the future.

North Carolina Reunion

Over the years, North Carolina has sent many of her sons to Maryland to obtain the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery from the oldest dental school in the world. At their last reunion luncheon held in the Crystal Room of the Carolina Hotel, Pinehurst, North Carolina, on Monday, May 4, 1959, the following attended, and we note with respect and pride that Dr. S. P. Baker, Kings Mountain, N. C., class of 1907, was among those present—ample evidence of persistent loyalty.

AGAIN—ATTENTION PLEASE

Undoubtedly many of our Alumni have achieved honors and merited distinction, but the facts surrounding such occasions have escaped our attention. Perhaps modesty or indifference has interfered with the news reaching us.

This is regrettable, for one of the principal purposes of the Alma Mater is to serve as a repository of events. Our past records are indeed meager and Alumni activities during the time of the merger of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery with the Dental School, University of Maryland, are wrapped in confusion.

Therefore, we urge you to send us information so that we may print the news.

During the very successful meeting of the Maine Dental Society held in Rockland, Maine, in June, some of our alumni called a luncheon meeting to discuss the possibility of forming a section. Our national president, Dr. Harry Dressel, and the chairman of the Liaison Committee, Cal Gaver, visited with these members and found that a great deal of interest and enthusiasm exists.

We hope that sometime within the near future we will be able to add Maine to our ever-increasing number of sections.

Michael B. Messore Is Honored By Omicron Kappa Upsilon

Michael B. Messore, '30, this past June was elected to membership in Omicron Kappa Upsilon honorary dental society. He is the first Rhode Islander to receive this accolade.

MICHAEL B. MESSORE

Since his graduation, he has been a very loyal and devoted alumnus and has merited the many honors which have come to him. Among his achievements are president of the Rhode Island State Dental Society and a member of the State Board of Dental Examiners.

His contributions go beyond the profession of dentistry, because he has been very active in the political life of his city and state. He has served in the Providence City Council and the Rhode Island State Legislature. Dr. Messore has fathered the present Rhode Island Dental Practice Act which is recognized nationally as a model for the effective protection of the public and the dental profession. He has exercised great influence on the health and welfare of his community.

At present he is serving as the Director of the Samuels Dental Clinic for Children, a unit of the Rhode Island Hospital. Dr. Messore could well be called our most distinguished Rhode Island graduate.

Our association is very proud to have among its members Michael B. Messore.

Ernest A. Charbonnel Honored By The Rhode Island State Dental Association

Ernest A. Charbonnel, '97, oldest living Rhode Island graduate of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland received the Medal of Awards from the Rhode Island State Dental Society on Saturday, January 16, 1960, at the Biltmore Hotel in Providence. This award represents the highest honor that dentistry can bestow upon one of its colleagues in the state.

He has distinguished himself over many years as one of the state's outstanding dentists. Among his many contributions; he served as the Director of the Joseph Samuels Dental Clinic for children over a period of sixteen years. At the age of eight-seven, he continues to be a vital force in his profession and state.

The Association wishes for Dr. Charbonnel many more years of good health and prosperity.

Pierce A. Quirk Honored By The New Jersey State Dental Association

Pierce A. Quirk, '27, has just completed a very successful year as the eighty-ninth President of the New Jersey State Dental Association. He has been very active and prominent for many years in the affairs of dentistry in that state.

On April 1, 1959, he was honored at a banquet given on behalf of his presidency by many of his friends and fellow officers of the New Jersey State Dental Association. Among the guests were the Past President of the American Dental Association, Percy T. Phillips and former 4th District Trustee, Edward R. White.

The Association wishes to congratulate Dr. Quirk for his many contributions to his chosen profession and alma mater.

Dr. Chan Pong

The staff of The Alma Mater takes this opportunity to congratulate Dr. Bertrand O. Chan Pong, '39, on the recent completion of St. Elizabeth Clinic in the Port-of-Spain, Trinidad. This modern three-story, eighteen-room hospital, which accommodates twenty-six patients, is the result of the planning and sponsoring of a group of four medical and two dental specialists, including Dr. Chan Pong whose life's ambition, it is reported by a Trinidad newspaper, is realized by the activation of an ultra-modern, fully-staffed hospital in the British West Indies.

This loyal alumnus was graduated Magna Cum Laude, was admitted to membership in Omicron Kappa Upsilon Fraternity, and was the recipient of the Harry E. Kelsey Award for professional demeanor.

Our heartiest wishes for happiness and success go across the miles to Bertrand, his wife and family.

S. in combatting all forms of anti-semitism; its Hillel program which provides religious needs for students on the college campuses; its Vocational Service Bureau aiding our future generations in career planning; its vast Aid to Veteran's program bringing a little cheer and a glad hand to veterans in hospitals all over the country, and many other fine and noble projects.

In addition, Menorah Lodge in Baltimore observes an Annual Simcha, at which time an outstanding personality is presented with Menorah Lodges' Man of the Year Award. Some of these past recipients are Dr. Milton Eisenhower, former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and Mr. Jacob Blaustein. On November 3rd, during Dr. Friedman's administration, the award was given to three time former Mayor of Baltimore Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr. The award was presented by Mayor Robert S. Wagner of New York City.

AUGUST L. CAVALLARO

Department of Anatomy

In 1840 the first institution in the world to offer instruction in the science and art of dentistry was founded in Baltimore. By an act of the General Assembly of Maryland in 1839 a charter had been granted for the establishment of a college of dentistry to be known as the "Baltimore College of Dental Surgery".

The first Chair of Anatomy was occupied by Henry Willis Baxley, M.D., a skilled anatomist, an able teacher and a distinguished surgeon. Previous to his association with the new school he had held the Chair of Anatomy and Physiology in the University of Maryland Medical School, from which he graduated in 1824.

The first catalogue of the College issued in 1840 states that "Professor Baxley, already well known as a Professor of Anatomy and Physiology, is in possession of a valuable anatomical cabinet, and thus will be enabled to adopt without delay that demonstrative course of instruction so important to those who are engaged in the pursuit of a profession consisting mostly of practical details".

Five students were enrolled in the first course of instruction given in the winter of 1840-41. "The didactic lectures were delivered in a small room publicly situated but the teaching of practical anatomy demanded privacy; other prudential considerations also suggested the use for that purpose of a secluded stable loft".

Professor Baxley's association with the school lasted but one year. In 1842 he was made Professor of Surgery in the Washington University, Baltimore, and in 1851 he accepted the Chair of Anatomy in the Ohio Medical College, Cincinnati.

His successor, Washington R. Handy, M.D., held the Chair from 1841 until his death in 1858. He was an excellent teacher and, being dissatisfied with the methods of instruction in anatomy used at that time, created a method of his own which he published in a Textbook of Anatomy and Guide in Dissections. Two editions of the book appeared, the first in 1854 and the second in 1856; it was used in all the contemporary dental schools and in many of the medical schools.

At first, dissecting was not compulsory for the students. Those who wished to study the practical aspects of anatomy could do so by purchasing a dissecting ticket for ten dollars; otherwise, students merely attended the didactic lectures. However, the 1845 catalogue states that, "Here, as in every medical college, the dental student has the opportunity of dissecting for himself—this duty is earnestly urged in every one, as the only trustworthy foundation on which to rear the superstructure of the dental art. Hence it is advised, in every case, that each student shall dissect, and see and handle for himself, all the different parts of the body, and especially those composing the dental apparatus, and such as are most intimately related with it. For this purpose, the Dissecting Room is ample and well ventilated, and abundantly supplied with subjects". Independently of the regular course, lectures on surgical anatomy were offered, without charge, to those pupils who attended the dissecting room.

Little dissecting was done at night because of the difficulty in obtaining adequate lighting. When, however, gas illumination was installed in the dissecting room, it enabled the students to attend lectures during the day and spend their evenings in the laboratory. While this innovation was welcomed by the students it posed a financial problem to those faculty members who used the facilities in the evening. In a letter dated 13 February 1867 to Dean Gorgas, Claude Baxley, Demonstrator in Anatomy and son of the first professor, wrote: "It will afford me pleasure to furnish you at the close of the session with an estimate of the number of hours that the gas has been used by Dr. Smith and myself and the quantity of fuel consumed".

In those early days the College was located at 7 Sharp Street (now known as number 7 Hopkins Place). A bronze plaque on the present building marks the site of the first dental school in the world.

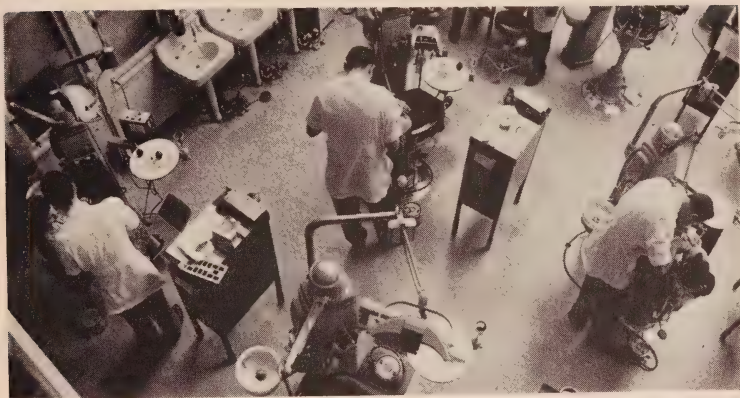

Eleven men occupied the Chair of Anatomy from 1840 until 1923, when the College merged with the Dental Department of the University of Maryland, founded in 1882, to form the present Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland.

In the present Department of Anatomy there are preserved many specimens from the anatomical museums of both schools, including human skulls of various ages; skulls and jaws of a number of mammals, reptiles and fishes; old French models of the entire body and of the ear and the eye; and a collection of fossils.

Professor of Anatomy

Department of Operative Dentistry

Beginning in 1957 a number of changes have been instituted in the Department of Operative Dentistry. These changes have modified the contents of the didactic and clinical teachings as well as improved the physical facilities available for student use.

At the present time the course in Operative Dentistry offers a large amount of instruction relative to the use, indications, limitations and clinical application of advanced speeds. The student is made aware of all the recent developments in this concept for the removal of tooth structure. The Department is equipped with a variety of this type of equipment, which is available to the senior student during the performance of his clinical procedures. The units available include the Ritter Airotor, S. S. White Airotor, Densco Aero-Turbex, Weber AT-200, Midwest Air-Drive, Page Chayes, Kerr Super Speed, Apco Dentalair, Bowen Turbo-Jet, Imperator and several ball-bearing handpieces.

In conjunction with the advanced speed equipment, the Department has fourteen jade-green Ritter H-5 units making up what has been termed "the high speed section." These units provide for the student an opportunity to render dental treatment under conditions comparable with those of the average dental office.

Instruction also includes the didactic and clinical application of elastic impression materials, the various principles involved in cavity design, the different types of condensers for amalgam and gold foil, and materials recently developed for use in restorative procedures. The student is afforded an opportunity to manipulate these materials and equipment during his clinical years.

The Department welcomes the alumni to return to their School to observe the changes that have been effected, as well as to discuss with the staff its desire to continue to improve its values and functions. It is also our hope that the alumni will participate in the postgraduate courses to be offered by the Department. By attending these courses or by visiting the School the alumni will become aware of the desire of the Operative Department to provide a better education for undergraduate as well as graduate students.

Postgraduate Course In Operative Dentistry

A postgraduate course in "High and Ultra High Speeds in Operative Dentistry" was presented by the Department of Operative Dentistry in cooperation with the Postgraduate Division of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, on Saturday and Sunday, October 17 and 18, 1959.

Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg, Dean, welcomed the thirty-two practitioners who registered for the two-day course. The participating dentists were from the states of Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia, and from the District of Columbia and Israel.

The course was divided into two phases: didactic and clinical. The speakers participating in the didactic portion of the program included Captain George W. Ferguson, DC, USN; Captain Arne G. Nielsen, DC, USN; Dr. Harold R. Stanley; Dr. Lloyd M. Armstrong; and Dr. Julian J. Thomas. The clinical phase of the course was conducted and supervised by the staff of the Department of Operative Dentistry at the School.

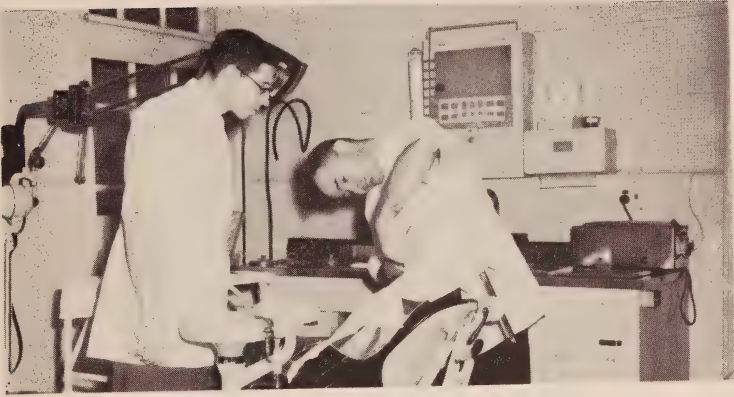

On Saturday afternoon the registrants were given the opportunity to evaluate nine different high speed units by operating them on extracted teeth. On Sunday afternoon patients were provided for those who desired to continue their evaluation on a clinical basis. All the participating members of this course had favorable comments regarding the value derived from using the different units available. With this basic knowledge they felt that they were capable of selecting the unit best suited for their individual clinical practices.

Those registered for the course were:

Surgery Department

The development and changes in the Department of Surgery have been gradual and progressive. Instruction in surgery and anesthesia is accomplished by a close coordination of the teaching staff which includes members from both the dental and medical professions. The principles of general anesthesia are taught by the Head of the Department of Anesthesiology of the University Hospital. Local anesthetics and the use of general anesthetics in the office are taught by dental members of the staff.

Surgical principles and technics are taught by both medical and dental teachers. The students are assigned on a rotating basis to the surgery clinic of the dental school, which is the first division of the Surgery Department. Each student is required to give all types of local anesthetic injections, to remove teeth, and perform surgery as required of the general practitioner. The students assist in the surgical treatment of impacted teeth, removal of tori, alveolar resections, apicoectomies, closure of oro-central fistulae, removal of benign growths and the reduction and fixation of fractures.

The students are also assigned to the Out Patient Department of the Hospital, where each patient requiring dental treatment has a history and physical examination recorded. This part of the program gives the student an opportunity to observe the oral manifestations of systemic diseases. The patients are treated by the students under the direction of dental teachers assigned to this, the second division of the Surgery Department.

The third division of the department is located in the In-Patient hospital building and students are assigned here for training in the principles of hospital dental service. Ward rounds are made and the charts are studied, in this direct method the students learn dental treatment procedures as they relate to hospitalized patients. The students are required to write histories, record the examinations and to do laboratory tests, such as bleeding and clotting time, red and white cell counts, differential cell counts, hemoglobin and urine analysis. Blood specimens are sent to the laboratory for serologic test for lues. Radiographic examinations are made and lesions are photographed. Required surgery is performed by teachers, assisted by the students who have prepared the case records. The completed records of the patients are presented before class groups by students to whom the cases have been assigned. This part of the program gives the student an opportunity to utilize the training he has received in his preclinical courses, to apply it to the actual study of patients and to record and present his findings.

The three divisions of the Surgery Department are active, as is shown by the following records from July 1, 1958 to June 30, 1959:—patients treated, 16,048; teeth extracted, 24,086; jaw fractures treated, 39.

Many other surgical operations are performed, and each year the service incorporates the use of new drugs and technical advancements.

The next few years should see the completion of plans for a new building and the now inadequate physical facilities of the surgery clinic in the dental school will be replaced with a modern, well designed department so as to keep pace with the rapid changes in methods and procedures.

The Heatwole Award

The University of Maryland Class of 1923 has made possible, by voluntary contributions from its members, an annual student award in memory of Dr. Timothy O. Heatwole, Class of 1895, who passed away on April 28, 1949. Funds accumulated to date have been deposited in a restricted account of the Endowment Fund of the Alumni Association and further deposits in the Heatwole Memorial Fund will be made when additional contributions are received from the 1923 graduates.

In June 1960 a University of Maryland chair will be awarded a member of the graduating class.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT—

"As the University looks ahead, it must prepare to meet some of the expansion that will be necessary in higher education, and to provide the necessary increase in professionally trained personnel for our larger population. We expect that the enrollment of undergraduates at College Park will increase by 113% within ten years, and that a larger number of these graduates will want to attend the professional schools. As a result, a 40% increase in enrollment in the Baltimore Professional Schools has been projected during the next ten year period."

Orientation Program For The Class Of 1963

Our second annual orientation program for the benefit of the incoming freshman class was held Monday, September 21, 1959. Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg, Dean of our school, welcomed the class and expressed a sincere desire for their continued successes in the dental profession.

Mr. Gardner P. H. Foley, Dr. William E. Hahn, Dr. D. Vincent Provenza, Dr. Wilbur O. Ramsey, Dr. E. Gaston Vanden Bosche and Dr. Edmond G. Vanden Bosche participated in the morning session and discussed the history of our school, the curriculum, the selection of the class, the preclinical and clinical studies, and the clinics. Dr. Frank N. Ogden and Mrs. May Graffam, our student health physician and nurse, respectively, explained to the class the function of our medical facilities, and Mrs. Ida M. Robinson ably discussed the library accommodations here at school. The morning session was moderated by Dr. Calvin J. Gaver, faculty chairman of the Committee on Student Activities, Life and Welfare.

The afternoon session, devoted to student participation entirely, was moderated by Mr. Theodore J. Noffsinger, a senior student and president of the Student Senate. The freshman class became acquainted with our fraternal activities, the functions of the Student Senate, and all the other student groups to which they may avail themselves. Capping the climax to an important day to the class was a guided tour through the school and refreshments served by members of the student body.

The Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery wishes each member of the Class of 1963 good luck and Godspeed through the ensuing four years of their dental training.

Gift From the 1959 Class

The Department of Operative Dentistry of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, has recently received a gift of twelve gold foil electric annealers from the Class of 1959. The annealers were donated with the understanding that they be made available to senior students as an adjunct in the placement of gold foil restorations.

The annealers have been in operation for several months. The present senior class has made it known that this equipment has facilitated gold foil operations. The students are most appreciative to the Class of 1959 for its generosity.

The Department also wishes to express its appreciation to the 1959 Class for this contribution. The annealers have been appropriately inscribed so that all students may recognize and appreciate the role played by the 1959 Class in making them available.

Newman Club

Wednesday, October 14, marked the first meeting of the Newman Club which was held at the Johns Hopkins' Newman House. Mr. Zigmond D. Maciekowich, Director of Education at the Maryland State Penitentiary, delivered a most enlightening talk on Prison Education. Father William Schafner, S.J., our Chaplain, welcomed the new members and impressed upon them the importance of being completely dedicated to the Dental profession. We were also pleased to have Father Koerber as a guest. Eighty-six alumni, faculty, students and guests were present, and we hope that future meetings will be as successful.

Dates of the Newman Club Meetings for the academic year 1959-60:
Wednesday, October 14—Dinner Meeting

Sunday, November 22—Communion Mass and Breakfast—Rev. Gustave Weigel, S.J., Professor of Ecclesiology, Woodstock College. "The Ecumenical Council."

Wednesday, December 16—Christmas Dinner—Daniel L. Lynch, D.D.S. "The Professional Man."

Wednesday, January 13—Evening Meeting (Smoker)—Robert Henry Goldsborough, Staff of the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities. "Communist Strategy and Tactics."

Wednesday, February 10—Dinner Meeting—Reverend Father Thomas M. Brew, S.J. "Retreat for Men."

Sunday, March 20—Communion Mass and Breakfast—Reverend Father C. O'Dwyer, CYO Director.

Wednesday, April 20—Dinner Meeting—Election of Officers—Dr. Daniel J. Pessagno, Chief Surgery, Mercy Hospital.

The annual Christmas party of the Newman Club was held on December 16 at the Newman House, 2941 N. Charles Street. A turkey dinner with all the holiday trimmings was supplied most generously by faculty, alumni and other friends of the Club. Following dinner a distinguished alumnus of the school, Dr. Daniel F. Lynch, was the guest speaker. This prominent oral surgeon, who is engaged in practice in Washington, D. C., is a past-president of the American Dental Association and is the incoming president of the Alumni Association of our Dental School. As those of the dental profession know, the accomplishments of Dr. Lynch are many and the Newman members manifested a keen interest in his presentation, his topic being "The Professional Man."

Dr. Lynch related some of his experiences while a student in our school and he stated that the training which he had as a magazine subscription salesman during his student days was helpful throughout his career. The members were urged to assume active part in school societies and following graduation to interest themselves in dental organization work. Dr. Lynch stressed the point that now is the time to lay the foundation for the future when probably many of the present Newman members will be aspiring for recognition as practitioners of dental specialties. He offered encouragement to students to avail themselves of the opportunity to secure information from the headquarters of the American Dental Association whenever desired.

Reverend William E. Schaffner, S.J., Chaplain of the Newman Club, opened and closed the meeting.

To our benefactors and to Dr. Lynch our organization is indebted for an interesting and happy Christmas get-together.

Gorgas Odontological Society

After a very active, entertaining and especially educational series of meetings in the past school year, the Gorgas Odontological Society has now entered its 44th year.

The Society, throughout the years, has perpetuated the name of one of the pioneers in dental education and a great contributor to dental literature, Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas. It has done this by having as its object the furtherance of dental knowledge through discussions and lectures.

The main event of the year is the Spring Formal Banquet held in April. The only way to describe last year's event is that it was a huge, wonderful success. Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, President of the University of Maryland, was the guest speaker. After the excellent dinner and equally excellent talk, the dancing began and it might be said that the Friendship International Airport was certainly a place of friendship that evening.

It looks as though the coming year is going to be equally as successful as last year. Many excellent speakers have been contacted, including: Dr. Leonard Rappaport, of Baltimore, a pharmacist as well as a dentist; Dr. George Everett Jones, U. S. Marine Hospital, United States Public Health Service; and Dr. Demetrie Aries of the Endodontic Department of Georgetown University.

The first meeting of the year was a dinner meeting held at Maria's Restaurant. A table discussion was held on the topic, "Dental Organizations and Journalism". Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio served as chairman and Dr. Kyrle W. Preis, Editor of the Alma Mater, and Dr. Lawrence W. Bimestefer, Editor of the Journal of the Maryland State Dental Association, were the speakers. Twenty-nine new junior members were initiated at this meeting.

We are all looking forward to the coming meetings and to a very successful year once again under the able and patient guidance of our faculty advisor, Dr. José E. Medina, and our president, Hulon Beasley.

Student Senate

The Student Senate was organized in 1952 with the primary objective of serving as a liaison between the student body and the faculty. The Student Senate is composed of three representatives from each class: the president and a representative from each section. Throughout the year this organization endeavors to harmonize Student-Faculty relations and to consider any problems that arise within the student body. In addition, the Student Senate contributes much to student life and activities. Five dances are planned for the school year: a Student Senate Mixer and four individual class dances. Tournaments are annually scheduled in golf, table tennis, and softball. Publication of the Student Director, publication of the Student Handbook, and the maintenance of budgets to administer the spending of student funds are all controlled and planned by the Student Senate. It is hoped that an open night at the dental school can be arranged this year for the wives and families of the dental students. This will help the student's family understand the function of the school, and will enlighten them as to the parts the individual departments play in the over-all picture of dental education at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Alpha Omega Fraternity— Zeta Mu Chapter

In May, Alpha Omega had its annual senior banquet to honor the members of the graduating class. The affair was highlighted by the enlightening and memorable remarks of the guest speaker, Dr. Joseph Biddix, and the presence of such guests of honor as Dean Myron S. Aisenberg, Dr. Buddy Blumental, and Dr. Walter Levine.

On Tuesday evening, November 29th, the fraternity will install thirty-two new members at an installation affair to be held at the Stafford Hotel. In addition, we have scheduled a lecture on "Practice Management" by an alumnus, Dr. Norman Highstein; other demonstrations and lectures concerning related dental topics have been planned.

The plans for this year include varied activities of a social, fraternal, educational, and athletic nature; and we believe the fraternity will enjoy one of its most successful years in the history of Alpha Omega at the University of Maryland.

Psi Omega Fraternity—Alpha Chapter

Alpha Chapter of Psi Omega at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery sends its best wishes to all graduate members throughout the country.

I know you will be interested to hear of our activities and social program during the past year.

Highlighting the program was the Psi Omega Spring Formal Dinner Dance which was held at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel on May 2, in honor of our graduating seniors and the distinguished Psi Omegan of the year. The affair was quite successful with an abundant supply of cocktails and dance music. Special guests at the dance were Dr. and Mrs. Conrad Inman, Dr. and Mrs. Myron Aisenberg and Dr. and Mrs. James H. Ferguson, Jr., Supreme Grand Master-Elect. Dr. Ferguson made a short post-prandial address and was presented the "Outstanding Psi-Omegan of the Year" award. This award represented the first such presentation by Alpha Chapter. Our spirits were dampened by the absence of Deputy Councilor Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio, who was injured in an automobile accident.

Alpha Chapter was honored by the presence of Supreme Recorder Brother Harman, who visited the Chapter House and spoke before Alumni and active members at a luncheon on May 5, 1959, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. This luncheon was held in conjunction with the Maryland State Dental Association Convention. Dr. Harman was presented to the group by Brother Ferguson.

In keeping with the traditional hospitality of the Alpha Chapter, we wish to extend to our alumni brothers a most cordial invitation to visit our local Chapter House at 208 E. Biddle St., Baltimore, Md., whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Sigma Epsilon Delta Fraternity— Epsilon Chapter

SED bid farewell to its graduating seniors with a picnic in June. All the members and their wives had a wonderful time broiling hamburgers and hot dogs, playing baseball, swimming and enjoying the wide open spaces. All the juniors, sophs and frosh looked with longing at the future "Docs".

All of us looked back on the past year with various feelings. The freshmen were glad to have passed a most trying year. The sophomores felt that they finally knew something about teeth and very happy to be through with Mr. and Mrs. Dentoform. The juniors were complaining about backaches and sore feet. The seniors, well, they were just happy!

In order to ease the tensions of dental school, the fraternity held some very enjoyable social functions. At the beginning of the school year we had a beer blast. Boy, did we blast! Actually we all had a good time meeting new students at the dental school and getting together for a "night with the boys". Those freshmen sure looked green and very gassed!

We'll never forget the Caveman Party of our undergraduate chapter. The fraternity house was decorated like a cave, with dinosaurs and, of course, cavemen. The social committee really outdid themselves with this affair. The band was one of the best we've had.

Later on in the year we had a smoker with shrimp and all the dressings. Graduate members were present and lent a professional atmosphere to the fraternity house. In February the Graduate Chapter of Sigma Epsilon Delta invited all the undergraduate members to an elaborate dinner-dance at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel. As in previous years, we ate to our hearts' content and danced on into the wee hours of the night with our girl friends or wives on one arm and champagne in the other.

We certainly hope that this year will be as socially enjoyable and as intellectually stimulating as last year.

Howard I. Segal

Xi Psi Phi Fraternity—Eta Chapter

The following is a rough draft on our social calendar for the coming year:

Sept. 25:	New Faces Party
Oct. 2:	Open House
Oct. 16:	Beermuda Party
Oct. 31:	Hallowe'en Party
Nov. 21:	Thanksgiving Party
Dec. 12:	Christmas Dance—Stafford Hotel
Jan.	Annual Jazz Concert
Feb.	Rushing Functions
March 4:	Founder's Day Banquet
April	Easter Party
May	Annual Picnic
May	Spring Formal

Along with our social activities, we plan to invite guest lecturers in private practice and in the teaching fields to participate in our activities in order that we may broaden our perspective on dentistry and be more than a social fraternity.

The Zippettes, the women's club of Xi Psi Phi, will also sponsor, during the year, teas, raffles, etc., the proceeds of which go into the house fund.

Dr. H. Cooper Lectures at Dental School

Upon the invitation of the Orthodontic Department, Dr. Herbert K. Cooper, Director of the Cleft Palate Clinic at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, spoke to the members of the senior class and guests on, "The Clinical Management of the Cleft Palate Patient", Tuesday, December 15, 1959, at 8:00 P.M. in the Gordon Wilson Amphitheatre.

Dr. Cooper enjoys an international reputation for his outstanding contributions relative to the integration of services in the treatment of patients with cleft palates and cleft lip problems. Several motion pictures were shown and Dr. Cooper discussed many aspects of the surgical and psychological rehabilitation of these patients. Approximately 150 students and guests were in attendance and his lecture was thoroughly appreciated. At the conclusion of the program, Mr. Wayne Stroud, president of the senior class, presented Dr. Cooper with a properly inscribed pen and pencil desk set as a token of gratitude.

A Letter From Dr. Jacques E. Brun, Our European Representative

December 22, 1959

Dear Editor:

I should have congratulated you as soon as the first issue of the "Alma Mater" reached my desk.

So many things happened here since then which occupied most of my time, that it is only now I have a chance to let you know all the pleasure I had to read it through. You really did a wonderful job, from the first page with your excellent editorial to the last one, and the second issue keeps the portends of the first, informing us on the activities of the association of our school and friends in the profession.

May I particularly insist on the great delight I had, perhaps as a foreign language speaker, to read here and there a few lines or verses taken in the literature and illustrating a thought very delicately chosen.

To answer the secretary's report, our good friend Joe Cappuccio, seeking for news and information for his editor, let me announce to you in all modesty:

I have been appointed "Chef de Clinique" in the prosthetic department of the "Ecole dentair de Paris".

My wife gave me a wonderful daughter named, Isabelle, Helein Edmonde.

To answer your second editorial, you will find enclosed my alumni dues with the hope it will contribute to help you to a continued success in your task.

May I also take the opportunity of this letter to congratulate Dr. Edward Dobbs and Dr. Joseph Biddix for the improvements they have brought in their departments of Pharmacology and Therapeutics and Oral Diagnosis and Roentgenology.

Please extend my congratulations to your editorial staff for your marvelous job.

Sincerely,

Jacques E. Brun, '52

This Won't Hurt A Bit

—DID YOU KNOW—

David C. Danforth, a graduate of the Dental School, University of Maryland, '15 was a big league pitcher of noteworthy fame. "Dandy Dave", as he was known, in his professional debut in 1911 reported to the Philadelphia Athletics and in his first role as a relief pitcher struck out the first batter, retired the side and was credited with the win in the records. In 1916, playing with the Chicago Americans against the Boston Americans in a crucial series, Dave helped win the pennant by delivering a tremendous triple "in the pinch" which unloaded the bases and ultimately won the game. His 22 year career as a pitcher was highlighted by his famous "shine ball", a delivery which wreaked havoc with batters. He organized and pitched for teams of dental students, and later in 1919 his barnstorming Maryland Drydocket team whipped Jack Dunn's International League Champions in a post-season series.

Presently Dave is practicing in Baltimore and in addition to his dental practice and interest in sports, Dave also likes to hunt and takes pride in keeping physically fit. Many Alumni will remember Dave as an instructor in Operative Dentistry in the '30s".

"American Crisis"

"... Never had a country so many openings to happiness as this. Her setting cut in life, like the rising of a fair morning, was unclouded and promising. Her cause was good. Her principles just and liberal. Her temper serene and firm. Her conduct regulated by the nicest steps and everything about her wore the mark of honor. It is not every country (perhaps there is not another in the world) that can boast so fair an origin Let, then, the world see that she, America, can bear prosperity: That her honest virtue in time of peace, is equal to the bravest virtue in time of war. In this situation, may she never forget that a fair national reputation is of as much importance as independence. That it possesses a charm that wins upon the world, and makes even enemies civil. That it gives dignity which is often superior to power, and commands reverence where pomp and splendor fail."

The School—The Alumni—The Future

Hayden and Harris, the acknowledged founders of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the oldest dental school in the world, were indeed men of vision, courage and wisdom. Their hope was not for personal glorification, but rather the fulfillment of a dream: The establishment of an educational program whereby men could adequately be trained to "serve humanity". Their dedication to these high ideals was inspiring, success greeted their pioneering efforts, and we their heirs reap the benefits.

Today more than 120 years later we are on the threshold of an era that poses unique challenges and opportunities to the dental profession.

The University of Maryland has recently released information about a $20,000,000, ten-year program for the "doubling" of the Baltimore Campus, including a $2,500,000 new dental school.

This is important news and we are sure that our more than 4,000 alumni, many of whom have contributed to the Greater University Fund Drive and to the Dental Alumni Endowment Fund, would like to know more about the program for the future of their "Alma Mater".

Questions such as these are sure to arise:—Will the new school provide for the education of dental hygienists, dental office assistants, or other ancillary aids? Will there be adequate and separate facilities for post-graduate and graduate training programs, also accommodations for serious dental research? And in view of President Elkins' statement that "a 40% increase in enrollment in the Baltimore Professional Schools has been projected during the next ten year period", is the $2,500,000 a realistic figure based upon carefully estimated future needs.

These and other questions undoubtedly have been considered, but the Alumni Association would appreciate a more detailed report of the contemplated plans. Dr. Albin O. Kuhns, whose letter is printed elsewhere in this issue, has stated his willingness to work with Dean Myron Aisenberg explaining the background, "from the initial planning and development that has brought this to its present stage."

Actually the planning for a new dental school should be a joint enterprise involving the combined efforts of the University officials, the Dean, the faculty, and appointed alumni representatives. Thus full advantage of the best and most experienced minds would be available. On this threshold of a new era, the Alumni Association stands ready and most willing to do its part and will respond to the call of leadership.

Alumni Breakfast In Washington

Palladian Room, Shoreham Hotel

The annual alumni breakfast held Tuesday, March 15, during the District of Columbia post-graduate meeting at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D. C. was quite successful. Approximately 80 attended.

President Harry W. F. Dressel welcomed the members and guests and spoke about plans for the coming June Week, also the Endowment Fund program. Dean Myron Aisenberg thanked the Alumni Association for their gift of $2,500 toward purchasing television facilities for the Dental School. He informed us that the School is now engaging in important research activities and invited the alumni to visit and inspect the expanded facilities. He expressed appreciation of the ample coverage which the Alumni Association, through its "Alma Mater," gave to faculty news and to student matters. He announced that a "Katharine Toomey Award" will be given annually beginning June, 1960. Lewis C. Toomey, '42, and his wife Jane Boswell Toomey will sponsor the award.

Dr. Samuel A. Leishear, President of the District of Columbia Dental Society, was our guest and responded to recognition as did Dr. Israel Schulman, his General Arrangements Chairman.

Again we thank Ben Williamowsky, '48, Chairman, and Ashur Chavoor, '48, Co-Chairman, for arranging this excellent breakfast in the beautiful Palladian Room.

A Letter From Africa Revives Memories of Our Centennial Celebration

July 20, 1960.

Dear Mr. President,

Forgive me for taking up your time, but you are the only person whom I think can help me.

In 1940 the Maryland State Dental Association and the American Dental Association sponsored the Dental Centenary Celebration (1840 to 1940), which was held in Baltimore.

A complete Report of the transactions of the Celebration was to have been published in book form, and was to be offered for sale. Orders for the Report were to have been placed with the Fifth Regiment Armory, and at the time, the advertised price was five dollars.

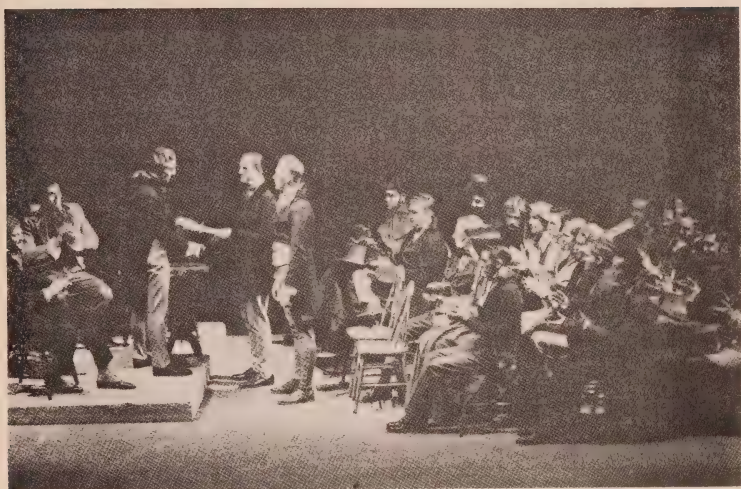

If you can assist me in any way to obtain a copy of the above-named Report or provide me with any further information about it, I shall be most obliged.

Yours faithfully,
S.V.D.V./SNYMAN

Our Heritage

From The Historical Drama—"Wilderness" *

SCENE XII. THE FIRST GRADUATION

...Hayden's arrival in Baltimore is chronicled in Scene VI laid at Charles & Fayette Streets, Baltimore. Hayden is discovered preparing to hang a sign "H. Hayden, Dentist" at the doorway of a house on this corner. His struggle to establish himself and his profession begins before he gets his sign up when a roving peddler undertakes to extract a tooth for a suffering citizen to the accompaniment of horns, drums and howls of anguish. Hayden remonstrates at the brutality of the peddler and is knocked to the ground for his pains.

Some twenty years later Scene VIII shows Hayden appearing before the Board of Trustees of the University of Maryland. Hayden has for some years delivered dental lectures at the University to those medical students who wished to hear them—a pitifully small number. Dr. Hayden urges upon the Trustees the establishment of a chair in dentistry at the medical school in order that dentistry may be elevated to the plane of a scientific profession. His request is refused for two reasons; first, that little interest has been evidenced in his lectures, and second, that the University is in a "turmoil of reorganization and cannot afford to experiment." The curtain falls on Hayden, a dejected and disappointed old man.

The ninth scene dramatically describes Hayden's meeting with Harris, and marks the beginning of the accomplishment of his aims. It is quoted as follows in full:

SCENE NINE: 1830

A small section of a park. Hayden, with a weary preoccupied air, walks to a bench and sits down, lost in thought. A constable strolls by, offers a cheerful, "Good afternoon, Dr. Hayden. Nice day, sir," but receives no reply and walks on. A young man, engrossed in a newspaper, appears. He is handsome, broad-shouldered, over six feet two. Still intent on his newspaper, he attempts to sit down beside Hayden, but Hayden's satchel, books, hat, etc., occupy the space. Hayden, deep in his own thoughts, is oblivious of the stranger. The stranger's gruff, deliberate cough brings no results. He tries it again, more emphatically. Hayden glances at him abstractly and looks away. This is too much. Harshly, the stranger speaks:

Stranger: Would you mind removing that paraphernalia? This is a public park.

Hayden: (He hasn't heard) Eh? Yes, go right ahead. Sit down.

Stranger: (Losing his temper) I certainly will! (With a sweep of his big hand he sends Hayden's books, hat, etc., flying to the ground. With a grunt he seats himself firmly and buries his head in his newspaper.)

(Hayden hasn't noticed. He remains immobile, abstracted. Presently the stranger lowers his paper, curiously inspects this older man beside him. The expected tirade has not materialized and the stranger is puzzled.)

Stranger: Aren't you going to bark? Aren't you going to say anything?

Hayden: (Arousing himself) Say anything? Yes. It's a nice day, isn't it?

Stranger: (Incredulous) I mean—there's your stuff on the ground.

Hayden: So it is. The wind must have blown it off the bench. (He starts to retrieve it.)

Stranger: Here. I'll get it. (He gathers it up, places it between them on the bench.) I'm sorry, sir; I knocked it down. I have a vile temper.

Hayden: Do you? Sometimes I wish I had.

Stranger: Are you perfectly well, sir?

Hayden: (Smiling) Perfectly, thank you. Merely a disappointed old man. I wish I had that temper of yours, and that great hulking strength.

Stranger: And what would you do?

Hayden: Do? I'd do . . . I'd—shall I really tell you what I'd do?

Stranger: (Smiling) I'd be interested to hear.

Hayden: (Voicing his ideals, his visions) I'd stand up . . . I'd stand up and fight. Dentistry is considered a new mechanical trade. We have nothing to offer high-minded men.

(The stranger now is intensely interested.)

Hayden: (Suddenly remembering the stranger) Does this make sense, young man? To you who are not interested?

Stranger: (Earnestly) It makes a lot of sense. And I am interested.

Hayden: There must be education. It's the basis of science. By the Lord, sir, it's not a disgrace to be called a dentist! If I had your vitality and youth I'd start a college myself! It could be done. Maryland has a Legislature which is supposed to be devoted to the improvement of civic welfare. They might be forced to see that our trade is worthy of . . . (He stops; the realization is not pleasant.) But what's the use? I am an old man. I'm sixty-one. I couldn't even stand on my feet as long as it would take to harangue those hardheads down in Annapolis . . .

Stranger: (Quietly intent) But I could, Dr. Hayden. I could stand up and give it to them all day and all night for weeks if necessary!

Hayden: How did you know my name? Who are you? Why should you be interested?

Stranger: Everyone in our trade knows the name of Horace Hayden.

Hayden: Our trade?

Stranger: I'm a dentist, sir. Not such a good one—that's because I haven't the necessary—(he taps his forehead)—yet. But you have. You have everything I've ever wanted. And if your right arm's failing you, Dr. Hayden, this (indicating his own) is a pretty fair one; I'll also do the standing. And the bellowing. In return I'll be grateful for any of the wisdom in that Hayden head.

Hayden: (Beaming) Young man, what is your name?

Stranger: Harris, sir, Chapin Harris.

Hayden: Well, Mr. Harris. You've got yourself an instructor.

Harris: I warn you—I'm not much.

Hayden: You will be. You will be. Together we'll take this contempt and pin its shoulders to the ground. We'll bring our trade to the front where it belongs.

Harris: Trade, sir? Trade, hell! It'll be a profession when we're through with it!

Hayden: (Linking his arm in Harris') Mr. Chapin Harris, I think you and I will get along together very well! (As they walk off, the lights fade.)

The energy and enthusiasm Harris brought to this partnership was largely responsible for the incorporation of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery by the Maryland Legislature in 1840 (Scene X) and in Scene XI we are introduced to the faculty of the new school (Thomas E. Bond, Jr., M.D., and Willis Baxley, M.D., in addition to Hayden and Harris) and the student body of five. These were Robert Arthur of Baltimore, J. Washington Clewes of New York,

Joseph Lavier of Norfolk, Virginia, Thomas Payne of New York and R. Covington Mackall of Baltimore. Mackall and Arthur were given advanced standing because of experience in practice and were graduated, after attending one session of the College, in March, 1841.

 An excerpt from the historical drama "Wilderness", depicting the circumstances and the mood during the period when the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the oldest dental school in the world was founded.*

A report of "Wilderness" presented at Ford's theatre in Baltimore, 1940 is published in the "Proceeding of the Dental Centenary Celebration", with all due credit, to those responsible for this presentation. Reprint through courtesy of the publication's committee, and G. M. Anderson, Editor.

"Foundations of Professional Dentistry"

Both Hayden and Harris were physicians in spirit; neither was a physician in fact. Both were practical dentists, the products of preceptorial dental education; neither was medically educated in the accepted sense of the term. Harris had received certain instruction in medicine from a preceptor who himself had not had conventional medical training; Hayden, without known preceptorial training in medicine, showed a medical knowledge far superior to that demonstrated by Harris. Neither can be regarded as a medically trained dentist since neither had earned the M.D. degree; neither had, so far as is known, received competent medical instruction. Nor had many dentists of that period earned the M.D. degree, though many of them used it. Speaking on this point Eleazar Parmly said:

"Of all the distinguished men who have preceded us in our professional art, whose operations secured to them the greatest name, and to their patients the greatest good; there was no one among them, as far as I am acquainted with the history of dentists, who was at the outset of his professional career, 'medically educated' but they were all those, I believe, who attained their knowledge by personal study, observation and practical experience."

June Week 1960

Pre-Commencement Exercises

Lord Baltimore Hotel, Calvert Room

The June Week Program began with the Annual Convocation and Dinner of the Omicron Kappa Upsilon Honorary Dental Society, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Wednesday evening, June 1, 1960. Following the dinner twelve members of the Class of 1960 were presented for membership, as were the Faculty members; Drs. Irving Abramson, Charles E. Loveman, James P. Norris, Norton M. Ross, Myron H. Sachs, Glenn D. Steele and Burton R. Pollack. To highlight the presentation of new members, an Honorary Member Dr. L. Lynn Emmart was highly received by the Society. A very enlightening address by Mr. L. H. Denton, Manager of the Baltimore Convention Bureau, ended the Thirty-Third Convocation and Banquet.

On Thursday, June 2, 1960 during the morning the Officers, Executive Council and Board of Trustees held a meeting which was followed by the Business Meeting of the Alumni Association. The afternoon was devoted to a scientific session which consisted of a paper by Dr. Daniel F. Lynch on the "Problem of the Acutely Infected Tooth". After Dr. Lynch's paper, six table clinics were presented by members of the Class of 1960. This was a innovation which was extremely successful and well received by the alumni. The evening was devoted to Class Reunions which from all outward appearances were highly successful. The usual amount of reminiscing and renewing of old friendships occurred which accounted for the gaiety of all the reunions. Some of the individual reunions are reported separately in the Alma Mater by their Chairmen.

The 1960 June Week Program was climaxed on Friday, June 3, 1960 with a program which was of interest to all, beginning with the Presentation of Awards in the morning. The program marked a return to the Pre-War format separating the academic awards session from the social program, in the hope that a more dignified atmosphere for the awards would create touching and lasting memories for the graduating class as they harken back to the closing days of their undergraduate life. Additional flourishes were added to make the occasion more memorable. The exercises were held in the main ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel, with approximately 500 people in attendance.

The exercises continued with the presentation of Alumni Awards. Dr. Harry W. F. Dressel, Jr., presented the 25 Year Faculty Award to Dr. Kryle Preis, '29 describing him as "one of those dedicated men who seeks to give of his knowledge and ability so that others receiving it may be a credit to their profession and to the school whose degree they bear".

Dean-Emeritus J. Ben Robinson presented the Distinguished Alumni Award to Major General Robert H. Mills, U.S.A. (Ret.), pointing out his many years of devotion to his country and to his school. Markedly moved emotionally by the award, General Mills expressed his appreciation and called the presentation "one of the most heartwarming events of my life".

A Certificate of Honorary Membership was presented by Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio at this time to David L. Brigham, Director of Alumni Relations, University of Maryland, for his untiring devotion and assistance to the Dental Alumni Association.

A highlight of this portion of the program was the presentation of 50 Year Certificates to 13 members of the Class of 1910. Those present to receive the certificates were: Col. T. A. Chesser, Phillipi, W. Va., Dr. Morris Conners, Newberry Port, Mass., Dr. Arthur L. Davenport, Baltimore, Dr. D. I. Dyer, Newark, N. J., Dr. Charles W. Gilmartin, Fair Haven, Mass., Dr. Joseph Goodall, Hackensack, N. J., Dr. Samuel Neistadt, Baltimore, Dr. Samuel Rosen, Philadelphia, Dr. Suel V. Strickler, Charlottesville, Va., Dr. James H. Tippet, Ocean Grove, N. J., Dr. B. M. Thaman, Baltimore, Dr. Charles Waters, Baltimore, and Dr. Thomas Webb, Washington, D. C.

Following the presentation of the Graduating Class for membership in the Alumni Association by Dean Aisenberg and their acceptance by the President, Dr. Dressel, Dr. Louis Kaplan, Member of the Board of Regents gave a vigorous and stirring speech. He charged the graduates with the responsibility to cope with the challenge of deeply serious and changing times.

Dr. Daniel F. Lynch was then installed as the President of the Alumni Association. After introducing the new officers, Dr. Lynch presented the Past-President's Key. The academic exercises closed with singing of the Alma Mater song and the general recessional. A gala luncheon complete with organ music was provided for those in attendance.

The program began with a formal procession led by the school marshals to appropriate organ music. Dr. Harry W. F. Dressel, the Alumni President, called upon Dr. James T. McCarl to open the exercises with an invocation, and then welcomed the assembly on behalf of the Alumni Association. He next presented the President of the University, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Representative and Member of the Board of Regents, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg, Dean of the School of Dentistry, and Mr. Wayne Stroud, President of the Senior Class, each of whom gave welcoming speeches to those present.

Dedication of two new awards by Dr. Harry A. Silberman and Dr. Lewis C. Toomey, Jr. was next on the program. These two awards were the Timothy O. Heatwole Award, endowed by the Class of 1923 (University of Maryland), and the Katharine Toomey Award, endowed by Dr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Toomey, Jr., Class of 1942. Dean Aisenberg then presented these two awards as well as the following awards:

Turf Valley Country Club

The scene then changed to the Turf Valley Country Club for the social program. A Golf Tournament, swimming and relaxation was the plan for Friday afternoon with a cocktail party, dinner and dance in the evening. The response was one of the finest ever experienced for these affairs as nearly 400 alumni and guests attended the party.

Generous praise by many of those attending the events of June Week, particularly the graduates and their parents, gave a stamp of approval for the Association's effort. Dr. Eugene A. Leatherman and his committee of Drs. Philip J. Norris, Norton M. Ross, Henry J. Bianco, Jr., George D. Yent, W. Edward Pfeifer and Norman Highstein are to be gratefully complimented.

The classes of 1915 combined their ranks, with Dave Danforth contacting the University of Maryland graduates, and James Ferguson acting as chairman of the B.C.D.S. class. There was a total attendance of 16 counting wives. The co-chairman planned a cocktail party and dinner at the Baltimore Country Club.

Reunion 1920

The reunion dinner of the 1920 class was held at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, no pictures were taken and I'm the only one that showed up. That's about all the information that I can supply you for the 'Alma Mater'.

Anybody Got A Copy Of The Old Law?

The Code of Hammurabi (c. 2100 B.C.) established for the first time a concept of civil and penal responsibility of the physician. It likewise shows that the practice of medicine, which at that time included also treatment of mouth and teeth, was regulated by the Babylonians as far back as 2250 B.C., and that this profession was esteemed enough to be rewarded with adequate fees carefully prescribed and regulated by law.

Thursday, June 2nd was the date and Park Plaza was the place that will long be remembered by members of the class of 1925. From all sections of the country as well as from outside the U.S.A. came thirty-eight members of the class of 1925 to attend their 35th class reunion.

Cocktails followed by dinner started at seven p. m. and by midnight some were still gathered around Charlie Polk and the piano singing songs that were popular during college days. After dinner Dr. Hoover, chairman of the affair, read letters and telegrams from classmates who could not make the reunion. They all sent their regrets and well wishes. It seems that many of the men had sons and daughters who were graduating from college just at this time, and naturally prevented their attendance at the reunion.

Much discussion took place regarding the 40th or next reunion coming up in 1965. It was agreed that it should be a big bang-up affair.

One thing was certain, everyone had a good time and those who could not attend were all really missed.

The Class of 1930 held a very successful reunion at the Redroom, Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel. Seeing so many of our classmates assembled at our reunion was wonderful. We are looking forward to our 35th reunion.

Due to the smallness of our class, there was no dance but we all enjoyed the social hours prior to and following the dinner.

We were honored by the presence of Dr. Oggesson and Dean Aisenberg as dinner guests and visits by Dr. Paul Deems, Dr. Katharine Toomey, and Past Alumni President Harry Dressel.

May we all be together again in 1965.

The Class of 1940 held its reunion at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, with a stag cocktail party and dinner. We have always prided ourselves as being the "Centennial Class", because, as you remember, 1940 was the Centennial Year of Dentistry, and also of our School. It may also be remembered that we were one of the smallest Classes to ever graduate, starting with 17, and graduating only 13. Of these, 2 have passed on, so that only 11 of us are living. Six members of the class were present that evening.

We had as guests our Dean Emeritus, Dr. J. Ben Robinson, and Dr. Brice Dorsey, the Honorary President of our Class. The 6 who were present were Sid Bell (New Jersey), Ted Chapin (Baltimore), and Horace Westcott (Conn.), Gene Pessagno (Baltimore), Ben Diamond (Virginia), George Lowander (New York).

We had a wonderful time, and it was a real treat to be together again, if only for a little while. We had a memorable round-table talk with our two guests, whom we consider outstanding men in our profession, and who have lost none of their charm and wisdom. Happy to say, the six of us all had good, sound and happy reports to make to the group, and even though we had more than half of the class present, we did miss the others. Bookstaver and Litchman were unable to attend at the last moment, and we had a nice letter from Goldhaber.

It was a successful affair—those who attended will have something to remember, and those unable to attend, you are still remembered sincerely in all of our hearts, and we wish for you and yours the best of everything, always,

GENE PESSAGNO

Dear Editor

The February issue of Alma Mater just received. To my surprise not once is the Baltimore Medical College Dental Department mentioned.

When I graduated in 1913 this was the last class and the commencement was with the faculty of the Maryland University who then took over the college. There were about twenty or twenty two Dentists in the graduating class and I remember Topkins, Allen, Robinson, Guilford, Huot, etc., etc.

Is it possible that I am the only survivor of the whole class?

I enclosed some of my work. When I was at the Centennial of the American Dental Association here in New York with my exhibition I did not even know that they were having any Meeting.

I had a table clinic and the exhibition of twenty-five feet of wall space showing my life's work, saving teeth with "Root Canal Therapy and Curettage for Anterior Teeth with Radiolucent Areas in One Hour."

I am sending you some of my work. I have a few films of different subjects, but have not been able to have the A.D.A. accept them.

Trusting this information may help you and you can give me some information about my school mates, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
Dr. J. A. Camara

Rhode Island Alumni Honors Aisenberg

On Saturday evening, March 12, 1960 at the Sheraton Biltmore Hotel in Providence, the Rhode Island Section of the University of Maryland Alumni honored Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg, our Dean, by presenting him with the Alumni Meritorious Award.

For some time, we had been wondering how and when we could present this award to Dr. Aisenberg.

Our local president, Dr. Edward C. Morin, '20, who is also a member of the Board of Dental Examiners in Rhode Island, informed us that the Dean was to be in Providence on Sunday, March 13, for a meeting of Dental School Deans, and member of the various New England Boards of Dental Examiners.

Dr. Morin called for a meeting of his Board to be held in his "Grog Shop" and plans were made to see if we could get Dr. Aisenberg to come the evening before.

We wondered, of course, what the reaction would be "at home" when we announced to our spouses that we were going out on a Saturday Night to an Alumni meeting without them, but decided that it would be a good time to find out which were the men and which were the boys.

The forty four members and guests present proved that we still have quite a few men in our group.

The evening started with a cocktail hour and an informal reception for Dr. Aisenberg, followed by a good roast beef dinner.

When we saw that President Morin had two counter clockwise turns on his normally clockwise turned curled end mustache, we knew we were in for a good evening.

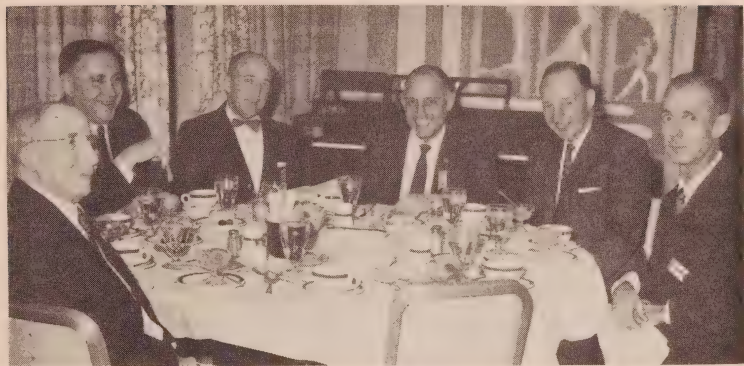

President Eddie was Master of Ceremonies, which position he handles with ease and grace. He introduced our guests who were, Archie A. Albert, D.M.D., Harvard '21, and Albert E. Turcone, D.D.S., Georgetown '36, the other members of the R. I. Board of Dental Examiners.

Also Jeremiah A. Dailey, M.D., Georgetown '30 who is State Director of Health in Rhode Island.

Other visiting Examining Board members of other states were Benton S. Pinney, Michigan '28 and Robert Leslie Jones, Georgetown '33, both from Vermont, and Clarence G. Brooks, Temple '07 from Connecticut.

Clockwise—Joseph Carvalho, '14; Peter Kanelos, '37; Edgar Bessette, '32; Arthur Josdan, '35; Fred Cuddy, '35; John F. M. Keighley, Jr., '45.

Needing no introduction was our good friend and excellent Alumni booster, Joseph C. Carvalho, '14 from Fall River, Mass. (Joe hardly ever misses one of our meetings).

Two new Life Members were introduced: John F. M. Keighley, '12, Edward F. Gill, '09 both retired.

We had a father and son alumni combination also, Drs. John F. M. Keighley Senior and Junior.

Dr. Aisenberg gave a very enlightening and inspiring talk on the future of the dental school, and it was easy to see that he is a Dean to be proud of.

Ernie Nuttall, '31, a former recipient of the Alumni Meritorious Award was introduced and he responded fittingly.

Letters and telegrams from various parts of the country congratulating Dr. Aisenberg were read.

Albert C. Picozzi, '49 Chairman, William D'Abbraccio, '47, Fred Asciola, '47, James Gill, '47, Mario Pires, '46, Thomas McSparren, '46, Edgar L. Bessette, '32.

A. JAMES KERSHAW, Editor

P. S. Dr. Aisenberg doesn't smoke cigars anymore. My how things have changed. Enclosed is a list of members present.

Great men are they who see that spiritual is stronger than any material force; that thoughts rule the world.

Did You Know?

Although Paul Revere is memorialized by Longfellow for his midnight ride, he was a man of many other accomplishments and had established himself as a dentist of renown. For some of his patients he made "false teeth" out of ivory or elks teeth.

North Carolina Alumni Reunion

Typical of the spirit of our Alumni in North Carolina, was the turnout for an Alumni Luncheon at the North Carolina State Meeting, in Pinehurst, North Carolina on May 2, 1960.

Thirty-five enthusiastic supporters were in attendance for the delicious repast, and to hear about your Association and Dental School. Dr. Harry Dressel, at that time the President, journeyed down to the meeting at the request of the Chairman, Dr. C. Burkhead Ledbetter, to speak on progress within the School and Alumni Association. He reported his reception as heartwarming, and related that there was unusual fidelity too, and interest in our Alma Mater in spite of the establishment of a dental school at the University of North Carolina. Even with the competition of golf and committee meetings, the attendance was commendable.

Among those present were graduates from 1908 to 1959 as listed below.

New Jersey Alumni Section sponsors Alumni breakfast during the Maryland State Dental Convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey, June 8-12, 1960.

A very well attended breakfast was held on Saturday, June 11, 1960, in the America Room of the Hotel Traymore in Atlantic City, New Jersey. This was a very fine gesture on the part of the New Jersey section to sponsor an Alumni breakfast while the Maryland State Dental Convention was meeting in Atlantic City.

Many of the officers and leaders of the section were in attendance to make this venture a great success.

Among the officers present were the following:

Robert JERNICK President Elect	'50	Elwood SNYDER, JR. Secretary	'58

Saule GAIL	'22	Elwood SNYDER, SR.	'31
Gerard DEVLIN	'23

Dr. Alan Gale, President of the section greeted the group and welcomed the Maryland State Dental Association to Atlantic City.

Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio, President Elect of the Alumni Association and General Chairman of the Maryland State Dental Convention presided in the absence of President Daniel F. Lynch, who was attending a meeting in Europe. He congratulated the New Jersey section for their cooperation and their excellent turnout.

Dr. Alan Gale and Dr. Robert Jernick should be congratulated for the arrangements of this meeting.

The association wishes to thank the New Jersey section for a job well done.

Without the excellent support of Saule Gail, Gerard Devlin, Joseph J. Martini, Elwood Snyder, and many others this affair could not have been possible.

AGAIN—ATTENTION PLEASE

Undoubtedly many of our Alumni have achieved honors and merited distinction, but the facts surrounding such occasions have escaped our attention. Perhaps modesty or indifference has interfered with the news reaching us.

This is regrettable, for one of the principal purposes of the Alma Mater is to serve as a repository of events. Our past records are indeed meager and Alumni activities during the time of the merger of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery with the Dental School, University of Maryland, are wrapped in confusion.

Therefore, we urge you to send us information so that we may print the news.

A very well attended meeting of the Maine Alumni was held on Friday, June 17, 1960, at the Samoset Hotel in Rockland, Maine, and was held in conjunction with the Maine Dental Society. An all Maryland Program was presented this year. The following clinicians represented the University of Maryland: Brice M. Dorsey, '27; Ernest B. Nuttall, '31; Calvin J. Gaver, '54; Wilbur O. Ramsey, '43; Kyrle W. Preis, '29.

Frank P. Gilley, '46, president of the Maine Dental Society presided and Harry W. Lyons, '32, served as the General Chairman of the meeting.

Phillip W. Anderson, '35, chairman of the Maryland Alumni Group welcomed the visiting Alumni from Baltimore, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island at a special luncheon.

Joseph P. Cappuccio, '46, President Elect of the Alumni Association and past Secretary aided in the formation of an official section. Last year, Harry Dressel and Calvin Gaver attended a similar meeting to determine if there was sufficient interest in forming a section.

Following luncheon, a business meeting was held at which time Dr. Anderson introduced many of the guests and visiting Maryland clinicians. Dr. Cappuccio explained the reasons and advantages of having a local section. Following a short discussion the following officers were elected and a Maine section became a reality.

General Robert H. Mills Honored

It is my privilege, and my very great pleasure, Mr. President, to present at this time Major General Robert H. Mills, retired, an alumnus of the University of Maryland, who has been selected by the Alumni Association of the School of Dentistry to receive its Distinguished Alumni Award.

Born in the State of Georgia, he was educated in its public schools, at the Southern Dental College in Atlanta, and at the Dental Department, University of Maryland, where he graduated with honors in 1907.

After a brief time spent in private practice he took a competitive examination which resulted in his appointment as a contract dental surgeon in the Medical Department of the United States Army. He served in the rank of First Lieutenant from 1911 to 1917, when he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel following the passage by the Congress of a bill which gave the Dental Corps equal status with the Medical Corps of the Army. He participated actively in the planning that led up to the passage of this bill which was a well deserved recognition of the essential services the dentist is called to perform in times of war, and in preparing to meet such emergencies.

He served in Europe in World War I, and afterward on many important tours of duty, including The Philippine Islands, four years as Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Northwestern University, and four years as Director of the Army Dental School, Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Under the stress of World War II he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, and made assistant to the Surgeon General and Director of the Dental Division, Office of the Surgeon General. In 1943 he was promoted to the rank of Major General, the first army dental officer to be so recognized. In 1946 he was retired as Major General after more than one-third of a century of active duty in the Army. That same year, his alma mater, the University of Maryland, conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Dental Science.

In recognition of his outstanding services to his country, he was awarded, upon his retirement, the highest possible non-combatant award, the Distinguished Service Medal. Among other things, the citation for this award stated: "Under his guidance the Army Dental Corps was expanded from several hundred to more than fifteen thousand officers, and dental facilities were expanded proportionately. The dental rehabilitation of more than a million men accomplished under his supervision represented a tremendous contribution to the conservation of fighting manpower, and to the future health of the nation."

Mr. President: I am happy to present to you one of the University's best known, and most loyal Alumni, Gen. Robert H. Mills, and request that you bestow on him The School of Dentistry's Distinguished Alumni Award.

J. BEN ROBINSON, '14

David L. Brigham Honored

"David L. Brigham, Director of Alumni Relations for the University of Maryland since 1947, was selected as honorary alumnus of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. The citation came for many years served in helping the Dental Alumni Association in coordination with the General Alumni Association of the University of Maryland."

"Mr. Brigham is well known in Dental circles and was the special speaker at the alumni breakfast meeting in Miami, held during the American Dental Association meeting in 1958.

"Mr. Brigham is moderator of a weekly television program "TO PROMOTE GOODWILL", is the past State Commander and presently National Executive Committeeman for the American Legion."

The entire alumni association congratulates Dave upon receiving this rarely bestowed honor and wishes him continued success in his many worthwhile activities.

DAVID L. BRIGHAM

John P. (Old) Fitzgerald, '27

L. Lynn Emmart Honored

Mr. President, members of Omicron Kappa Upsilon, and guests:

Every year, at this time, Phi Chapter of Omicron Kappa Upsilon, takes into its membership, one honorary member in addition to the top twelve per cent of the graduating class. To me this is a singular honor since the recipient is selected for his actual achievements and not merely for his potential.

It is my distinct honor and privilege to present to you at this time the Honorary Member of Phi Chapter of OKU for 1960.

After graduation Dr. Emmart taught at the school in the department of operative dentistry from 1923 to 1930.

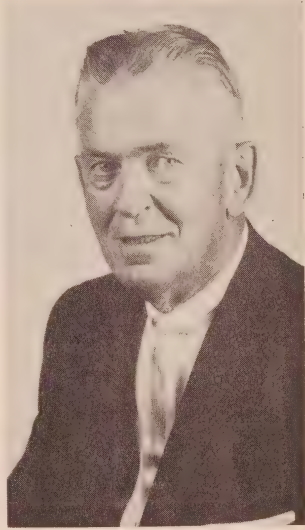

He was secretary of the Baltimore City Dental Society from 1934 to 1938 and was president of the Society in 1939-40.

He was appointed to the State Board of Dental Examiners in 1951 and is now serving his second term as a member of that body—in fact he is the present president of the Board. His experience as an instructor on the clinic floor at school eminently qualifies him as an examiner and to you candidates taking the Maryland Board next week let me tell you that he knows right from wrong. He also knows what a senior student and a recent graduate should be able to produce—but, he also knows his limitations.

He is a fellow of the American College of Dentists and also the International College of Dentists, and at present time is a member of the American Dental Association Council on Relief.

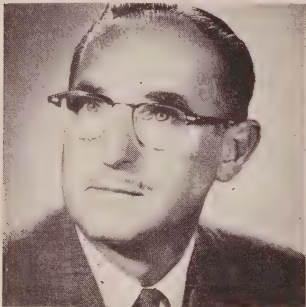

Oh, I must tell you one little incident that occurred while we were in school—one that many of us will never forget. Lynn had the misfortune to rip the seat of his breeches at school one day. He naturally turned to good old cousin Kate Toomey who was equal to the occasion. Imagine Lynn stretched over Kate's lap while she made the necessary repairs. What a sight!

To paraphrase James Whitcomb Riley—After the Lord had created Lynn he just sat around all day feeling good. Mr. President, I give you the Honorary Member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon for 1960, my very dear friend Luther Lynn Emmart.

Elected

Modern Equipment Helps Dentists Treat More Patients

High-speed cutting instruments are enabling dentists today to treat more patients in less time and in more comfort, both for dentist and patient, according to the American Dental Association.

Reporting on a newly released survey of dental practice, which was conducted for 1958, the Association said two of every three dentists reported having high or super-speed cutting instruments.

The instruments are classified in four speeds: low (under 10,000 revolutions per minute); intermediate (10,000 to 30,000 rpm); high (30,000 to 100,000 rpm), and super (over 100,000 rpm). Until after World War II, almost all dentists used low speed.

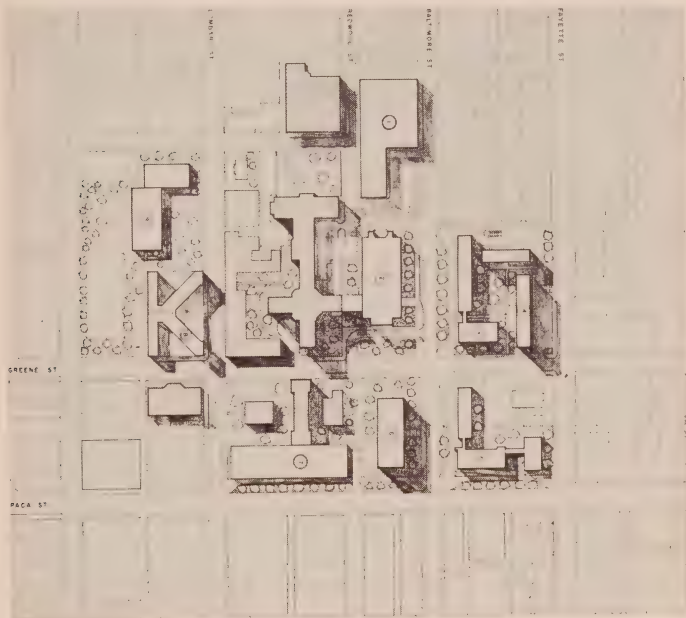

In the current study nearly half of the dentists reported using super speeds, while two-thirds reported either high or super speeds. Younger dentists tend to use high and super speeds most often.

Concerning the effects of the speeded-up instruments, more than half of the dentists responding found it enabled them to treat more patients; one-third found it reduced office hours, and a significant number found that it did both. It was also emphasized that patient comfort was greatly increased, and dentist fatigue greatly lowered.

Our Future

The following are portions of an article appearing in the Baltimore Morning Sun, July 31, 1960:

'The University of Maryland yesterday unveiled a $20,000,000 'Master Plan' to more than double its Baltimore campus in the next ten years

1. Basic Sciences, 2. Out-Patient Building, 3. Dental School, 4. House Officers Quarters, 5. Law School, 6. Future Hospital, 7. Parking Building, 8. Student Union, 9. Gymnasium & Pool.

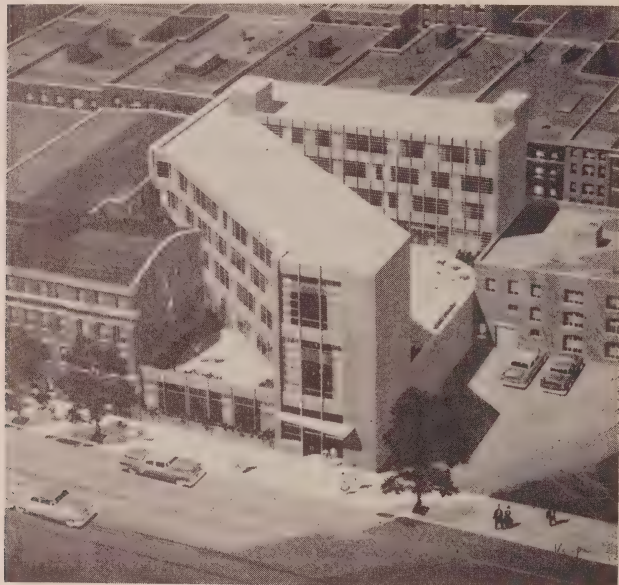

FIVE-PART PRESENT PLAN

It calls for construction of:

1. A $5,500,000 out-patient building immediately north of the present University Hospital.
2. A new $1,200,000 Law School building at Baltimore and Greene Streets.
3. A new $2,500,000 Dental School building just west of the new Law School building.
4. Several apartment buildings, north of the new Dental School, for graduate assistants at the professional schools and house officers at the hospital. (The apartments, still in the preliminary planning stage, will probably cost about $1,200,000).

5. A student union at Greene and Lombard Streets which will ultimately house 640 students, a cafeteria, lounges and recreation rooms. (the building, half of which is now complete, will cost more than $1,500,000).

STUDENT UNION BUILDING

Directly South of Present Dental School

In addition, the University plans to renovate the Old Hecht Company store at Baltimore and Pine Streets for use as a basic sciences building.

The building, which the University bought last year, will include classrooms, teaching and research laboratories. The renovation will begin this fall and is expected to cost about $2,300,000."

"When the new Dental School is completed, the present Dental Building will be converted into laboratories to service the expanding program of University Hospital.

Dr. Albin O. Kuhn, the University's Executive Vice President, said yesterday that the campus will probably not expand much beyond the 23.6 acres envisioned for 1970."

A Letter From Dr. Kuhn

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND
COLLEGE PARK

August 12, 1960

Dear Dr. Preis:

Thank you for your letter of August 10 concerning the general plans for the expansion of facilities on the Baltimore campus. The article that appeared in the Sun on Sunday, July 31, is essentially correct and gives the major details concerning the expansion plans.

If you are interested in a direct article on this matter which gives general information about the entire planning, and which goes into somewhat greater detail concerning the Dental School phase, Dean Aisenberg and I will be pleased to collaborate in preparing such an article so that it reflects all aspects which we feel are important," from the initial planning and development that has brought this to its present stage."

If you are interested in preparing an article, I should be pleased to work with Dean Aisenberg to meet whatever time schedule you feel is needed. Also, in the meanwhile I will see that an additional copy of the diagram is prepared. The alumni of the Dental School may well find this of interest.

Very truly yours,
ALBIN O. KUHN

A Teacher Speaks

"In 1926 the school was a teacher's paradise," recalls Marson*. A boy knew precisely what he was up against, from six years of English and Latin to weekly essays and monthly reports. The school banned curve-grading (the clod-coddling system based on the class average), marked only individual achievement. If it was often Dickensian, "nobody whimpered, wailed or gnashed his teeth" at the heavy load.

What kept standards high? Answers Marson: the detailed high-school curriculum prescribed by the powerful College Entrance Examination Board of the time, and the fact that Harvard accepted boys only for academic excellence. But around 1935, Harvard added nonacademic admission criteria: photographs, social poise, athletic prowess. "The real crusher" came in the 1940s when Harvard and other College Board members abolished the old essay examinations (in all subjects) and "substituted the present objective and objectionable tests of today."

Teacher Marson scoffs at the idea that objective tests are necessary for a flood of college applicants from widely varying high schools. He believes that percentile grades are "relative hogwash", and that essay exams are irreplaceable. "The fact that not one complete sentence (or paragraph) has to be composed either in the Verbal section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test or in the Achievement Test in English composition has destroyed the function of the old entrance examination that served as a national unifying force in the teaching of reading and writing."

A Modern Fable

Son: How old am I, Daddy?

Father: Silly child, don't you remember your 100th birthday in 1940, when we had that big party for you in Baltimore?

Son: Yes, that is what I can't understand.

Father: You can't understand what?

Son: Was I really 100 years old in 1940?

Father: Of course.

Son: Daddy, are records really important and accurate?

Father: Well, they should be.

Son: If they're wrong, do they correct them?

Father: Yes.

Son: When?

Father: As soon as you know they're wrong.

Son: I guess it sometimes takes a long time to find out you're wrong.

Father: What in heaven's name are you talking about?

Son: You said, I was born in 1840.

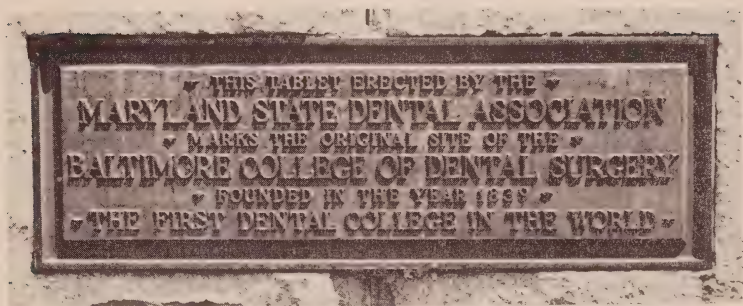

Father: That's right.

Son: Well, at Hopkins' Place in Baltimore, the site of the first Dental School in the world, a picture of a plaque taken in 1930-1935 says I was born in 1839—but just the other day, (July, 1960) I noticed that I'm a year younger. The plaque says 1840 now.

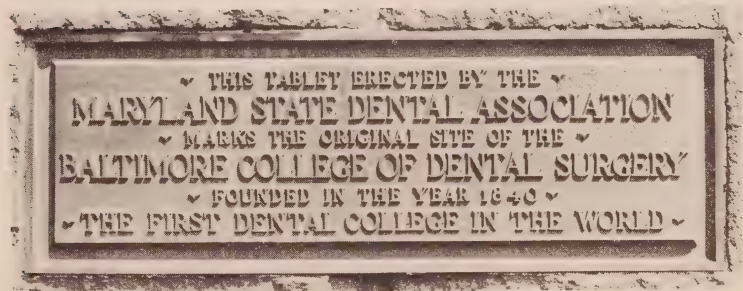

Father: Are you kidding?

Son: Not at all. Take a look at the pictures.

Father: Well, I'll be

Son: Daddy, who changed my birthday, why did they do that, how old was I when they did it?

Father: I don't know, Son, but I'll try to find out.

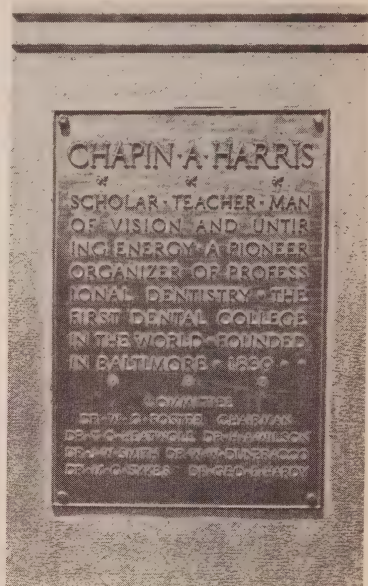

Son: Daddy, while you're about it, tell them to check the monument to Harris in Wyman's Park.

Father: Well, what's the matter with that?

Son: Oh, nothing at all. It looks very handsome in the beautiful new setting, much better than on North Avenue, where it used to be.

Father: Then what am I supposed to check?

- Son:* It's that birthday business again, the plaque on the back of the Harris monument says I was born in 1839.
- Father:* What?
- Son:* Don't you think it's silly to have two birthdays, Daddy?
- Father:* Son, pass me those audiophones.

Enthusiasm

YOUTH is not a time of life; it is a state of mind; it is not a matter of rosy cheeks, red lips and supple knees; it is a matter of the will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions; it is the freshness of the deep springs of life.

Youth means the predominance of courage over timidity, of adventure over the love of ease. This often exists in a man of sixty more than in a boy of twenty. Nobody grows old merely by a number of years. We grow old by deserting our ideals.

Years may wrinkle the skin, but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair—these bow the heart and turn the spirit back to dust.

Whether sixty or sixteen, there is in every human being's heart the love of wonder, the sweet amazement at the stars and the starlike things, the undaunted challenge of events, the unflinching child-like appetite for what-next, and the joy of the game of living.

You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair.

Dr. Dressel's Report

In reviewing the progress of the "Alumni Association" under my guidance this year, I am most happy to report our continued advancement, through more efficient administrative organization and greater membership acceptance, toward that eventual goal of more ably promoting the school of our professional birth. Your organization is extremely healthy, and now has next to the largest membership in its history.

Although a retiring President never feels content that he has accomplished all he desires, I humbly submit this report of the activities this year and a list of recommendations for consideration.

My activities as a Presidential representative began the day after my installation with an innovation at College Park, requesting the president of each alumni organization of the University to officially greet each graduate of his school upon receipt of his diploma. I believe this will go far toward promoting the importance of an alumni organization to our newest alumni. Trips were made to Maine in the company of the Liaison Committee Chairman, Calvin J. Gaver, and to North Carolina to visit at their respective alumni luncheons. Talks began in Maine that through the leadership of Frank Gilley, and Harry Lyons resulted in an all Maryland program at the Maine Dental Society Meeting. The Association was also represented at the Rhode Island and New Jersey Meetings by the Secretary, Joseph P. Cappuccio. Personal and written contact with relatives of all deceased alumni was made wherever possible.

The annual reception and breakfast meeting presented in connection with the American Dental Association Meeting, in New York City, proved to be a huge success and statistically represented one of the largest attendances to any of these affairs. That the President and President-Elect of the A.D.A. were present furnishes ample evidence of the reputation of our organization. A reception and breakfast has been arranged for the A.D.A. Meeting in California, with certain innovations deemed advisable by the Executive Council. The breakfast in Washington, D. C., was also the largest ever attended. Mention of these social affairs is made, because I believe them to be measures of the growing enthusiasm of our alumni.

The business of the Council and Trustees was a pleasure to conduct this year, for the overt cooperativeness of those bodies enabled the administration to accomplish most of the essential points of his program. Constitutional changes clarifying the procedure of Nominations, establishing better report between the Executive Council and the University of Maryland Alumni Council through the Alumni Council Representatives, revising the Solicitations Committee for greater utilization, creating a Publicity Committee to better promote the Association, and, finally the adoption of Sturges' Rules of Order for more simplified parliamentary procedure, were all presented for membership approval.

Although moral support has been outstanding in the past, no direct physical contribution had been forthcoming from the Association to the School. The Council and Trustees, therefore, accepted the President's project to provide the additional funds requested by the Television Chairman, Irving Abramson, necessary to provide an alumni gift of a complete set of television teaching equipment.

The Roster Committee, under Conrad Inman, Jr., has continued to enlarge, revise, and eventually assemble the roster into an alphabetical card file.

The Budget Committee, due largely to the work of Philip Block, has been able to establish a more realistic budget.

The Solicitations Committee, under W. Paul Hoffman, published the first endowment fund brochure for the purpose of acquainting the members and all other prospective donors with the fund. It is encouraging to note that two new endowments will be dedicated this year, and that several others are in the process of being established.

The Life Membership continues to grow, but more slowly than desired.

The Editor of the Alma Mater, Kyrle Preis, and his staff are to be commended for another series of wonderful journals.

Likewise I wish to thank the Nominating Committee, under Eugene L. Pessagno, for its magnificent selection of candidates for office in 1960-61.

A new committee, under Jesse Trager, was developed and functioned as a School-Coordination Committee. This committee was mostly investigative this year contemplating ways in which the Association can best aid the Dental School and vice-versa. Much was accomplished in establishing a basic harmonious report.

The June Week Committee arranged a program quite different from previous years, separating the business, scientific, awards, and social programs entirely. Eugene Leatherman, the chairman, worked diligently with senior student representatives to provide a program which would interest students and alumni alike.

All committees have presented written reports which will be published in the next issue of the Alma Mater.

I am very proud of the selection of Major General Robert H. Mills for the Distinguished Alumnus Award by the Award Committee, and the selection of Mr. David L. Brigham for the Honorary Certificate of Membership by the Executive Council. General Mills has been an outstanding credit to dentistry, and Mr. Brigham a true friend and aid to our Dental Alumni Association.

I would like to offer the following recommendations for further refining the business procedures of our Association in order to promote its continued growth:

1. That a more suitable schedule for publication of the Alma Mater Journal be established. Recommend that these dates be October 1st and April 1st. This will allow for publication of reports on the activities of June Week, in addition to the new officers and committees in the first issue, and the second edition would cover the new class reunions and June Week program.

2. That a professional advertising agency be contacted to increase advertising in our journal, and to reduce the cost of publication to the Association.

3. That a follow-up brochure be assembled and published to continue promotion of the Endowment Fund.

4. That a certain portion of the accrued yearly interest of the General Fund of the Endowment Trust be set aside for projects desirable for the Dental School or for use at the discretion of the Trustees.

5. That a life membership drive be started to increase the number of members in that category.

6. That the Alumni Association, through its School-Coordination Committee, endeavor to gain sanction of the Dental School for participation in the September Freshman Orientation Program.

7. That a constitutional change from Distinguished Alumni Award to Distinguished Alumnus Award be instituted.

8. That the Triennial Meeting be changed back to March, and the authority of the appointment of an interim chairman be better defined.

9. That ways be sought toward better liaison between existing components and the official body, so that isolated operation may be minimized.

10. Finally, that a research committee be established to find suitable candidates for the Distinguished Alumnus Award in order to provide a list of the most potential men to receive same.

I want to thank all those who have made what would have been an impossible task a fruitful one; especially Dean Aisenberg, Dr. Katharine Toomey and her staff, the Officers, the Executive Council, the Trustees, and the many committeemen.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY W. F. DRESSEL

The Alumni Association, Annual Business Meeting Thursday, June 4, 1959, Lord Baltimore Hotel

The Annual Business Meeting of The Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland was held on Thursday, June 4, 1959, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Dr. Edwin G. Gail at 9:30 A.M. He thanked those present for their attendance at such an early hour.

The Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were approved as read.

President Gail called on the Secretary to read the correspondence of interest to the business meeting. Letters were read in reference to preparation for the A.D.A. Meeting and our Association's breakfast and cocktail party at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City. The Secretary read letters of congratulation to Drs. Anderson, Van Natta, Morin, Ben Brown, Quirk, who had received honors from various dental organizations, as officers, distinguished alumni award and elections and appointments to State Boards of Dental Examiners.

President Gail called on the Editor, Dr. Preis, to give a report on the Journal. Dr. Preis reported that two issues of the Alma Mater had been published. He thanked those members of the Association who had sent him material for the two volumes. The Editor reported that the two issues each year would probably be published in January and May. He felt that the Alma Mater should have complete coverage of all activities pertinent to our Association. The Journal would serve as a repository of Alumni events. Dr. Gail thanked the Editor for a job well done. The report was received as read.

Dr. Bell reported on the Board of Trustees and Endowment Fund of our Association. He explained the activities of the Board of Trustees and that the Constitution and By-Laws of the Trustees would be rewritten for acceptance at the next annual business meeting. He reported that a brochure was being prepared on the Trust Fund for circulation to the membership. The funds and monies of the Endowment Trust were satisfactorily audited during the year 1958-59.

Dr. Gaver moved that the report be accepted. Dr. Levin seconded. The report of the Trustees was received and accepted.

Dr. Asbell, the Historian, gave his annual report to the Association. As usual, it was an excellent report. It was received and accepted as read.

Dr. Katharine Toomey reported for the life membership committee. She reported that two new certificates were issued during 1958-59. Miss Toomey reported that there were 109 life memberships. A total of 113 would include 4 deceased life members. It is a policy of our Association to carry the deceased life members on our rolls. Dr. Calvin Gaver moved the acceptance of the report. Dr. Leatherman seconded. The report was received and accepted.

The Solicitations report was read by the Secretary in the absence of the Chairman, Dr. Corey. The report was approved as read and accepted.

Dr. Calvin Gaver reported for the Roster Committee. He explained the procedure followed to establish an official roster of our Association. The various categories were: active, life, honorary. Included in the roster was the class of 1958. He thanked the Editor for publishing the official roster of the Association in the Alma Mater. The committee report was received and accepted.

Dr. Harry Levin reported on the Greater Alumni Fund. He stated the points that the Alumni Association had made to the College Park people in reference to the money collected from dentists. In summary, the dental alumni wanted the dental funds used for dentistry. This area had presented some problem between our alumni and the directors of the Greater Alumni Fund. There seemed to be a difference of opinion among many of our members as to the position of our alumni in this matter. Dr. Bell expressed his opinion on the matter. He felt that the dental alumni should collect its own money for its own use. Dr. Dressel stated that there seemed to be great confusion in the manner in which the Greater Alumni Fund operated and that our alumni was not convinced of the intent of the Fund as it related to our own interests. Dr. Cappuccio stated that our own school was in need of many improvements and that these funds should be made available to the Dean of the Dental School for his use. Dr. Anderson made a strong plea for our alumni to cooperate with the Greater Alumni Fund group. It was his opinion that the money collected from dentists would be used in dentistry. It was made clear to both Dr. Anderson and those who believed in the Fund, that the College Park group had failed to make definite commitments to the administration of the Dental School and our alumni. The Dean stated that he had not received any definite commitment as to whether the money would be available for our use and when it would be made available. Dr. Bell stated that he had prepared a Resolution for action by the body under New Business to take care of the situation.

The report by Dr. Levin was received and accepted.

Dr. G. W. Gaver reported on the Triennial Meeting. He stated that the complete schedule had been received by the membership and that the Alma Mater had carried the entire program of the Triennial Meeting. He thanked his committee for their work throughout the year. The report was received and accepted.

Dr. Leatherman reported on the Class Reunions. He gave a run-down of the various class reunions and their location. His report was received and accepted.

Under Old Business: The Secretary reported on the activities of our official sections. He stated that the N. J. and R. I. Sections had been very active throughout the year. He reported that news about the sections had been adequately covered in the Alma Mater and therefore did not need to be discussed in detail at the meeting.

He did report that Drs. Preis and Nuttall had received Distinguished Alumni Awards from the R. I. Section. These awards were the first given by the R. I. Section. Dr. Morin had been re-elected to head the R. I. Section.

Dean Aisenberg was honored by the N. J. Section with a Distinguished Alumni Award. The Secretary mentioned the contemplated organization of a W. Va. Section in the very near future.

As usual, the D. C. Alumni Breakfast was most successful. This alumni breakfast is held annually in conjunction with D. C. Postgraduate Clinic at the Shoreham Hotel. The past breakfast meeting was the largest held by our Association in Washington, D. C.

The Secretary gave a short report on our breakfast held during the A.D.A. Meeting in Dallas, Texas. He stated that it was most successful and that the members in attendance were looking forward to the Centennial Meeting of the A.D.A. in N.Y.C. "There is every reason to believe that the A.D.A. breakfast meeting in N.Y.C. should be our top alumni function" to quote the Secretary of the Association.

President Gail asked for New Business:

The Secretary reported on the Maine Meeting and W. Va. Meeting. He stated that two new sections would probably be formed in these two states. Dr. Dressel, Dr. Gaver and Dr. Cappuccio were making arrangements to cover these meetings during June and July. Dr. Cappuccio reported that our Association would hold its breakfast and cocktail party at the Waldorf Astoria on Tuesday, September 15, 1959 during the Centennial Meeting of the A.D.A. All arrangements had been completed for a very successful meeting.

A motion was made by Dr. Preis and seconded by Dr. Bimestefer, that the R. I. & N. J. Sections be officially approved by our Association according to the constitution. The motion was carried and both sections became official members of our Association. Charters will be presented to them in behalf of the parent body.

A motion was made to officially confirm the recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award, Dr. Howard Van Natta. This motion was carried.

Dr. Bell presented a resolution in reference to the Greater Alumni Fund and the part that the Dental Alumni should play in this fund. Many members spoke in behalf of the Resolution. Dr. Anderson suggested that the resolution be toned down somewhat in its language and implication. Dr. Bell's resolution stated the dental alumni should divorce itself completely from the Greater University of Maryland Fund. That seemed to be the meat of the resolution. Dr. Anderson suggested that the word divorce be dropped from the resolution. The resolution was amended by dropping the word divorce and including in the resolution the words (will not actively support). Dr. Bell moved that the following be accepted as the resolution on the basis of the change suggested by Dr. Anderson: (Resolution). Seconded by Dr. Bryant. The resolution was adopted by the Association.

Dr. Calvin Gaver reported for the Nominating Committee. He presented the slate of officers for 1959-60. A motion was made to accept the report and seconded. It was passed. President Gail then called for the election of officers. Being no further nominations, Dr. Bimestefer moved that the nominations be closed. It was seconded by Dr. G. W. Gaver. The entire slate as presented by Dr. Calvin Gaver received a unanimous ballot cast by the Secretary. The new officers were introduced by Dr. Gail.

Newly elected President, Dr. Dressel, assumed the chair. He called on Dr. Gail to present the President's Report. Dr. Gail gave a very magnificent address on the role of the Presidency and offered many suggestions and recommendations to the incoming President. Dr. Dressel called on the chairman of the committee to review the President's Report. Dr. Morin, the chairman of the committee, congratulated the outgoing President and his committee concurred with all the suggested changes and recommendations. The President's report was accepted for the minutes and records of our Association. Dr. Gail assumed the chair once again.

Dr. Levin moved that the Executive Council give consideration to the members of the Alumni Council of our Association as voting members of the Executive Council. He stated that as of the moment the members were not official voting members of the Executive Council. He presented a resolution to that effect. Dr. Dressel stated the action was not necessary on the resolution since the constitution and by-laws committee had already received this recommendation for action by the committee. This action would necessitate a change in the constitution and by-laws of the Association.

Dr. Bimestefer made a motion for adjournment at 11:55 A.M. It was seconded by Dr. Preis. It was carried. Meeting was adjourned at 11:56 A.M.

Respectfully submitted,
Joseph P. Cappuccio, Secretary

Committee on President's Message

Report of the "Committee on the President's Address" at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association, B.C.D.S.U. of Maryland, School of Dentistry, June 2, 1960.

This committee wishes to commend and congratulate the President on his leadership, initiative and vision in guiding the Association during the past year. It has been a year of accomplishment both in activities beneficial to the membership at large, but also which on the long run may prove more important, the development of new procedures, interests and revision of several patterns of Association Administration which should prove workable and helpful in the next few years.

We would like to add a word of caution in regard to finance. We believe that restraint in expenditure of Alumni Funds should always be the goal of all persons in arranging any and all activities and that as near as possible, any and all functions should be as near self supporting as is possible.

In reviewing the recommendations of the retiring president we have given serious thought to every one and commend him for giving so much thought to the welfare of our group as is evidenced by these 10 recommendations.

1. That a more suitable schedule for publication of The Alma Mater Journal be established. Recommend that these dates be October 1st and April 1st. This will allow for publication of reports on the activities of June Week, in addition to the new officers and committees in the first issue, and the second edition would cover the new class reunions and June Week program.

We concur, if there be no reason from a practical editing and publishing standpoint.

2. That a professional advertising agency be contacted to increase advertising in our Journal, and to reduce the cost of publication to the Association.

That a committee be appointed to go into this recommendation exhaustively. It could mean in the future, the very continued existence of our Journal.

3. That a follow-up brochure be assembled and published to continue promotion of the Endowment Fund.

We feel that anything that would help increase our endowment should be given serious consideration.

4. That a certain portion of the accrued yearly interest of the General Fund of the Endowment Trust be set aside for projects desirable for the Dental School or for use at the discretion of the Trustees.

5. That a life membership drive be started to increase the number of members in that category.

We heartily concur on the desire of our out going President to further the Life Membership phase and urge that the incoming administration accept this as one of the chief projects for the coming year.

6. That the Alumni Association, through its School-Coordination Committee, endeavor to gain sanction of the Dental School for participation in the September Freshman Orientation Program.

We heartily approve of such an effort.

7. That a constitutional change from Distinguished Alumni Award to Distinguished Alumnus Award be instituted.

That this seeming grammatical error, be referred to the incoming Constitution and By-Laws Committee for appropriate action.

8. That the Triennial Meeting be changed back to March, and the authority of the appointment of an interim chairman be better defined.

We heartily concur in this recommendation.

9. Finally, that ways be sought toward better liaison between existing components and the official body, so that the isolated operation may be minimized.

We of the committee feel that this is a very weak portion of our organic structure. However, the committee does not feel that in a report such as this any real solution can be offered. We urge that in the next few years each administration gives study as to how this situation can be improved and from time to time offer such changes as will improve our liaison.

10. That a research committee be established to find suitable candidates for the distinguished alumnus award in order to provide a better selection of men to receive same.

We believe this to be an excellent idea. If used properly, it should lead to the recognition of some very able men that would ordinarily escape the attention of our local group.

The Position of the Alumni Council of the University of Maryland Alumni Association on the Question of Enlargement of the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland

This position is not critical of any member of the Board of Regents or of any individual responsible to that Board. Cooperation and discussion between members of the Board, University officials and members of the Council are appreciated by the Council.

The position and recommendations of the Council deal only with the structure of the Board of Regents and the limitations imposed by that structure. The recommendations pertain to change in structure to remove limitations.

- I. There should be an increase in the number of members of the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland sufficient to:
 - A. Assure a full and complete policy making body for a vastly expanding University as provided by law so as to:
 1. Adequately man the existing committee structure of the Board of Regents so that individual members will be enabled to fully comprehend the many complex problems of a great and growing University, and,
 2. Provide for the establishment of committees that are needed for other important phases of the University's responsibilities such as, the Academic Program and the Program for Overseas Instruction.
- II. No specific number of members of the Board of Regents is suggested as being adequate to achieve these purposes.
 - A. A continuing consideration and evaluation of the present demands and estimated future needs appear appropriate. (This is a function of the State Government.)
 - B. No special interest group including the alumni should desire or be permitted to exercise dominance over the Board.
- III. The Alumni Council, consisting of elected representatives of constituted and organized school and college associations and clubs of University alumni, states the above as its official position.
- IV. The Alumni Council states that regardless of whether the Governor and the State Legislature adopts its recommendations, that it will continue to support the Board of Regents and the University administration in their efforts toward advancement of the University.

Liaison Committee Report

At the Maine State Dental Meeting last June, an attempt was made to form a section. Registration of Maryland men and interest there indicated they had sufficient number, according to the Constitution, to operate as a group. Dr. Cappuccio represented the National Alumni Association of B.C.D.S. in Rhode Island and New Jersey and reported everything was running smoothly in these two areas.

Dr. Dressel attended the North Carolina State Meeting at their request, and apparently a great deal of interest was exhibited there.

West Virginia attempted to form a section, but it was found that there was insufficient interest.

HOWARD VAN NATTA

Report Of The Historian 1960

Tradition is living history. How fortunate are we that of all the alumni in dentistry, none can claim a longer and a more meaningful tradition in our profession. We are the professional heirs of a tradition in dentistry that was begun 120 years ago; that had its beginning in the inscrutable wisdom of Horace H. Hayden and Chapin A. Harris—for we credit Hayden with giving us the concept of dentistry as a profession and it remained for Harris with his indomitable courage to bring about the realization of this dream.

It may come as somewhat of a surprise to know that our school was not founded to promote profit for its incorporators, to advance the techniques in the mechanical phase of dentistry but rather as Dean Emeritus J. Ben Robinson has stated: "The first dental school was founded primarily to give instruction in biological sciences. Clinical practice was not introduced at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery until six years after it had begun operations. The dental educational program established at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery extended over a period of two years and four months each and the curriculum included anatomy, physiology, materia medica and therapeutics, pathology and 'practical dentistry.' The basic design of dental education . . . was to give sound courses in biologic subjects as they were then known and to offer lectures in practical dentistry."

All through the years, this concept has been held uppermost in the aims and purposes of the administrators and faculty. During the turbulent years of the growth of dental education characterized by the tenacious adherents of the preceptorial system, the rise and fall of the proprietary schools, the internecine conflicts between the various organizations concerned with dental education, and others—our school has remained steadfast in purpose.

It seems quite appropriate to state that we are the benefactors of the heritage of this past which has gone into the making of American dentistry. Our professional lives are molded by this tradition and the "power of a tradition to endure depends upon its capability to command a continuing faith." We the alumni of the first and finest dental school in the land have an unique privilege in perpetuating and enhancing the prestige of our school. Any effort at the improvement of our professional standards depends upon the recognition that the members of our association are important not by reason of what we have, but by reason of what we do. Each generation of graduates must find new frontiers of service and reaffirm with greater determination a devotion to the public good.

If we are to build for the future of dentistry, if we are, through faith, courage and understanding to make possible in this demanding world lives of usefulness and fulfillment, we have no better spearhead than to nurture the principles and precepts laid down for us by our forebears through and by the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland.

MILTON B. ASBELL

Report Of Representative To The Alumni Council of the University of Maryland Alumni Association May, 1960

The Council held six meetings during the course of the academic year. The detailed minutes of each meeting have been printed and are available at the office of the Secretary of the Council.

At the first meeting, the proposed budget of the Council was presented. The budget was based on an estimated income of $20,000 derived from $5.00 dues from each of 4,000 members. Estimated expenses were totaled at $19,500, leaving an anticipated balance of $500.00.

In perusing the minutes of the meetings of this Council it is evident that a great deal of deliberation and discussion was carried on during the year and the more important matters considered are the following:

Governor Tawes had created a Committee to Study the Composition of the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland. The Alumni Council prepared a statement recommending an increase in the number of members on the Board of Regents and submitted this statement to the Governor's Committee and to the Legislative Council. When this statement was made public there was considerable editorial comment in the press which was not favorable to the Council's action. Accordingly, the president of the Council prepared a "Letter to the Editor" in rebuttal to this adverse publicity and to give the background of the position of the Council on this matter. Subsequently, the Board of Regents Committee of this Council prepared a paper entitled "The Position of the Alumni Council of the University of Maryland Alumni Association on the Question of the Enlargement of the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland", a copy of which is attached. However, at the meeting of the Council this statement of position was not adopted due to the fact that a substitute motion, to the effect that the Council reiterate its desire for expansion of the Board of Regents without further comment, was passed.

At the April meeting, 1960, the Council submitted the following names to the Governor to be considered in his selection of replacements for the two vacancies on the Board of Regents: Dr. W. B. Long, Mr. Leonard G. Mathais, Mr. Talbot W. Spears, and Mr. J. Edmund Walter.

Mr. Charles B. Huyett, a member of the House of Delegates from Washington County, addressed the Council on the results of activity of the "Study Commission Relating to the Expansion of the University of Maryland." At a subsequent meeting, Mr. Hasslinger, who served as a member of the Warfield Commission presented a summary of the Commission's work and their recommendations regarding the establishment of branches of the University of Maryland throughout the counties of the State. Dr. Alvin O. Kuhn, Executive Vice President of the University, discussed the annual operating budget of the University and plans for capital improvements.

The Student Union Committee of the Alumni Council had worked along with the administration in the development of the Student Union Building in Baltimore and culminated their activities with the appropriation "in kind" of furnishings for the Student Union in an amount not to exceed $6,600.00. This Committee is kept intact and is looking for a new area in which it may function, one of these being the possible establishment of an Alumni Building in the area of the Baltimore campus.

During the course of the year, considerable discussion was given to the subject of student procurement and a great deal more time to the discussion of the existing crowded conditions in the University.

The Policy Committee recommended the establishment of life memberships in the Alumni Association, it was voted that such memberships be established with the details to be worked out later, but with an estimated cost of such memberships in the neighborhood of $100.00.

The above is but a summary of some of the activities which took place during the meetings of the Council, the details of which are documented in the printed minutes of these meetings.

Respectfully submitted,
EUGENE D. LYON

Report of School Coordinating Committee Alumni Association

This being a new committee, there was no precedence for procedure. It was therefore necessary that a preamble be established; the following was adopted by the committee, and approved by the Executive Council of the Alumni Association.

"The scope of activity of this committee is to develop a relationship of true understanding between the Alumni of the Dental School, and the faculty and students of the Dental School. The success of this undertaking is predicated on the fact that Dean Aisenberg and the Faculty Senate be willing to accept this committee, plus the belief that those who are members of this committee are sincerely dedicated to the ideals of the dental school. If this relationship is truly established, projects of importance sponsored by the Alumni Association will ultimately result, contributing to the morale of the school and to its physical well being.

The Committee understands that to establish this relationship, it is necessary that a go-slow policy be adopted; thus enabling the formation of a solid foundation based on a relationship of faith and understanding."

Having this concept in mind the committee met on several occasions for discussions and recommendations, for the welfare of the dental school.

It was the privilege of the chairman to be invited as a guest to the meeting of the Maryland State Dental Association—Liaison Committee meeting. At this meeting it was clearly stated that the University of Maryland officials will recognize officially only the Alumni Association for any recommendations; it was then established that the Liaison Committee of the Maryland State Dental Association would work in conjunction with the School Coordinating Committee of the Alumni Association.

The coordinating committee has met with Dean Aisenberg on several occasions, has offered its aid and in turn has received the assurance that when any need shall arise, the committee would be called upon for action.

The Dean suggested that as many of the Alumni as possible avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting the school, and to see the many changes that have been made, even with the limitations of funds and space.

With the television project approved by the Alumni Association, and with a firm foundation of understanding established, your committee is proud that much accomplishment was made during the past year, and humbly submits this report.

Editor's Report

As you know, three issues of the "Alma Mater" have been published. It was our intention to issue two each year—one in February and the other in May, the latter to contain the contemplated June Week Program. This year we decided to report upon the events of June Week including all information regarding class reunions which is sent to the editor and, of course, other items of interest as soon as possible after June Week. In a recent conversation with Dean Aisenberg, he informed me that the school will revive the "Journal" and present intentions are to publish one each year. This is indeed good news and we wish them luck. Many of us have long felt the need of a first-rate school publication which would carry news of present activities within the school, letting us know what the plans are for the future including the new dental school. As loyal alumnus, we shall all eagerly await the forthcoming "Journal".

In this connection, I might say, the Alumni Association will be relieved of some heavy financial burdens. It should be remembered that the "Alma Mater" was put to considerable expense to provide school coverage in our past three issues because we sincerely believe alumni are interested in the school and would appreciate being kept informed. Now that the school will have its own "Journal" presumably they will carry out this responsibility.

In order to reduce expenses and lighten our burden, it has been suggested that we publish one issue each year at an appropriate time. We see no reason why the school's "Journal" and the Alumni's "Alma Mater" could not compliment each other. After all, our interest is mutual. Therefore you will notice that in this issue much of school news which we had intended to report will not be included, in deference to the dean's wishes to "reserve" for the Journal certain material relative to the school for publication.

In closing, may I thank the associate editors, Morton Hollander, Douglas A. Browning, Calvin Gaver; Administrative Assistant, Katharine Toomey; Business Manager, Joseph P. Cappuccio, and all those whose advice and kind encouragement have made a task more pleasant.

The Institute of Pacific Seminars is a self supporting organization dedicated to the accumulation, advancement, and exchange of information, education, and techniques of the professions and sciences among Pacific Nations. In April, 1957, it organized a group of 52 American and Canadian dentists to present essays and clinics at the biennial national meeting of the Japan Dental Association. The program was so successful that another group of 32 people was invited to make similar professional presentations at the next biennial meeting. The reception and professional exchange was so outstanding in 1959 that the Japan Dental Association asked for another dental program for the next year, 1960.

The Japan Dental Association, Hong Kong Dental Society, and Dental Association of Thailand, which constitute the Orient Dental Seminars, selected Dr. Ben W. Pavone, Director of the Graduate Department of the University of California School of Dentistry to be Program Chairman for the entire project. Dr. Pavone selected the 20 to 30 American and Canadian dentists needed and arranged the program of essays and clinics which will be held at Tokyo, Kyoto, Hong Kong and Bangkok.

All dentists chosen must make seminar presentations at Tokyo, and Kyoto, but each dentist may decide concerning his participation at the Hong Kong and Bangkok seminars. Dr. Abramson has been assigned an interpreter in Japan for his slide-illustrated lectures in that country, and will continue beyond Japan and join the Hong Kong and Bangkok seminars for similar presentations.

The Winds of Fate

*One ship sails east, another sails west,
By the selfsame winds that blow;
'Tis the set of the sail
And not the gale
That determines the way they go.*

*Like the winds of the sea are the ways of fate,
As we voyage along through life;
'Tis the set of the soul
That decides the goal,
And not the calm or the strife.*

Liberty

The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty and the American people, just now, are much in want of one. We all declare for liberty; but in using the same word we do not all mean the same thing. With some the word liberty may mean for each man to do as he pleases with himself, and the product of his labor; while with others the same word may mean for some men to do as they please with other men, and the products of other men's labor. Here are two, not only different but incompatible things called by the same name, liberty. And it follows that each of these things is, by the respective parties, called by two different and incompatible names—liberty and tryanny.

The Future—What?

Persistence can be a nuisance, or it can lead to useful achievement, depending on the manner of approach and the end sought. The persistent interest that the Alumni of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery have always taken in school affairs should not be looked upon as interference, but as an anxious desire to give all possible assistance to the College administration in its efforts to keep abreast of rapidly changing conditions in dental education.

Last fall this column called the attention of the Alumni to an official news release issued by spokesmen for the University of Maryland in which it was reported that tentative plans had been agreed upon for expanding the Baltimore campus of the University. Specifically, the report stated that the proposed expansion would make it possible for the Baltimore schools to increase their enrollments fifty per cent; that the total estimated cost of the project would approximate $20,000,000; and that included in the plan was a new dental school building to be constructed at a cost of $2,500,000.

At that time we attempted to learn what, if any, specific plans had been formulated for a new dental building, and for the future advancement of dental education at the University that would cause the University authorities to earmark $2,500,000 for dental school construction. The attempt was unsuccessful.

Since then attention has been called to the necessity for expanding dental school facilities in the United States in order to provide adequately for the future oral health needs of the people.

Early this year the American Council on Education made public the results of an exhaustive survey of dental education in the United States conducted by a Commission appointed by the Council. Among the distinguished members of the survey Commission was the Chairman of the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland, Mr. Charles P. McCormack. Among the many significant observations made in the official report is the following:

"If the problem of financing dental education could be kept within the boundaries of the present enrollment, it would be relatively easy to solve, even though it would cost more money. However, the population of the United States is exploding and the demand for dental services grows constantly. Existing dental schools will have to be expanded and new schools must be constructed if there is to be sufficient manpower to care for the dental health of the people."

The Commission further declared that if dental education is to meet its responsibilities to the public, dental school facilities must be greatly enlarged over the next ten years, and it estimated that a building program necessary to provide for the needs of dental education would cost a total of $35,000,000 for each of the next ten years.

Another important recognition of dental education's needs is to be seen in a bill (S.1072) introduced in the Congress early this year which, if passed, would authorize appropriations "to increase the opportunity for training of physicians, dentists, and professional public health personnel." The bill provides for dental school construction in the amount of \$15,000,000 annually for ten years beginning July 1, 1961, and ending June 30, 1971. Construction is defined as, "The construction of new buildings, the expansion of existing buildings, and the remodeling, replacement, renovation, major repair or alteration of existing buildings." Grants to schools may be made up to 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ % of total cost of construction.

Again, we respectfully ask: What has been done by those in authority at the University to formulate firm plans for the construction of a new and modern dental school building so that the College may be ready to move when construction funds are available by the State, or when grants may be secured from Federal funds.

Doesn't Anybody Care?

In the last issue of the Alma Mater attention was called to an apparent confliction of founding dates of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. At Hopkins Place in Baltimore, the plaque on the bank says we were founded in 1840; and the inscription on the statue to Harris in Wyman's Park presently states that we were founded in 1839.

Go north old boy and get younger.

"Act to Incorporate the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery" was signed by John Nick Watkins, Clerk of the House, Joseph H. Nicholson, Clerk of the Senate, and William Grason, Governor of Maryland on March 6, 1840.

Our Heritage

Fauchard and his *Le Chirurgien Dentiste were to scientific dentistry what the Hippocratic canon was to scientific medicine. Fauchard treasured up all the records of dental practice and of medical science bearing on the art of dental practice. He overlooked nothing in bringing together and evaluating the influences then operating in the field of dental practice. He had a background of medical training and a sound knowledge of the dental literature that recorded the experiences of those of the past; he had enjoyed intimate acquaintance with the leading dentists of his time and had had "thirty years of practice without rest", filled with study, experiment, and philosophical thought. Fauchard lamented the fact that some one "better qualified" had not written the records of dentistry for the benefit of the art. He was earnest in his belief that the vast store of dental knowledge, both scientific and practical, which had developed through the centuries should be suitably systemized so as to improve the art generally and to provide resources for use by those preparing to enter the profession. He modestly suggested that it would have been much better if the erudite Carmaline had set himself to the task which Fauchard, in response to his sense of duty, had so successfully performed.

Fauchard's Le Chirurgien Dentiste established what may be regarded as the French school of thought in dentistry. It attempted to coordinate the scientific and the practical, and may be accepted as the strongest influence in shaping the American concept of dental practice.

Alumni Breakfast in Los Angeles

Statler-Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles, California.

A successful breakfast meeting of the Alumni Association was held on Tuesday, October 18, 1960, at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles, California. Approximately 100 Alumni and friends attended. This annual breakfast is held in conjunction with the American Dental Association's convention.

Daniel F. Lynch, '25, President of the Association, officiated at the breakfast. He introduced a number of distinguished alumni; among them were: Major General Robert H. Mills, '07 (Retired), Dean Myron S. Aisenberg '22, Dean Harry B. McCarthy '23, Dean Frank W. Houghton '17, Dean Kenneth V. Randolph '39. Later Joseph P. Cappuccio '46, President-Elect of the Association, introduced Katharine Toomey, Mrs. E. Benton Taylor, and Dr. Thomas P. Fox of Philadelphia, also Dr. William R. Alstadt, a Past-President of the American Dental Association, who extended congratulations and expressed gratitude for being invited.

An alumni cocktail party held that evening in the Garden West Room at 7:00 P.M. provided further opportunity for good fellowship and entertainment. Stewart Everson '42 the host chairman, led the group in singing.

The Association is looking forward to next year's breakfast meeting to be held in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

On October 25 at 8 A.M. the first Hawaiian alumni breakfast was held under the famous Banyan Tree at the Moana Hotel in Honolulu, and from all reports, it was indeed a very happy occasion and indicates the strong loyalty of dental alumni in that area.

Warren T. Wakai '52 graciously made the arrangements for the delightful breakfast and was assisted by the following: Herbert Akamine '56, Scot Kubota '60, H. B. Hirano '53, M. Sagawa '50, and Raymond C. K. Chun '54.

Saul Gale Honored

Allen Gale presents plaque to his father.

A Tribute

Mr. President, distinguished guests and friends:

This is a happy occasion. Our association will honor one of our alumni, Dr. Saul M. Gale.

We would not do justice to the occasion if we failed to bring to your attention some pertinent facts about Dr. Gale and speak of a few of his many accomplishments.

Saul M. Gale was born in Newark, New Jersey, on February 12, 1900. After graduating from The University of Maryland Dental School, Class of 1922, he attended the New Jersey Law School (now Rutgers) earning his LL.B. Degree, in 1929. Dr. and Mrs. Gale were married thirty-four years ago and they have two sons and one grandchild. Both sons are graduates of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery and with their dad are the only three life members of one family in the National Alumni Association at this time.

Dr. Gale's dedication to his profession and his fine sense of civic responsibility were demonstrated by his activities as a trustee of the National Alumni Fund of the University of Maryland, as a former Vice President of the National Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. He was secretary and a former president of our own New Jersey Alumni group. He is a past president of the New Jersey Society of Dentistry for children. Since 1935 "Shorty" has been secretary of the Newark Dental Club and he is also Member (Emeritus) of the Dental Staff of the Newark Beth Israel Hospital. He is active in the Boy Scouts and was a troop leader for many years. Presently he is chairman of the Relief Committee of the New Jersey State Dental Society and active in the United Jewish Appeal. In short, "Shorty" has been active in organization work for over fifty years.

Dr. Gale received an honorary membership from the New Jersey Society of Dentistry in 1951 for his contributions to child health programs. He is a Life Member of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Alpha Omega Dental Fraternity, Composit Lodge of Free Masons, Scottish Rite and is an active member of the Rutgers Alumni, Lafayette Alumni, Essex County Dental Association, Newark Dental Club and the New Jersey Society of Dentistry for children.

For many years Dr. Saul Gale has given clinics on Prosthetics before local, state and national societies and he is co-author of a paper on Wax Rebasings of Full Upper and Lower Dentures under Pressure published in the American Dental Association Journal and the Year Book of Dentistry.

Mr. President, I am proud to present to you, the distinguished recipient of this award, Dr. Saul M. Gale.

"The Path to Leadership"

Field Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery once reproachfully told Churchill: "I never smoke, never drink, I'm always in bed by 9:30, and I'm 100 percent fit." To which Churchill, who has his own definition of leadership, replied: "I never stop smoking, drink when I like, am never in bed before 3 a.m.—and I'm 200 percent fit."

The Rhode Island section of the Alumni Association, Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, held their annual dinner meeting at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel, Providence, Rhode Island, on Monday, January 16. This annual affair which always draws strong support from alumni in the New England area was held just previous to the Rhode Island State Dental Society meeting.

On this occasion Katharine Toomey, administrative assistant at the Dental School, received a certificate of honor presented by William Decesare '36, President of the Rhode Island State Dental Society, Miss Toomey graciously responded and to the surprise of many and with sadness to all stated that she will resign from her duties at the Dental School this coming March "Kate" Toomey has served as administrative assistant to Dean Timothy O. Heatwole, Dean J. Ben Robinson, and our present Dean Myron S. Aisenberg. The genuinely expressed regrets of the entire group indicated the high esteem in which Miss Toomey is held. However, she assured us all that the termination of her official duties would not mean the end of her loyal and active interest in either the school or in the Alumni Association.

Dr. Morin expressed his heartfelt gratitude upon being so honored and he too assured all present of his continuing interest in alumni activities.

The faculty members of the Dental School who were the essayists and clinicians at the Rhode Island State Dental Meeting were introduced: Dean Myron S. Dinner-Dance Committee Report

On Saturday evening, October 8, 1960, the second annual dinner-dance of the Rhode Island Chapter of the U. of Md. Dental Alumni was held at the Garden Room of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel, Providence, Rhode Island. Seventy nine persons were in attendance. The cost per couple was $15.00. During intermission, a portable beer-keg bar, electric food warmer, and set of barbecue steak knives were raffled. Generous contributions are acknowledged to nineteen patrons.

Our anticipated successful affair was marred by telephone pole No. 63 on Fruit Hill Avenue leaping into the path of our chairman's slowly moving car on the morning of the dance as he reported to his office. Dr. Picozzi was admitted to Our Lady of Fatima Hospital, North Providence, sustaining head, chest and leg injuries. Dr. Picozzi's table of twenty invited guests was cancelled that evening, lowering considerably the gross attendance and underscoring the importance of increased membership.

Respectfully submitted for the committee,

William H. D'Abbraccio, DDS, Committee member

A successful meeting of the Puerto Rican Alumni Section of our Association was held in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on Monday, January 23, 1961. This meeting was held in conjunction with the Puerto Rico Dental Association and El Colegio de Cirujanos Dentistas de Puerto Rico, their Nineteenth Annual Session, held at the Hotel LaConcha, San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Approximately thirty-five graduates of the Dental School, University of Maryland, and their wives attended this affair. The alumni party was held in honor of Joseph P. Cappuccio '46, who was attending the convention as a clinician in Oral Surgery.

Jose Zequeria, '51, the President of the section, served as the toast-master of the evening. He called on Dr. Cappuccio, the President-Elect of the Alumni Association, to bring greetings from the school and the alumni. Dr. Zequeira introduced Dr. Harry Archer of Pittsburgh, who was also a clinician on the program. Among those present were Drs. Paquita Guerra, Garcia, Alberto Walsh and Mario Ramirez Acosta, a graduate of our school who is the new president of the El Colegio de Cirujanos Dentistas de Puerto Rico, and Arturo Benavente, Jr., the new president of the Puerto Rico Dental Association. The immediate past president of the Colegio was Alberto Walsh.

Approximately fifty percent of the dentists practicing in Puerto Rico graduated from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School—University of Maryland.

Alumni Breakfast in Washington

Palladian Room, Shoreham Hotel.

The annual breakfast meeting of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, was held 8 o'clock, Tuesday, March 14, at the Shoreham Hotel. This affair which attracts many out-of-state alumni was held in conjunction with the District of Columbia's post-graduate clinic program. Dan Lynch '25 our President spoke briefly about financial matters, calling specific attention to the need of maintaining active membership in the organization. It seemed to some that his rather pointed remarks concerning dues might better have been directed elsewhere. It might be presumed that those who endured the inconvenience of journeying to Washington for an 8 o'clock breakfast had already demonstrated their loyalty, and it's hard to imagine that they would submit to a $3.50 breakfast (juice—bun—coffee—scrambled eggs—no ham, bacon, or nothin'!) and not pay their $10.00 yearly dues.

A note of sadness was introduced into the meeting when Dr. Lynch informed the group that Katharine Toomey, the Administrative Assistant at the dental school, has retired after forty-four years of devoted service and having served three Deans. Dr. Lynch expressed the hope that if Miss Toomey is called upon to continue her valuable assistance to the Alumni Association, perhaps some suitable accommodations could be obtained within the dental school. This indeed would be in keeping with mutual cooperation which could prove to be of great advantage to the school and to the alumni.

Dean Aisenberg told the alumni that they would "hardly recognize the school" because of the activities of research groups and the other improvements. He stated that a new dental school would be built within the next "5 years", but its future location has not been definitely determined as yet.

Furthermore, he said that the school would revive the "Journal" this coming May and that the "Alma Mater", the official alumni publication, would be issued but once each year instead of twice. However, the Alumni Association has not definitely decided on that matter, the original thought being that if the school and the alumni could work out a satisfactory schedule of publication (perhaps the "Journal" in May and the "Alma Mater" in October) duplication of effort and expense could be minimized. This again is another area where close cooperation is not only desirable but economically practical.

After breakfast, the nominating committee held a short special session which was followed by the usual fraternizing.

Drs. Ben Williamowsky and Ashur G. Chavoor made the necessary arrangements and deserve our thanks.

Dividends From Fluoridation

By all odds the most exciting public health event of the past week is related to Baltimore's pioneer control studies on the results of the fluoridation of the city water supply and the effects achieved on the prevention of dental decay. The report given in this letter in my opinion is tremendously important and confirms our confident expectations.

Dr. H. Berton McCauley, Director of the City Health Department's Bureau of Dental Care, and Mr. Todd M. Frazier, Director of the Department's Bureau of Biostatistics, have just announced completion of the special dental survey of 2,139 Baltimore school children 6, 8 and 10 years of age. Children in twenty public schools, representing a cross section of the city's school population at each age level, were examined by Dr. L. Paul Rivas of the Baltimore City Health Department dental staff.

Designed to test the results of fluoridation of Baltimore's city water supply begun in 1952 for the purpose of preventing dental decay, the survey has disclosed an important reduction in tooth decay experience since a similar baseline study was made in 1955. This 1960 survey shows that 6-year-old children exposed to the fluoridated drinking water continuously from birth average 75 per cent fewer permanent teeth attacked by decay than youngsters of the same age five years ago; also that 8-year-old children have 50 per cent and 10-year-old children 30 per cent less decay than in 1955. These findings confirm numerous observations of the effects of fluoridation in other communities throughout the country where this public health measure has been adopted during recent years.

Inasmuch as fluoridation was inaugurated in Baltimore November 26, 1952, there have been to now only seven full years of exposure to fluoridated water in this city. Obviously the children who are now 8 and 10 years old have not received the benefit of complete exposure to fluoridated drinking water throughout the period of development of their permanent teeth whereas the 6-year-old group have, thus explaining their greater decay reduction. In years to come as individuals with complete developmental exposure are found in upper age levels of the population, a uniform maximum reduction of tooth decay comparable to that presently observed in the 6-year-old group may be expected at all ages. . . .

Laws of Education

The laws of education are the first impressions we receive; and as they prepare us for civil life, every private family ought to be governed by the plan of that great household which comprehends them all.

If the people in general have a principle, their constituent parts, that is, the several families, will have one also. The laws of education will be therefore different in each species of government: in monarchies they will have honour for their object; in republics, virtue; and in despotic governments, fear.

A Letter From Dr. Strickland '12

Dear Doctor,

From reading some of your later alumni magazines and the alumni letter of February 1, 1961, it appears that you might be interested in obtaining information relative to the Class of 1912, B.M.C.

Enclosed you will find the program of that year's graduating classes—medical and dental. Those in the Dental Class, marked with a check, are to my personal knowledge deceased. The one marked with an asterisk, top name in section three, is according to the New York State Register of Dentists for 1958-60 practicing in Millbrook, New York.

I'm sure that the various dental secretaries of the state societies could give you further information relative to the other names.

I hope the above information will be of some use to you—and if I can be of further assistance to you, please let me know.

Sincerely,

R. L. Strickland

A Letter To Miss Toomey

Dear Miss Toomey:

This is just a belated note to state how glad I was to see you once more in L. A. We had hoped that you could have come to Hawaii. We had all planned to have kept you busy during your stay. You're something special to us. Dr. Hirano on Kauai, Dr. Kubota, Chun, Look and myself on Oahu, and Dr. Sagawa on Hilo.

WARREN WAKAI

We surely hope that you'll try to promise to come to Hawaii. I'm sure you'll enjoy it. Living is a bit slower—we don't have the "get up and go" spirit of New York City or Los Angeles.

Dentistry has been kind to me and my livelihood. Little did I realize that I would be so involved in the association set up. Of the 361 dentists practicing in the State of Hawaii approximately 300 belong to the Honolulu County Dental Society. For the year 1959-60 I served in the following capacity:

Treasurer—Honolulu County Dental Society.

Advisory Committee to the Dental Assistants Training Program. (We started a new school at Kapiolani Technical School in 1959.)

Advisor to Honolulu County Dental Assistants Association.

Secretary-Treasurer Committee on Postgraduate Study.

Member House of Delegates, Hawaii State Dental Association.

Lecturer in Dental Assisting at Kapiolani Technical School.

Lecturer in Oral Histology and Embryology, School of Dental Hygiene, University of Hawaii.

Staff member of St. Francis Hospital Dental Clinic. We donate our services twice a month for indigents.

Staff member, Kuokini Hospital.

Member: Bernard Janhieson Denture Study Club.

Past President Honolulu Dental Study Club. (Crown & Bridge Study Club.)

President Hawaii Chapter of American Society of Dentistry for Children.

Hawaii Chairman—Greater University of Maryland Foundation for 1960-61.

Secretary Honolulu County Dental Society.

This fall, besides keeping a full time practice and being on Hospital staff, a member of two study clubs and lecturing at the University and also at the Technical School, we hope to develop a program on the care of mentally retarded children in the hospital.

One of these days I hope to make it to the East. We are expecting our fifth child in April '61. I have three girls and a boy now.

Aloha,

Warren

Wakai's Mother Is Mother of Year

Dr. Wakai's mother, Mrs. Riu Wakai, was honored as Hawaii's Mother of the Year on her seventieth birthday.

Acting Governor Jimmie Kealoa shook her hand, First Lady Nancy Quinn gave her roses, and columnist Bob Krauss kissed her. One-Hundred and twenty-five business leaders stood and applauded her.

"This is one of the happiest days I have spent," she said in Japanese, which in her moment of emotion came to her more easily than English.

Mrs. Wakai, a minister's wife who was widowed in 1936, is the mother of a minister, a government worker, a dentist, a physician, a bank supervisor, a dental student, and a research scientist.

Swimming, walking, and gardening are his other hobbies and he attributes his good health to these activities in great part.

Song On May Morning

*Now the bright morning Star, Dayes harbinger
Comes dancing from the East, and leads with her
The Flowry May, who from her green lap throws
The yellow Cowslip, and the pale Primrose.
Hail bounteous May that dost inspire
Mirth and youth, and warm desire
Woods and Groves, are of thy dressing,
Hill and Dale, doth boast thy blessing.
Thus we salute thee with our early Song,
And welcome thee, and wish thee long.*

SAINT APOLLONIA

Apollonia was canonized a saint about fifty years after her death in 249 A.D., during the celebration of the millenary of the Roman Empire, in the reign of Decius.

The basic facts of Apollonia's martyrdom are given in a letter written by Saint Dionysius to Bishop Fabius:

"A notable case was that of the aged virgin Apollonia, whom they seized and knocked out her teeth, striking her on the jaws; then they made a pyre before the city and threatened to burn her alive, if she would not join them in uttering blasphemies. But she asked for a brief respite, and being let go, suddenly leapt into the fire and was devoured by the flames."

Dr. Katharine Toomey

By now just about everybody knows that Katharine Toomey, "Kate" to her more effusive friends, has retired as Administrative Assistant at the Dental School.

The faculty, and several other groups, have already honored her in various ways. The Alumni Association has waited until the auspicious occasion of the 4th triennial meeting to express its love and respect for this truly distinguished woman—not only for what she has done for the association, but for her ever willing assistance and thoughtful counsel to all who sought her help.

If there was ever a person dedicated to the interests of dentistry—educationally, organizationally, and socially—it is Katharine Toomey. Her entire adult life was devoted to our profession. It was a full-time job and she more than met its demands with intelligence, energy and enthusiasm. Serving three Deans—Timothy Heatwole, J. Ben Robinson, and Myron Aisenberg—was for her a joyous experience of which she was quite proud. Little wonder that with time, and confidence in her judgment fully justified, she occupied a unique position of administrative influence and fully earned the respect of dental leaders.

Perhaps she shall be remembered best by the hosts of former students each having benefited in countless little ways from kindness which only they knew.

The alumni association is happy to announce and sponsor a testimonial dinner in honor of Miss Toomey during the 4th Triennial Meeting—Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore—March 30-31, 1962. We know her many friends will welcome this opportunity to say "Thank you"!

Harris-Hayden Mural Tablet

"April the 10th, 1899, Drs. John C. Uhler, Isaac H. Davis and Clarence J. Grieves, demonstrators in the Dental Department of the University of Maryland, with the approbation of the Faculty, inaugurated a memorial monument in that institution, the first of its kind to reach fruition. The alumni, the students and the Faculty were approached for contributions, and the response was general and sufficient. A mural tablet, a sketch of which is herewith shown, was developed by Mr. Ernest W. Keyser, the sculptor, from family portraits of Drs. Hayden and Harris in their prime, and the result is both artistic and accurate."

President's Message

As President of the Alumni Association I am privileged to have this opportunity of reaching you through the pages of the Alma Mater and to briefly inform you of the proposed program for the remaining months of this year.

In my recent letter I stressed the fact that there would be a triennial meeting this year in Baltimore. I am happy to announce that the plans are progressing very well and that the committee has designated March 30, 31, 1962, as the dates for the meeting which will be held at the Belvedere Hotel.

It is important that you make every effort to attend since the highlight of this two-day meeting will be Class Reunions and a banquet in honor of Dr. Katharine Toomey. Every alumnus owes to our Alma Mater and to Miss Toomey a great deal for the success that they now enjoy. It is your duty to attend this meeting and to pay tribute to Miss Katharine Toomey on Saturday, March 31, 1962.

JOSEPH P. CAPPUCCIO

The second important objective of our Association is to stimulate and to help in the realization of the building of a new Dental School in Baltimore. It is necessary that this much needed dental facility be established as soon as possible in order that the First Dental School in the World can keep pace with the modern concepts of dental education.

A committee has been appointed from your Alumni Association to aid the Faculty of the Dental School in this venture. It is my hope that before very long we will be able to announce the plans for and the location of the new Dental School.

As an alumnus you must assume some of the responsibilities for the future success of your Alma Mater and Alumni Association. I am asking each of you to become an active member by paying your dues and to join in the activities that need your support and cooperation. You are respectfully urged to respond to this call for action.

It is an honor for me to serve as your President and I extend my very best wishes to you for a very happy New Year full of vigor and enthusiasm for our Alma Mater and Alumni Association.

June Week 1961 Pre-Commencement Exercises

Tenor—George Buchness

The June Week activities started on Wednesday, June 7 with the convocation and banquet of Omicron Kappa Upsilon. Walter Granruth '54 was made a faculty member of this honorary society while Dr. Katharine Toomey received a plaque in recognition of her many years of devoted service. Twelve graduating seniors were also inducted.

Thursday, June 8, following a business meeting of the officers and council and board of trustees, the faculty and technical staff of the dental school provided the attending alumni with a demonstration of closed circuit television as it is employed in teaching techniques. These television facilities, a real aid in teaching were given to the school by the Alumni Association. The dedication ceremonies and instruction techniques illustrated to the audience that "live" television, with special close-up lens is an ideal way to reach a large audience such as a classroom of students so that all can see the demonstration.

The afternoon session of the program featured Drs. Jerry Sherman, Donald Hobbs, and Joseph Biddix as a panel, discussing practice management which proved to be most interesting and informative.

Class reunions on Thursday evening provided the alumni an opportunity to meet old friends. The classes of every five year period back to the class of 1911 met for a bit of nostalgia.

On the morning of Friday, June 9, the precommencement activities and presentation of awards was held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. Following the invocation by James T. McCarl '55, the president of the Alumni Association, Daniel F. Lynch '25 welcomed all the guests and congratulated the senior class. Dr. Albin O. Kuhn, Executive Vice-president of the University of Maryland; Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, member of the board of regents; Dean Myron S. Aisenberg, and Mr. George F. Buchness, President of the Senior Class all extended their greetings and best wishes to the 1961 graduates. Dean Aisenberg presented the student awards to the deserving seniors.

James E. John '13 of Richmond, Virginia was presented the Distinguished Alumnus Award by Melvin Hazen Colvin '38. Dr. Katharine Toomey presented certificates to the graduates of 1911, followed by Dean Aisenberg's presentation of the graduating class for membership in the Alumni Association.

Joseph Cappuccio '46, President-elect of the Alumni Association presented Coach Thomas N. Nugent, head football coach of the University of Maryland, who proved to be most adept at public speaking.

Installation of Alumni officers followed the address. The new officers are:

Joseph P. Cappuccio '46	President
Lewis C. Toomey '42	President-elect
Calvin Gaver '54	Secretary
C. Adam Bock '22	Treasurer

After lunch the annual golf tournament, was held at the Chestnut Ridge Country Club. The evening provided the highlight of the social activities with a dinner-dance at the club.

On the final day, Saturday, the graduation exercises were held at College Park, Maryland. June Week 1961 is now history but remembered by all who attended as a very enjoyable four days of social, scientific, and academic activities.

DID YOU KNOW?

... That the first diplomas in both medicine and dentistry were granted to Marylanders. John Archer of Harford County, received the first diploma as a graduate in medicine from the University of Pennsylvania in 1768; Robert Arthur of Baltimore received the first diploma as a graduate in dentistry from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1841.

Dr. Archer's diploma is in the museum of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland; Dr. Arthur's is in the museum of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. . . . In 1810 Horace H. Hayden was made an honorary member of the Faculty and to him was granted, under the provisions of its charter, the first license to practice dentistry issued in America. Many other dentists of note were licensed as members of the Society, among them Oliver Holmes, Chapin A. Harris, James H. Harris, Daniel H. Hall and Alfred D. Hall.

As chairman of the Distinguished Alumnus Award Committee of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery Alumni Association, we are about to honor a man widely known for his contributions to dentistry. His deeds show him to be a great humanitarian, and to know this man is to love him.

His biography reads like who's who, and his list of achievements are too numerous to mention, but I would like to name just a few of the offices that have been held by this distinguished gentleman.

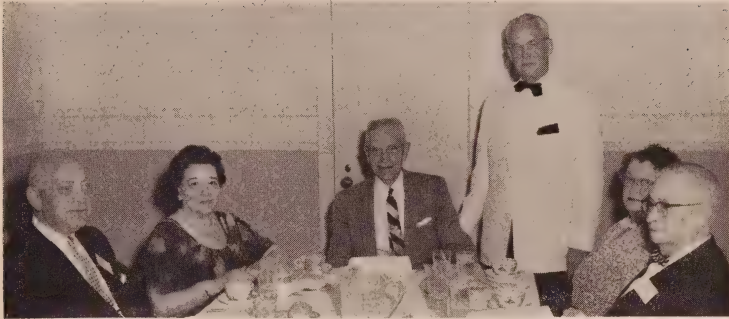

First and uppermost in my thoughts—he is a graduate of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Class 1913. Past President Roanoke Dental Society, District Dental Society, Virginia State Dental Association, State Officers Conference, A.D.A. Past Secretary State Officers Conference. Secretary-Treasurer Virginia State Dental Association for 18 years. A.D.A. Delegate from Virginia for many years. Served on Reference and Standing Committees, A.D.A. Served six years as Trustee of the American Dental Association. 2nd Vice-President of the American Dental Association 1959. Member American College of Dentists. L to R—Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Liftig, Dr. Harvey Richmond, Dr. Allen Twigg, Dr. and Mrs. Byron Searle.

Members of the graduating class of 1911 from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, University of Maryland, and Baltimore Medical College held a reunion dinner at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on June 8th, 1961. These fine men traveled many miles to attend this golden anniversary. They were Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Liftig from Hartford, Conn., Dr. and Mrs. Byron Searle from Watertown, Mass., Dr. E. Harvey Richmond from Washington, D. C., and Dr. Allen Twigg from Cumberland, Md.

Talk during dinner centered around reminiscences of college days as well as activities of present days. Dr. Liftig and Dr. Twigg are still in full-time practice in their respective cities. Dr. Searle is retired and spends a great portion of his time traveling about the country. Dr. Richmond in his retirement spends time on his hobby of collecting and polishing stones.

These men were honored at a luncheon given by the Alumni Association on June 9th and then returned to their homes to await perhaps the call to their next reunion together.

C. BAKER RAMSAY

Winston Churchill's Speech at Zurich September 1946

Over wide areas a vast quivering mass of tormented, hungry, careworn and bewildered human beings gaze at the ruins of their cities and homes, and scan the dark horizon for the approach of some new peril. Among the victors there is a babel of jarring voices, among the vanquished the sullen silence of despair. Yet all the while there is a remedy which would as if by a miracle transform the whole scene. It is to re-create the European family, or as much of it as we can, and provide it with a structure under which it can dwell in peace, in safety and in freedom. We must build a kind of United States of Europe.

J. Reece Funderburk, Sr.*

The 45th Anniversary Reunion was somewhat disappointing compared to past reunions. Of the forty-seven men who received their diplomas on June 1, 1916, twenty-two are known to be living. These twenty-two were sent two letters about the reunion. Fourteen answered, two were heard from indirectly and six remained silent.

Walter Bean from Troy, N. Y., had planned to come but when there was such a poor response your Chairman phoned and advised him to hold off until 1966. Brandon, Bryant and Darwin are ailing and couldn't make it. Clint Albert and John McLeod sent their best wishes to all. Burns phoned in from Illinois saying his wife had had a fall and it was impossible to get away. Bennie Ross Jones was interested and intended to come to the dinner which was cancelled. Smitty sent in his regrets with a long telegram and wished all well. Hobbs had a sick wife and Denton and his wife had to go to South Carolina where he was re-elected grandpop. Tom Harper, Roy May, Phil Shaefer, Bill Feindt, Hen Sowers and Charles Wohlberg did not answer.

The four whose picture accompanies this write-up met at the school on Thursday, June 8, 1916. Dr. J. Ben Robinson came down to the school and greeted these men and kidded "Slats" Funderburk. They took our picture. Then we went for lunch where we toasted the boys who couldn't make it. Aldridge and Nathanson took Fundy for a sight-seeing tour. While on the ride we missed Blevins who came over from Washington with his wife in the afternoon. Baklor had a date at the Delaware Meeting and left early. We adjourned, all hoping to meet again in 1966. All twenty-two of the living are named in this write-up.

Letter to Dr. Anderson

May 26, 1961

Dear Dr. Anderson:

In January 1956, I decided to go back to college—this time to a College of Liberal Arts—to Upsala College.

My great interest in the "Humanities" directed me to choose a course of study leading to the A. B. degree. I majored in English and minored in Psychology and French.

The work was not easy, for I wanted to be a good student, and besides, there was much to learn, much to know, and much that I did not know.

On June the 5th I shall graduate again— exactly 40 years ago I was granted the D.D.S. degree. I do like to add that I am still engaged in the active practice of dentistry. I am grateful to God for all of this.

Sincerely yours,

Marcus Brucker, Class of 1921, B.C.D.S.

Reunion—1926

The 35th Reunion of the Class of 1926 was held on Thursday, June 8th, at the Stafford Hotel.

There are 85 members of the class still living and 35 were in attendance. Nick Sharp and Frank Budz were coming, but called at the last minute to say illness prevented their being with us. Dean Aisenberg, George Anderson, Adam Bock, Daniel Shehan and Sam Hoover, former teachers, spent some time with us during the evening.

Beginning at six o'clock activities got under way with the usual liquid refreshments. The returnees began arriving and the back slapping and hand shaking were in evidence all over the place. The men were happy to see each other and the greetings were sincere. Immediately the talk of the days from 1922 to 1926 started and many were the stories recounted of college days.

A very sumptuous dinner was served with the Invocation by Bill Powell, from Norwood, Ohio.

After dinner a complete program was presented with Harry Levin, Chairman of the Committee, acting as toastmaster. We had a number of the men speak, especially Jim Klock, from Miami Beach, Florida, and Fred Toulouse, from Waterville, Maine. These men came from the farthest distances.

Our guest of honor was Dr. Grayson W. Gaver, Professor of Prosthetic Dentistry. Known as Dick to everyone, he has been respected by all the young men who have come under his teaching jurisdiction. His accomplishments were recounted by Bill Powell, who made a presentation of a golf club and a dozen golf balls, which should improve his game.

Somewhere along midnight the men called it a night and the reunion was concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the hope that all would return to Baltimore in 1966 for our 40th Class Reunion.

Reunion—1931

The 30th Reunion of the Class of 1931 was held on Thursday evening, June 8, 1961, at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore.

Approximately 50% of the members rallied forth to enjoy an evening of good fellowship and endure the many stories of fact and fantasy accumulated over the years. The presence of Dr. Katharine Toomey and Dr. Brice M. Dorsey, guests of honor, and the gavel swinging of President El Snyder succeeded in maintaining reasonable order during the dinner. However, the get-together was continued on an informal basis far into the night. Many of the current problems of dentistry were discussed, but few were solved.

Unfortunately, the photograph negative of the gathering was severely damaged and the recipients of The Alma Mater are deprived of the pleasure of viewing a group of handsome alumni.

Those in attendance were:

Reunion—1936

Twenty-five years post-graduation is an appropriate occasion for celebration by any graduate and that is just what most of the Class of 1936 accomplished on the evening of Thursday, June 8, 1961. The party was held in the Chesapeake Lounge of the Emerson Hotel at the corner of Calvert and Baltimore streets. It will be long remembered.

Starting at six P.M., it took more than two hours to progress through the preliminary phase of greetings, renewed acquaintances, mutual compliments and enthusiastic conversations, punctuated by frequent returns for refreshment at a well stocked bar, musically accompanied by an accordionist. It was not easy, but some time after eight it was found possible to seat 39 eager guys and 32 beautifully dressed dolls to listen to remembrances of departed classmates by Friedman and an invocation by President Shackelford.

The dinner was a good one: appetizer, fresh fruit cup, juicy roast beef, fresh string beans and crisp browned potatoes, followed by a colorful parfait, coffee and cookies. However; the interest of the assembled celebrants in food hardly matched the attention they paid each other. Result: as soon as Shackelford concluded the invocation, the area in the center of the room left clear for dancing, and around which the tables were grouped, became a blur of buzzing humanity in motion that rivaled the concourse of Grand Central in the middle of the evening rush hour, a situation that never cleared up until the dancing began about nine o'clock.

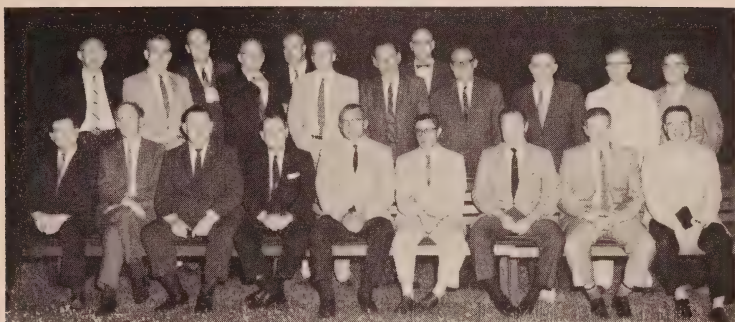

James Corthouts expressed the enthusiasm of just about everybody when he said, "Done already? I have a lot of muscles I haven't even used yet." For something more than six hours, the class was taken back to student days—and acted like it. It was a thoroughly wonderful experience, aptly concluded by Mitten with instructions on how to find him in San Francisco, "Look me up in the L's—for Loverboy."

Classmates in attendance: George J. Baylin, Baltimore; Kenneth E. Blanchard, Waterbury; I. Norton Brotman, Baltimore; Stuart G. Buppert, Baltimore; James L. Corthouts, Hartford; John W. Cronin, Hyattsville; Michael J. DiGristine, Baltimore; Eugene J. Dionne, Fall River; Terrence D. Donohue, Baltimore; Samuel Friedman, Baltimore; Alvin A. Greenberg, Baltimore; Robert E. Hampson, Baltimore; Samuel Hanik, Silver Spring; Ralph W. Hodges, West Hartford; Elmer N. Hoffman, Baltimore; B. Wallace Inman, Baltimore; Vernon D. Kaufman, Baltimore; Otto G. Klotz, Gloucester, N. J.; Louis Kreshtool, Wilmington; William Kress, Baltimore; Bruno L. Kuta, Newark; H. Arthur Lacher, Baltimore; H. Berton McCauley, Baltimore; Joseph F. Metz, Baltimore; Louis Milobsky, Washington; Harry W. Mitten, San Francisco; Frank H. Muller, Woodbury; Herbert Orman, Baltimore; Ray S. Paskell, Baltimore; William C. Philpot, Elizabeth; Merchline M. Riddlesberger, Carlisle; Wesley E. Rogler, Weehawken; Daniel D. Schwartz, Paterson; J. Hinton Shackelford, Baltimore; Leonard J. Tarant, Newark; Garrison Trupp, Baltimore; James A. Walker, Montpelier; William T. Walsh, St. Johnsbury; Alvaro Zea, Baltimore. Sorely missed: Carlotta A. Hawley, Washington.

Visiting firemen: Miss Katharine Toomey, LL.D., administrative assistant (just retired); Irving I. Abramson, assistant professor of oral medicine; and Luther W. Fetter of Elizabethtown (Pa.), who came to see his former students.

Reunion—1941

On Thursday, June the 8th, the class of 1941 gathered at the Oriole Gun Club. We were honored by the presence of the Dean, Myron Aisenberg. The food proved too good for any speeches. Apparently all the wealthier members were too busy to attend, leaving the scene to the poor church mice of our class.

Those in attendance were:

Don Frey
Jerry Cullen
Pinkie Farrell
Stu Beaven
Roy Ruskin
Paul Dubanski
Max Golden

Phil Chmar
Carl Schultheis
Al Olman
George Reusch
Govane McClees
Bob Betts
Little Snuffy Smith

Gil Cadwell
Ed Bohne
Ed Mc Daniel
Danny Berman

Paul Castello
Fred Rudo

We hope that at our twenty-fifth a much larger group can be assembled.

Is There Dental Gold in Your Attic?

Some historical items in the dental library collection are bibliographically worth their weight in gold. This is the type of treasure which the librarian is always seeking: early dental books, clippings, letters, handwritten notebooks, dental school catalogs, pictures connected with the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery—in short, anything of interest in the history of dentistry and the history of your dental school.

Such items are not usually purchasable nor easily located; they are the material of human interest which your grandfather left in a trunk, or your father kept in the back of a drawer, or you have pushed to the more remote shelves of your bookcases. Library historical collections are enriched by the gift of such material. If you are a potential donor, call or write to the librarian, Mrs. I. M. Robinson, Health Sciences Library, 111 South Greene Street, Baltimore 1, Md.

A very successful 15th year reunion was held by the Class of 1946 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on Thursday, June 8, 1961 at 6:30 p.m. There were 18 members of the class and two guests in attendance. This group represented one-third of the total membership of the Class of 1946.

The activities of the evening started with a cocktail party at 6:30 p.m. followed by a steak dinner which was enjoyed by all. Dr. Daniel F. Lynch, Alumni President, brought greetings to the group from the Alumni Association. Dean Myron S. Aisenberg was also present and he brought a word of welcome from the faculty of the Dental School.

The Chairman of the Reunion, presented gold tie clasps as gifts to each member of the class along with beer mugs which were inscribed with the year of graduation and the official University of Maryland seal.

Following the formal part of the program, a very refreshing and delightful show was presented. It was very enthusiastically received by the members in attendance. The group then retired to their official headquarters suite to reminisce and to talk about the good old days at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland.

The 15th year reunion of the Class of 1946 was history but the group was already looking forward to their 20th year reunion to be held in 1966. See you all in 1966.

JOSEPH P. CAPPUCCIO

Reunion—1951

The Class of 1951 rolled into the hospitality room of the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, June 8, 1961, gathered ample high octane fuel and momentum and erupted into a semi-formal party in the Charles Room. Here a cocktail hour, delicious dinner, pleasantries by Deacon Reed, a talk by Adam Bock and four hours of dancing and reminiscing was enjoyed. The class showed its maturity when no complaint was received about having to chip in a little extra to defray the under-estimated expenses. Forty-nine members returned, most with their wives making a total of ninety (90) at the party.

We were planning the next reunion at Reece Funderburk's (in the not so solid south) but since Rickey Blondet invited us all to Florida, my vote is "Si, si", for Florida.

Reunion—1956

The Class of 1956 held its five-year reunion at the Belvedere, Thursday, June eighth. Festivities began at 11 A.M. in the hospitality suite provided by the hotel. At six p.m. the class members were still discussing old times.

Cocktails and dinner consisting of prime rib and all the fixings completed the early evening schedule in the Jubilee Room.

Stu LaKind took over as Master of Ceremonies, and kept us in a state of constant indigestion from laughing at his clowning.

A serious note began as Dr. Louie, our guest speaker, impressed upon all of us that the Dental School needs us at this time more than ever before.

Dancing began at 9:30 P.M., but I regret to say that most of us just sat around discussing our past and future with friends.

The ladies in attendance received a stein appropriately inscribed, and group photographs have been mailed to all class members who were present.

My thanks to the committee members and class members who made this a most enjoyable occasion.

PENSÉES

How difficult it is to submit anything to the judgment of another, without prejudicing his judgment by the manner in which we submit it! If we say, "I think it beautiful," "I think it obscure," or the like, we either entice the imagination into that view, or irritate it to the contrary. It is better to say nothing; and then the other judges according to what really is, that is to say, according as it then is and according as the other circumstances, not of our making, have placed it. But we at least shall have added nothing, unless it be that silence also produces an effect, according to the turn and the interpretation which the other will be disposed to give it, or as he will guess it from gestures or countenance, or from the tone of the voice, if he is a physiognomist. So difficult is it not to upset a judgment from its natural place, or, rather, so rarely is it firm and stable!

Orientation Program For Class of 1965

An orientation program for the class of 1965 was held on Monday, September 18, 1961, in the Health Sciences Library Auditorium.

Meeting as a class for the first time, the ninety-nine men and one woman were greeted by Dean Myron S. Aisenberg.

Congratulations were extended on behalf of the Alumni by Dean Emeritus J. Ben Robinson. Gardner P. H. Foley, Professor of Dental History and Literature, presented an interesting account of several historical highlights pertaining to the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

An introduction to the Pre-Clinical Sciences was given by Dr. Donald E. Shay, Professor of Microbiology. Dr. José E. Medina, Professor of Operative Dentistry, followed with an explanation of the various Clinical Sciences.

The Student Health Program was discussed by the Director of Student Health, Dr. Frank N. Ogden, and his assistant Mrs. Mae Graffin.

The morning program was concluded with information on the use of the Health Science Library by Mrs. Ida M. Robinson, Associate Professor of Library Science. The group then adjourned to the Student Union Building, where a luncheon in the honor of the class of 1965 was given by the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland.

Joseph P. Cappuccio, '46 President of the Alumni Association, extended the congratulations and best wishes of the Alumni.

Also present at the luncheon were members of the faculty and alumni. An informal discussion prevailed and many anxious queries of the Freshman Class were resolved.

The afternoon session saw Miss Katherine Underwood of the Dean's Office present information pertinent to the procedures of registration.

The social and recreational activities of the Student Body were elaborated upon by Mr. James E. Andrews, President of the Student Council. Members of the Student Council completed the Orientation Day Program with a conducted tour of the School of Dentistry.

Breakfast Meeting in Philadelphia October 16, 1961

Sheraton Hotel—Philadelphia

The tenth annual alumni breakfast meeting of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland was held on Tuesday, October 16th, at the Sheraton Hotel in Philadelphia. About one hundred fifty members were in attendance. Some from distant places such as California, Florida, and Puerto Rico. Seated at the head table were Dr. and Mrs. Paul K. Musselman, 4th District Trustee; Dean Myron Aisenberg; Dean Frank Houghton of Loyola Dental School of the South; Dean Harry McCarthy of Baylor University Dental School; Dean Kenneth Randolph of West Virginia Dental School; Dr. J. Ben Robinson, Dean Emeritus of both West Virginia and Maryland's Dental Schools; Dr. Katharine Toomey, retired Administrative Assistant of our School, and a very special friend of our alumni; Mr. David L. Brigham, Director of Alumni Relations of the University of Maryland; Max Baklor '16, President of the Maryland State Dental Association; William Fridinger, President-elect of the Maryland State Dental Association; Jose Zequeira '51, President of our Puerto Rican component of the Alumni Association; Kyrle W. Preis '29, Editor of our Alma Mater; Calvin Gaver, '54, our secretary; and our president.

Joseph Cappuccio '46, president of the Alumni Association welcomed those present and expressed his wishes for a very successful meeting of the American Dental Association and reminded the group of our participation this year in the Freshman Orientation Program. He also reminded them of the meeting in November to be held by the New Jersey component in honor of Dr. Katharine Toomey; also the fourth triennial meeting to be held in March, at which time the Alumni Association will honor Dr. Toomey, and commented on June Week Activities. He announced the formation of an advisory committee on the new dental school building composed of prominent members of our Association to assist the Dean in whatever capacity they may be asked to serve. Dr. Musselman spoke briefly on the importance of our alumni association and the role that Maryland dentists are playing within the 4th District. Dean Aisenberg extended official greetings of the School and informed us of some of the plans for the future. Mr. David Brigham stressed the importance of the dental alumni, one of the largest and most active within the university.

Following a delightful breakfast, the members attended scientific sessions and social functions associated with the meeting of the American Dental Association.

The annual cocktail party of the Alumni Association was held in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel on Tuesday evening, October 16. Everyone present enjoyed themselves and renewed old acquaintances.

William Decesare introduced Hubert McGuirl who commented on Joe Cappuccio's devotion to dentistry and of his service to the Rhode Island Dental Society.

Joseph Carvalho '14 of Fall River, Massachusetts, presented to the Rhode Island Section from President Elkins of the University of Maryland, a copy of the Presentation Book of the Baltimore Union.

Edgar L. Bessette, Past President of the Rhode Island State Dental Society, presented Joe Cappuccio with a Certificate of Honorary Membership in the Rhode Island State Dental Society. This is the first time such an honor has been presented.

honored. He also spoke about the plans of the new Dental School and suggested that each alumnus take an active part in the task of aiding the complete fulfillment of this project.

It was suggested that an official letter be sent to the Governor of Maryland from our Section, asking for his cooperation in the Building Program for the New Dental School.

A letter from Dr. Toomey was read in which she suggested some kind of memorial to be presented to the Dental School in memory of Fred Cuddy and the members of the Hockey Team who did so much to publicize the Dental School of the University of Maryland.

Rhode Island's Dinner-Dance

The Rhode Island Section of the University of Maryland Dental Alumni held its annual fall dinner-dance Saturday, September 9, 1961, at the Colony Motor Hotel in Cranston, Rhode Island. It was, as usual, a huge success. A pool-side cocktail hour preceded the dinner, after which there was dancing and some informal get-togethers.

George A. Weir, Jr., '51 was chairman and responsible for so many of the "extras" that went to make up the fun-packed evening. His committee included the president of the Rhode Island Chapter of the University of Maryland Dental Alumni . . . William Decesare, '36, also Frederick Cuddy, '35, Peter Kanelos, '37 and Thomas Payne, Jr., '52.

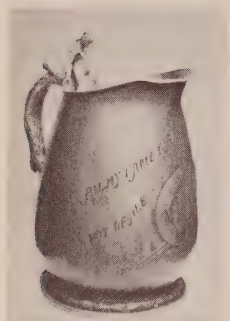

A minor highlight was a raffle in which a $100 cash prize was given. Among the 110 people attending were the following:

Lycidas

*Weep no more, woful shepherds weep no more
For Lycidas your sorrow is not dead,
Sunk though he be beneath the watry floor,
So sinks the day-star in the Ocean bed
And yet anon repairs his drooping head,
And tricks his beams and with new spangled ore,
Flames in the forehead of the morning sky.*

"Copper Growler"

Designed and executed for the Charcoal Club of Baltimore in 1886. It was the custom of this widely known artist's group at its "annual occasion" on New Year's Eve to have each member drink from the growler. The young lady dipping her toe in the ale is made of silver.

"Silver Dagger and Sheath"

Fifteen inches long, made in 1885, hammered steel blade has a gold dragon inlay.

Artist-Dentist Adalbert J. Volck, D.D.S. Baltimore College of Dental Surgery 1852

A notable figure in the annals of the town, he was one of the incorporators of the Charcoal Club on March 6, 1885, and also one of the founding members of the informal organization established three years earlier. Volck was a strange combination of dentist and creative artist, well known for his superior work on molars and for his drawing and modeling. He was an on-the-spot Civil War artist, both in the depiction of actual events and in the cartoon-like handling of political events, often with barbed whimsy. Inscribed on the base of the copper beer pitcher on the edge of which sits the little silver nude whose feet must never be allowed to get dry—the most prized possession of the Charcoal Club—are the words: "Jacobi and Volck Made Me".

"Silver Tankard"

Designed and executed for General Shryock of Baltimore in the late 80's. Motive is the German Mythological Legend of Siegfried and Brunhilde beautifully chased upon the tankard with the great god Thor supporting the spout.

A Letter From Dr. Jacques E. Brun, Our European Representative

Dear Dr. Preis:

I am sending you for the Alma Mater two pictures taken in the garden of the "Chateau de Grand Mesnil" (Fauchard's country house) near Paris, during the July weekend honoring Pierre Fauchard.

One of the pictures was taken during the ceremony of the unveiling of Pierre Fauchard's bust. The other one, just after, in front of the bust is Dr. Howard A. Hartman, President of the Pierre Fauchard Academy, and myself as European representative of the Baltimore Dental School.

Dr. Hartman asked to have your Alma Mater issue with his picture sent to him at the Pierre Fauchard Academy in Minneapolis. Is it possible?

I plan to come to the States in June 1961 for the Class reunion.

I hope my wife will make the trip with me together with my brother (who is a dentist) and my father-in-law.

Sincerely,

Jacques E. Brun, '52

A Bit of History

The centennial meeting of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, which was held in Baltimore in 1940 provided the occasion for a unique meeting. Dean J. B. Robinson '14 (center) introduces Benjamin Dabrowski '40 to Harvey Burkhart '92. Each of the three graduated Summa Cum Laude—were presidents of their class—and Drs. Burkhart and Robinson eventually became president of the American Dental Association.

That which is past is gone and irrevocable. Wise men have enough to do with things present and to come.

If a man will begin with certainties, he shall end in doubts; but if he will be content to begin with doubts, he shall end in certainties.

Francis Bacon

Annual Business Meeting—June 8, 1961

The annual business meeting of the Alumni Association held in the Dental School on June 8, 1961, was called to order by President Lynch about 10:30 A.M. The minutes of the last annual meeting were approved as read. The treasurer's report, quite comprehensive and after an explanation by Dr. Lynch, was unanimously accepted after the motion was made by Dr. Cappuccio and seconded by Dr. Aisenberg. In succession the following reports were approved and will be published in our annual issue of the Alma Mater for the benefit of the entire Association: The Editor's report by Kyrle W. Preis; the Historian's report given by C. J. Gaver in the absence of Milton B. Asbell and the Trustees' report given by Arthur I. Bell.

At the conclusion of the reports Harry Levin questioned the utilization of these specific trust funds. Dr. Levin asked if these funds could be used as student loans. The Chair and Dr. Bell both explained that these trust funds are specific and are so stipulated, therefore, could not be interchanged and used in any other way.

The Alumni Council report was accepted as presented by Samuel Bryant and will also be published.

The following committee reports were presented and accepted: The auditing report by Edwin G. Gail, the solicitation report by Paul Hoffman, the life membership report by Dr. Lynch in the absence of Paul Deems, the budget report by M. Hazen Colvin and the June Week report by Joseph Cannizzaro. It was at this time that the Chair congratulated Dr. Cannizzaro for presenting an interesting June Week Program and keeping well within the budget.

The television committee report was given by Dr. Cappuccio and it was announced at this time that at the conclusion of the meeting the television equipment would formally be presented to the School from the Alumni Association and that this presentation would be made over the closed television circuit and televised in the same room where the meeting was being held.

In the discussion of old business it was reported by Dr. Cappuccio that both the District of Columbia breakfast meeting which was held in March and the annual breakfast and cocktail party in Los Angeles during the annual A.D.A. meeting were quite successful. This was followed by a discussion of new business.

Dr. James E. John, the recipient of the annual Distinguished Alumnus Award for 1961, was presented to the Association. The Constitution and By-Laws Committee having published the new Constitution and By-Laws in a previous journal then recommended it be approved. However, by law this new document must lie dormant for one year before action can be taken by the Alumni Association. It will be considered at the next annual business meeting, that is June 1962.

The proposed budget for the next year was discussed by Dr. Cappuccio, the President-elect. The budget was unanimously approved and the Chair congratulated Dr. Cappuccio for presenting such a well balanced budget. Dr. Calvin Gaver mentioned the preliminary arrangements for our annual breakfast meeting and cocktail party to be held in Philadelphia on October 16 were completed and the headquarters hotel, The Sheraton, had been procured for both functions.

In the absence of Dr. George Anderson, Dr. Gaver presented the nominating committee report. It was approved and accepted and will be published in the journal. The new officers were then introduced by the Chair.

A report on the progress of the triennial meeting to be held in March 1962 were made by Dr. Cappuccio. He stated that a committee could be formed soon to carry out the plans for the meeting.

Following the completion of the President's report the meeting adjourned approximately 12:05 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

CALVIN J. GAVER, Secretary

Report of Representative to the General Alumni Council of the University of Maryland

Mr. President, officers and members of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland. Herewith is submitted the annual report of your senior representative to the General Alumni Council, University of Maryland. It has been my pleasure to serve a three-year term as your representative, and more especially since it brought contact with men of high calibre and integrity, on the council.

The Alumni Council has been a non-working council this year, as they accomplished nothing of importance and the meetings have been without programming and without direction. This is no reflection on the President of the General Alumni Council, but due to several miscues on weather and timing when meetings could not be held. They sometimes, however, digress into areas where they do not rightfully belong and get in over their heads in waters too deep for rescue, inviting biting criticism in the public press. With the shaping up of our Baltimore campus there are many areas of importance for the council in the future. The activities of the council were curtailed this year and met only three times to conduct business.

In years gone by, the council met in downtown hotels, but this year the meetings in Baltimore were held in the new Student Union Building immediately across the street from the Dental School. The members are reminded that much of the money contributed by our Dental Alumni has gone into the furnishing of the Student Union Building. Our dental students have benefited greatly through the opening of this building, as rooms are being occupied by 48 dental students and all students benefit through the use of this facility. In this respect it might be wise to appraise our relationship to the Greater Alumni Fund in view of the changes in policy relating to our participation.

At the first council meeting Dr. Alvin O. Kuhn, Executive Vice-President, reported for the administration on the Warfield Commission Report and a summary on the Expansion and Consolidation of Instructional Programs under a State University System. In final analysis the extent to which the recommendations of the Governor's Commission and the details that have been supplied by the feasibility study, became reality through the establishment of a university system and is primarily dependent upon the decision of the elected representatives of the people.

At the second meeting the Budget Committee reported an anticipated income from 4,000 membership of $20,000, and the budgeted expenditures total $18,600.00 with an anticipated balance of $1,400.00.

This meeting was highlighted by a statement by Dr. Alvin O. Kuhn, that the Warfield Commission Report will be temporarily shelved and the immediate need of the undergraduate schools in the metropolitan area will receive more aid and the project could be completed on the Baltimore campus within two years.

Also, Dr. Kuhn announced a summer session of on-trial for pre-college students, who have not a C average or higher. This would alleviate jam of first-year students at College Park each year. The drop-out rate for on-trial students in the past has been about 65% in the first year and 85% by end of second year.

It was reported at the December 2 meeting that the collections to date for the Greater University Fund have exceeded $400,000.00 and the major portion of contributions from alumni have gone to the Baltimore Union Building. This year contributions will go to distinguished faculty members as incentives for additional study.

At the March 3 meeting Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, President of the University of Maryland, dealt with the subject of the exceptional or unusually well prepared university student. Some students are permitted to take more advanced courses, if tests which they take justify such action. Some students have been permitted to enter at the sophomore level when the courses taken and the schools attended, justify such action. Uniform honors systems are now under study through the university so recognition may be given deserving students, and this applies to the honors group in Arts & Sciences. Therefore, the university has definitely made strides in upgrading its academic program. In case of the exceptional student, there is hope that more can be done to develop the available potentials in these days of scholarly pursuits, especially in the sciences.

The clubs committee is to be congratulated on the two projects sponsored this year, one a panel, discussed "The Next 25 Years" and the second, a talk on the "Congo," were well received.

It should be noted that anyone wishing to take a European trip this summer, should contact Mr. Victor Holm, Assistant Alumni Secretary, as the Alumni Association is sponsoring a 29-day trip to seven foreign countries, all-expense tour, personally conducted, leaving June 28, but hurry.

The Board of Regents Committee stated a bill had been drawn to provide appropriate appointment schedule. This would provide that in four of the seven years, there would be two appointments, and in the remaining three years there would be one appointment per year. This matter has been noted by the Governor and the Legislative Council.

To have served under your most efficient and capable President this year and as a member of the Executive Council, with its men of high calibre, has brought me much happiness, satisfaction and pride, as I value these associations highly. Your Alumni Association is most ably represented by two other capable gentlemen, highly regarded in the General Alumni circle, and the Association is to be congratulated for electing such outstanding gentlemen, who voice your opinions very capably and do honor to this Association. This humbly submitted report is but a summary, and is informational of some of the activities occurring during meetings of the General Alumni Council, and are taken from the minutes of these meetings and are available through the office of the Secretary of the Council.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL H. BRYANT

Editor's Report

By now most of you have received your 5th issue of the "Alma Mater" and in it we have attempted to report all the news which has been sent to us. In several previous issues, we inserted this notation:

"Undoubtedly many of our Alumni have achieved honors and merited distinction, but the facts surrounding such occasions have escaped our attention. Perhaps modesty or indifference has interfered with the news reaching us.

"This is regrettable, for one of the principal purposes of the 'Alma Mater' is to serve as a repository of events. Our past records are indeed meager and Alumni activities during the time of the merger of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery with the Dental School, University of Maryland, are wrapped in confusion.

"Therefore, we urge you to send us information so that we may print the news."

The last issue is smaller in volume because in previous publications we included news about the school such as: the orientation program—faculty changes—news about the departments of oral surgery—diagnosis and roentgenology—operative dentistry—admission committee—anatomy—pharmacology—student affairs—class officers—fraternity officers and activities—Newman Club—Gorgas Odontological Society—awards—student senate—guest lecturers. But now that the school has revived the "Journal" we presumed that such areas of activities as these would be reported in that publication.

This brings us to the important question regarding future policy. The cost of the "Alma Mater" is $1779.26, which includes a mailing list of approximately 4500. The income from ads is $425 per issue. No member of the editorial staff receives any income nor has an expense account. One glaring shortcoming of the "Alma Mater" is its lack of acceptable advertising material; we have had no new ads since we started in 1959 although we talk about this matter after each issue when the bills come rolling in. Our business manager, Joe Cappuccio, realizes this and as he is the next president perhaps he can suggest an ambitious worker who can go out and get us some ads.

At a recent meeting of the executive council of the Alumni Association, Dean Aisenberg suggested that the editorial staffs of the "Journal" and the "Alma Mater" get together to work out a good program as to time of issuance and coverage of material for each publication and I agree with him wholeheartedly; much benefit can be derived from mutual cooperation and yet both should maintain a respectful independence so necessary for any publication of value.

Respectfully submitted,

KYRLE W. PREIS, Editor

— Douglas A. Browning —

As a rule the "Alma Mater" does not publish obituaries, but the unfortunate death of our associate editor, Douglas A. Browning '34, deserves special consideration.

When asked to serve as associate editor he accepted with characteristic enthusiasm, having already been of considerable help in the planning stage. His opinions and advice always welcomed, were void of shallowness of thought and thus all the more respected.

In volume 2, number 2 of the Alma Mater—a short biographical sketch of "Doug" was published when he became president of the Maryland State Dental Association, therefore no need to repeat now. His death at 48 left us all shocked and saddened. The Alma Mater has lost a good son—the staff a good friend and worker—the profession a first rate dentist of unusual ability.

Historian's Report

To the Members of the Alumni Association:

The roots of dentistry in America is found during Colonial days. And by the first half of the nineteenth century dentistry had made remarkable progress when considering the state of the scientific and mechanical advancement of the period. Dental practice, in the main, was divided into two phases: operative—comprising those procedures performed at the chair, and mechanical—comprising those procedures incident to the construction of artificial dentures. Dentistry held many priorities in its contributions to human welfare but none greater than that of the discovery of general anesthesia. Dental research began in earnest laying a foundation for scientific practice with classic studies.

The education of the dentist was by the preceptorial system that had been established since Colonial days. However, there were certain dentists (and physicians) who believed that the future of dentistry as a health discipline was to be found in the educative processes common to medicine in addition to technical training. And, it was in this spirit that our dental school was established and the principle of autonomous dental education founded.

It should be remembered that about this time dentistry was emerging from one of the most turbulent periods in its history. The conflict over the use of amalgam (of mercury and silver) as a filling material had destroyed the first national dental group, the American Society of Dental Surgeons, and with it the impracticability of the regulation of practice by a dental society. Henceforth, dental societies would not be concerned with the granting of dental degrees or diplomas, the control of prohibition to practice, but rather the elevation of the profession by the education of its membership, research in dental diseases and dental materials, and the indoctrination of the American public to the value of dental health.

Today dentistry in America stands upon a threshold of a new era. From its early beginnings it had received its heritage from abroad, and within the framework of its own purposes and personalities it forged an art and science of dental health that today it has out-distanced any nation on earth. This new era demands that American dentists—and does this not then mean the members of our Alumni Association?—lead the way in extending to all nations of the world the benefits of its service. What nobler service can we perform? Truly then, we as a part of American dentistry which has contributed to the concept of individualism and freedom in the American tradition, stand as a beacon light for all the peoples of the world. Dentistry has been and will continue to be a dynamic force in American history; it must now pioneer in world history—in the world history of the art and science of human welfare.

MILTON B. ASBELL, Historian

By authority of the Advisory Board.

ALMA MATER

"A Job Well Done"

Your journal, The Alma Mater, has attained its stature, quality and success through the efforts, energy and guidance of its past editor, Kyrle W. Preis. His acute foresight in ferreting out the news and in presenting it in a manner which attests his virtuosity as an editor has been recognized by the Alumni Association which has sent a letter of appreciation in recognition of his service. He possesses an uncanny ability to publish material which served as a constant reminder of our noble and revered heritage the alumni of the oldest dental school in the world. We, the staff, are in a position to tell you the tremendous amount of work that is necessary to publish an edition of this journal. We take the liberty, on behalf of the Alumni Association, to extend our appreciation for having made this publication a laudable elaboration of this organization. It is the duty of the individual members of this association to express their appreciation personally, when the opportunity presents itself, to a man, Kyrle W. Preis, who has given freely of his energy for his alma mater. Our gratitude is due Kyrle, not only because he has made this a journal, which the Alumni Association, the school and the students can look to with pride but also because this journal has made a major contribution in the field of dental literature.

We are certain that a man who has given freely of himself in the past will continue to make his mark in the field of dentistry. His deeds and accomplishments attest to his abilities as a leader, organizer, educator, humanitarian and last but not least, an editor. This journal could only transcend the ordinary and attain its position of prestige under the close scrutiny of such a man.

With timidity and great humility, my staff and I accept the obligation of publication of the Alma Mater, the official publication of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland.

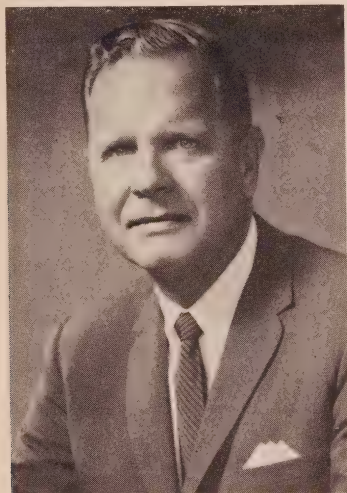

We, the staff, take this opportunity to say, "Thanks, Kyrle, for a job well done".

JOSEPH H. SEIPP, JR.

President's Message

Another year is about to begin for the Alumni Association of your Alma Mater. With your help and support, it can be a successful one.

The reasons for the existence and the necessity of the Alumni Association are clearly defined in Article II, Object of the revised Constitution.

LEWIS C. TOOMEY

They are as follows:

“1. To keep alive the interest of the Alumnus in his Alma Mater.

2. To provide occasional alumni gatherings that will serve as a common meeting ground where cherished friendships may be renewed and perpetuated.

3. To inspire the graduates to give their moral support to the college administration in its efforts to sustain the fine traditions that distinguish the ‘Oldest Dental College in the World’.

4. To induce the alumni to give, within reasonable limits, financial support to the general and/or special needs of the college.

5. To encourage, in every way possible, the continuing education of members of the alumni.”

The above was listed because I am sure many of you never read the fine print or remember a constitution. We try to inform you about your school, but really to be inspired, you should spend a few days in Baltimore during June Week and see for yourself how history is being made.

I speak of history being made with mixed emotions, because professors, teachers and friends, and even the physical plant of the school will change, and Lombard and Greene Streets will be no more as we knew it. I was very saddened and surprised to learn that Dean Aisenberg and Dr. Grayson Gaver may retire in 1963. These men really reared my generation in school and, in turn, we respected them as we would our fathers.

It was a great privilege to have them as our professors. The school will definitely lose by their retirement, so you can understand why I ask you to visit us while you still feel “at home”. Their contributions to thousands of alumni are inestimable, and I hope you will show your respect and thanks by returning to honor them when your alumni association sets the date.

In closing, let me solicit your help in aiding the “Oldest” to become the “Best Dental School”. The first step is simply to join.

The Fourth Triennial Meeting

A cordial invitation was extended to those attending the Fourth Triennial Meeting at the Student Union Building by Doctor Joseph P. Cappuccio, President of the Alumni Association, following the invocation by Rabbi Israel Tabak. Greetings were extended to the membership on behalf of the faculty by Dean Myron S. Aisenberg; Mr. James E. Andrews, President of the Student Senate, extended greetings on behalf of the student body. The high caliber of the scientific session was in evidence by the fact that there was standing room only that morning. A delightful innovation was the free luncheon given by the association at the Student Union Building; needless to say, it was an overwhelming success and was indicative of the good fellowship that prevailed throughout this meeting.

The television clinics presented in the afternoon by Doctors Ernest Nuttall, Nicholas Giuditta, Irving Abramson and J. Philip Norris demonstrated the value of the closed circuit television which was purchased by the school with funds donated in part by the Alumni Association. The utilization of the close-up lenses makes it possible to demonstrate the intricate and minute procedures of dentistry to a large audience. Thus, an invaluable new instrument has been added to the armamentarium of the teaching facilities of the school. During this time the ladies were treated to a fashion show at the Hecht-May Company.

On Saturday, March 31st, the membership gathered at the Belvedere Hotel for the remainder of the scientific session. The Dinner-Dance honoring Doctor Katharine Toomey and the distinguished alumnus, Doctor J. Stephenson Hopkins, began at 6:30 with cocktails. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. George L. Hopkins gave the invocation. Doctor Joseph P. Cappuccio introduced our friend, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, a member of the Board of Regents, University of Maryland. By the way, she is the only woman who is a member of that board. She presented greetings from the board and Doctor Elkins, who regretted that he could not be in attendance. Greetings from the general Alumni were presented by our good friend, Mr. David L. Brigham, Director of Alumni Relations and the Moderator of the television program To Promote Goodwill.

Doctor George M. Anderson took his turn at the podium to present Doctor J. Stephenson Hopkins of Bel Air. In highlighting his career, Doctor Anderson pointed out that he graduated Summa Cum Laude, from the Dental Department of the University of Maryland, that he not only helped to organize but was also president of the Harford-Cecil Dental Club and the Harford-Cecil Dental Society which replaced the Harford-Cecil Dental Club and became a component of the State Society, that he was a member of the State Board of Dental Examiners (1917-1939), and that he was a member of the Dental Educational Council of America. "Were I asked by a student or young practitioner", Doctor Anderson stated, "what are the essentials of success, I would offer a picture of the man we honor here tonight. For as a dentist, citizen, husband, parent and friend he epitomizes the very essence of the qualities of character which make an individual and a profession worthy of the respect of others."

Doctor Hopkins was deeply moved and expressed his appreciation for having received the Distinguished Alumnus Award. The following is an excerpt of his acceptance:

"During my fifty-seven years in practice, something very fine came into my life, something I know to be why you are honoring me tonight. This can be stated in one word—Friendship. Helping to organize the Harford-Cecil Dental Club, later the Harford-Cecil Dental Society, my work on the State Board of Dental Examiners, and our State Association, brought me in close contact with many men throughout the state and many outside the state. While working with men in these groups, I always felt I was working with friends. These friendships ripened and have grown throughout the years. Did you ever stop to think what a beautiful thing friendship is? Something filled with love, human understanding and so very unselfish. Elbert Hubbard once said, 'Friendship only hopes to serve and grows in giving', and Doctor Samuel Johnson said, 'To let friendship die away by negligence and silence is not wise. It is one of the greatest comforts in this weary pilgrimage.'

So, my dear friends of the Alumni Association, you have honored me tonight on account of your friendship. In giving me that friendship you have given something of yourselves, the finest part of your natures, something very dear to me. I thank you all from the bottom of my heart."

At this time Doctor Cappuccio called upon Doctor J. Ben Robinson to present Doctor Katharine Toomey to the Association. The following is a partial summary of his words on that auspicious occasion:

"It has been iterated and reiterated during the past year that the distinguished guest of honor served the University of Maryland, through its School of Dentistry for a period of 44 years—a term of service longer than that of any other person ever connected with the School, excepting its former, eminent dean, Doctor F. J. S. Gorgas.

Actually, the changes that have been wrought between then and now are difficult to fully comprehend. Those early years were a part of the horse and buggy days; these latter years find us in the jet age. Relentless time, and the irresistible forces of progress have brought profound changes that have made deep impressions on conditions of the School of Dentistry and on the meaning of life for our guest of honor.

To explain in part the meaning of the change that has taken place, I would remind you that in 1917, Miss Toomey was the one and only office assistant employed in the dental school organization.

As a slip of a girl, who even then knew her own mind and what was required to be both useful and happy in her job, she came under the watchful care of the never-to-be-forgotten Dean T. O. Heatwole. He looked upon her as one who in some special way needed his protection. His affection for her was evident in his doting voice as he would say 'Good morning, Miss Katharine'.

Seven years later a new dean was installed at the dental school. He accepted the appointment for a specific purpose, and he was determined to achieve this purpose with the help of those he had gathered around him.

There was a job that had to be done in order that dental education at Maryland might survive. The task was that of reorganizing and rebuilding the most revered institution in dentistry, the first dental school in the world, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Our guest of honor had by this time matured in her position, had gained valuable experience in procedures in the administration of the affairs of a school of dentistry, had acquired a sound understanding of the meaning of dental education, and had developed an almost fanatical devotion to the cause of which she had become a part.

But let's keep the records straight. In all the 34 years we were associated, the guest of honor never worked for me. We worked together. There was always an important job to be done, and we made sure that both of us understood the meaning of the job, and together completed it to the best of our abilities, and usually in a satisfactory manner.

During these years the familiar greeting, 'Good morning, Miss Katharine', of Dean Heatwole's day, gave way to a firm, crisp, even abrupt, 'Miss Toomey, will you please come here?' "

For the third time . . . "she found herself in the service of a new dean, but in the presence of a very old friend. She had listened often to his tales of woe, and had given him words of encouragement on many occasions, during the four years he was an undergraduate student at the School of Dentistry.

How then could Dean Aisenberg out of proper respect for one upon whom he had depended so long for sympathy and encouragement, bring himself to be so familiar as to say, 'Good morning, Miss Katharine!' Or forget the respect he owed her by calling in a firm, crisp, even abrupt voice, 'Miss Toomey, will you please come here?'

Instead, the new Dean found it appropriate to address his former mentor and present assistant in a much more dignified and complimentary manner such as, 'Would you please give me your time for just a few minutes, Dr. Toomey?'

I shall be as honest as some of you may think me rash, by declaring that in my opinion Dr. Katharine Toomey has actually done more for the School of Dentistry, its faculty, its student body, and its graduates, than any other person in the school's history.

Finally, may I be permitted to say, that in my judgment, one of her finest qualities of heart and mind is her unswerving loyalty. She is loyal to every deserving thing that comes her way; she is equally abhorrent of unworthy little people or acts.

Her loyalty to this Alumni Association has literally made it what it is today. I know, because I was there. We, as an organization, are grateful to her for what she has so freely and so generously done for us. We shall always be in her debt.

As a last word, may I have the pleasure of saying once again, 'Miss Toomey, will you please come here?' "

To the best of her recollection the following is Dr. Katharine Toomey's condensation of her reply:

As soon as Miss Toomey had regained her composure and voice following the bestowal of the gold "This Is Your Life" bracelet, attached to which are sentimental original charms symbolic of honors accorded her by the dental profession, as well as the gift check to be spent "wisely" on the European tour which she plans to take this summer, she stated that she was entirely lost for words to express to the Alumni Association the profound appreciation which she felt in her heart.

She spoke of happy years spent at the School with Dean Heatwole, whose friendliness toward people had inculcated in her a strong desire to consider justly the attitudes and problems of others. To the ardent application of Dean Robinson to his planning and to his earnest and prompt execution of such plans, she said she attributed her ambition to think through situations and to complete work at hand readily. Her association with Dean Aisenberg throughout his student days, as a teacher, and as dean during her final years in the School, she stated, had been for her an interesting experience.

She recalled the simple facilities of the old Dental School building on the east side of Greene Street which, she stressed, had afforded the education of an endless number of alumni who have contributed broadly and wisely to the dental profession not only as practitioners but also as teachers, as well as deans.

The structure presently occupied had furnished for a period of time adequate space and equipment to accommodate the work of the curriculum of those years; but, she stated, there lie ahead need and opportunity for expansion if the teaching program and the necessity to provide ample physical facilities are to be met effectively.

She was not remiss in her reminiscences of her "boys and girls," as she fondly designated those who had prepared for their future in professional life during her tour of service of nearly forty-four years within the School. In her present status, so-called retirement, she emphasized that she was leading a busy life and was engaged in worthwhile organization-work and humanitarian pursuits due in a great measure to the interest which the alumni continue to manifest in her.

In closing, our good friend extended her well wishes to the Alumni Association in a translation of a Gaelic blessing:

May the roads rise with you and

May the wind be always at your back;

And may the Lord hold you in the hollow of His hand.

June Week 1962

Pre-Commencement Exercises—Lord Baltimore Hotel

The June Week activities began on Wednesday, June 6th, with the annual golf tournament at the Allview Golf Club, Ellicott City, Md.

Thursday, following the business meeting of the officers, council and board of trustees, the first luncheon in honor of the past presidents of the Alumni Association was held on the sunny patio of the student union building.

Friday morning, the Pre-commencement Exercise was held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. The invocation was given by James T. McCarl '55. Then, Dean Aisenberg '22 assisted by Grayson W. Gaver '22 presented each graduate with a lilac trimmed hood—thus denoting the rank of Doctor of Dental Surgery. This was the first time graduates of the Dental, Medical and Law Schools were privileged to wear their respective hoods prior to the official reception of the Degree which is normally conferred on commencement day at College Park.

President Joseph P. Cappuccio '46 greeted the graduates and guests on behalf of the Alumni Association. Dr. Albin O. Kuhn, Executive Vice-President of the University of Maryland, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, member of the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland, Dean Myron Aisenberg, and Mr. Robert R. Parker, President of the Senior Class, extended their greetings and best wishes to the Class of 1962. Student awards were presented to the deserving seniors by Dean Aisenberg.

The top graduate of the class not only received the Gold Medal, but an unanticipated gift in the form of a very generous sum of money, given by Mrs. E. Benton Taylor to the now Dr. Paul W. Bushman.

The guest speaker, Dr. John C. Krantz, Professor of Pharmacology, School of Medicine, University of Maryland, rendered an informative address filled with eloquence, charm and wit for which he is noted.

President Cappuccio presented a silver token to Miss Katherine L.

Underwood from the Alumni Association for 25 years of service with the assisting staff of the Dean's office.

The Alumni Association conferred honorary memberships on Dr. Donald E. Shay, Professor of Microbiology, and Dr. E. G. Vanden Bosche, Professor of Biochemistry, both of whom have worked diligently in furthering the aims of dentistry at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Friday evening was highlighted by a cocktail party, banquet and dance to which the graduates were the invited guests of the Alumni Association. Dr. Gordon Watson, Secretary of the American Dental Association, delivered an address on The Future of Dentistry.

Dr. Harry W. Dressel, Jr. '45, chairman of the golf committee, then presented the golf awards to the winners of the annual golf tournament, after which the newly elected officers of the Association were installed. The new president, Lewis C. Toomey '42, presented the past presidents' key to Joe Cappuccio, and extended his best wishes to all.

The officers for 1962 are:

LEWIS C. TOOMEY, '42	President
L. LYNN EMMART '22	President-Elect
C. J. GAVER '54	Secretary
C. ADAM BOCK '22	Treasurer
JOSEPH H. SEIPP '55	Editor
J. BEN ROBINSON '14	Historian-Archivist

On Saturday, June 9th, the academic procession was a colorful and gratifying sight to behold. Dentistry was bedecked in lilac trimmed gowns and hoods, Medicine in green and Law in purple. Naturally, the DDS's took an undisputed first honor in fashion and distinction.

HENRY J. BIANCO, JR., Chairman.

Omicron Kappa Upsilon—Phi Chapter

On June 6, 1962, the thirty-fifth convocation and banquet was held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in the Caswell Room. Dr. José H. Diaz was honored by being inducted into the fraternity as a faculty member. Dean Aisenberg presented the following graduating seniors as new initiates: Dr. Robert Apfel, Dr. Paul W. Bushman, Dr. Richard F. Downes, Jr., Dr. Martin Kline, Dr. Daniel Levy, Dr. Donald E. Lilley, Dr. Joseph A. Salvo, and Dr. Allen H. Simmons. These students have qualified for membership by completing their dental education in the top 12% of their class. "The Charge" was given to these new members by Dr. José Medina. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Russell S. Fisher, the Chief Medical Examiner of the State of Maryland. His talk, illustrated with slides was on the topic of forensic dentistry. He discussed many cases in which dentistry had played a vital role. The new officers are: President—Richard C. Leonard, Pres.-Elect—Samuel H. Bryant, Vice-President—William Kress, and Secretary-Treasurer—J. Philip Norris.

CLASS REUNIONS

Reunion 1907

Reunion 1912

(U. of Md.)

The class of 1907 celebrated the 55th Anniversary of its graduation from the University of Maryland Dental School at the combined reunion and banquet held March 31st, 1962, at the Belvedere Hotel, in Baltimore, Maryland. Present were Dr. Lewis Ramsey Fritts of Dover, New Jersey, Major General Robert H. Mills, of Washington, D. C., Dr. Richard F. Simmons, of Norfolk, Virginia, Dr. Thomas W. Smithson, of Rocky Mount, North Carolina, and Dr. A. Preston Scarborough, of Baltimore, Maryland, Chairman of the Class.

The theme set for the members of the class, their wives and friends was an Hawaiian Luau (feast). Special table decorations, favors, leis, and flowers carried out the motif and made '07's table a special island. Prior to the reunion a newsletter was mailed to the class members bringing them up-to-date on one another's activities.

The members of 1907 also added their personal salute to Dr. Katharine Toomey who was the special honored guest of the entire Alumni Association. Handbills adding their praise for her many contributions to the Dental School were passed out to demonstrate '07's enthusiasm for Dr. Toomey.

Reunion 1912

(U. of Md.)

The class of 1912 took the occasion of the Fourth Triennial Dinner-Dance at the Belvedere Hotel to hold its reunion. Gathering together at the cocktail hour we conditioned ourselves for a night of festivity. One thing was certain—everyone had a good time and those who could not attend were really missed. We will be looking forward to our next reunion when we can again exchange ideas and past remembrances. Our class numbered fifty-eight and twenty-eight have passed away. There were five members of our Class of 1912 at the reunion.

Reunion 1912

(B.C.D.S.)

The Class of 1912 B.C.D.S. celebrated its fiftieth anniversary this year. Those present were Doctors J. Fernandez Carballo of San Juan, Puerto Rico, D. M. Moroney of Collinsville, Connecticut, Harry D. Rhein of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and Arthur Lankford of Baltimore, Maryland. Dr. Edgar Webster of Norfolk, Virginia expected to be with us but unfortunately was down with the flu at the time.

A special table was provided for the class at the Banquet given in honor of Dr. Katharine Toomey and Dr. J. Stephenson Hopkins. It was a lovely affair and most enjoyable. Each member of the class received a certificate denoting their fifty years in practice which was much appreciated. The returning members were in good health and still going strong.

Reunion 1927

The 35th Reunion of the Class of 1927 was held on Friday, March 30, 1962 at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore. There were 31 members present and the party began in the early afternoon in the Windsor Suite.

We were all pleased by the presence of our two hostesses, May Stokes Graffam and Desma L. McMullen, who served the nuts, nibbles and cocktails, while the tunes of taped music of the era of 1923 through 1927 were drowned out with our reminiscing that period. Mrs. Graffam and Mrs. McMullen are both widows of two of our former classmates and both are associated with the Dental School in the Departments of Student Health and Admissions.

Dinner was served at 7:00 P.M. in the New Orleans Room. Programs contained an up-to-date list of the names and addresses of the members, a class picture taken during our freshman year, and a list of the twenty-four deceased members.

A wonderful time was had by all and preparations began for the fortieth reunion.

Reunion 1932

The 30th Reunion of the Class of 1932 was held on Thursday evening, June 7, 1962 at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore.

Twenty-two loyal and true members of the class started the evening with a cocktail hour (?) during which there was an exchange of noteworthy stories, enthusiastically recounted. A sumptuous dinner did little to dampen the high spirits of the group.

The estimable Dr. Alfred Theodore arranged for the presentation of artistic musical entertainment which pleased the eyes and ears of the celebrants.

Doctors Grosshans and Englander, President and Vice-President of the Class of 1932, expressed the enthusiasm and satisfaction of all in attendance.

Reunion 1937

At our twenty-fifth reunion, the class of '37 went along with the University's idea of having their reunion in March. Other than the University's program, we had a room in the Belvedere Hotel, which we might call our "Hospitality Room". On Saturday, March 31st, many of our classmates met in this room and reminisced over their school days.

Dr. Milton Lubar (Lubarsky) flew up from Florida for this short meeting and left later that afternoon for his home again. Dr. Bernie Berk (Berkowitz), who came all the way from Park Ave., Baltimore, dropped in on Saturday afternoon for a short snort.

Attending the banquet were the following: Dr. and Mrs. Harry Aks from Virginia, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Byer from New Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. Tony Caputo from New Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Downs from New Jersey, Dr. James Fulmer from South Carolina, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Gaudreau from Rhode Island, Dr. and Mrs. Gaeton Gregoire from Connecticut, Dr. and Mrs. Jessie Greenberg from Red Bank, New Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. Gilford Levitas from New Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Mirabella, Jr. from New Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Pugh from the Eastern Shore of Maryland, Dr. Joe Raph from Red Bank, New Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Roh from Baltimore, Dr. and Mrs. A. LePage Seidler from Saudi Arabia, Dr. Robert Swinehart from Baltimore, Dr. and Mrs. F. Melvin Edwards from Red Bank, New Jersey, Dr. and Mrs. Irving Rosen from Virginia, Dr. and Mrs. Maurice D. Shore from Connecticut, Dr. Robert Reed from Delaware, Dr. Gilbert Yoffe from Baltimore, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Shobin from Baltimore and Dr. and Mrs. John Heck from Baltimore.

It is believed that all had a roaring good time. Everyone was happy to see Miss Toomey again and pay her their respects.

Note: At the end of another five years, we find three more of our classmates missing. Chris Nacrelli, (died December 1961), Bernard Riley (in 1960) and H. H. Lavine. Previous to these three, we lost Al Clewlow, Jay Reynolds and Herb Friedberg.

John C. Heck, Co-Chairman

The following members of the Class of 1942 were present at our twentieth reunion.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Wattman, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Riley Williamson, Dr. and Mrs. Murray Nussbaum, Dr. and Mrs. Ezna Gratz, Dr. and Mrs. Bender, Dr. and Mrs. Irving Katz, and Captain William Aldridge.

It was wonderful to see and be with our old classmates again and we are looking forward very much to our twenty-fifth class reunion.

Irving Katz, Chairman

Reunion 1947

The Class of 1947 held a highly successful reunion at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel March 30, 1962. The reunion was held as part of the Triennial Alumni Meeting. Fifteen members of the class and their wives attended. Proceedings got underway with a very friendly and stimulating cocktail party, that interfered to some extent with Mr. Taylor's attempt to assemble the group for a photograph. After sufficient consumption of joy juice, there were few complaints when the hotel had difficulty in finding sufficient seafood dinners. Some devotees of the Chesapeake Bay crabs even accepted roast beef as a substitute. Following dinner, the group engaged in the usual session of reminiscing that was highlighted by a "Jam" session when Freddie Erlich and Lee Nathans located their trumpets.

Dick Eshenberg has invited the entire class to spend the summer at the "French Quarters" Motel at Ocean City, Maryland.

Those attending the reunion were as follows:

Fred Asciolla and wife, Paul Bingham and wife, Dick Eshenberg, Fred Erlich, Gus de Hossen and wife, Stan Gotlieb and wife, Buddy Grier, Stan Kotula and wife, Al Kronthal and wife, Bob Lamb and wife, Stuart Londeree and wife, Lee Nathans and wife, Len Rappaport and wife, Bill Roth, and Brice Smith and wife.

Reunion 1952

A very successful ten year reunion was held by the Class of 1952 at the Belvedere Hotel on Saturday, June 9th.

The activities commenced with a stag-luncheon at 12:30 P.M. and proved to be a most jovial affair. Jack Martin, Tom Payne, Zeno Edwards and Bob Jozefiak were most entertaining with their extemporaneous speeches, wit and ad-libs. Photographs were taken of the 48 members who attended and Joe McKechnie made the arrangements to send each a beautifully inscribed beer mug.

Our second cocktail party began at 6:30 P.M. and was followed by a fine roast beef dinner and dance. Dr. Joseph Biddix, Dr. José Medina and their wives were our guests of honor. They brought with them greetings from the B.C.D.S. and many memories of by-gone days.

The return of classmates, most of them with their wives, for the evening affair was excellent, since 51 of us were on hand. In all, there were 103 people in attendance for the evening festivities. A tremendous time was enjoyed by all and I'm certain this happy occasion will long be remembered. We are all looking forward to another great reunion in 1967.

Reunion 1957

The fifth year reunion of the class of 1957 was held on Thursday evening, June 7, 1962 at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel. The reunion was originally planned for March, but due to a poor response the meeting was postponed.

Reservations for a dinner and dance were made at the Belvedere. Through the aid of Dr. Fred Erlich a band was signed. Letters were sent announcing the reunion and asking for an immediate response.

Many regrets were received from men who are now in graduate training programs or were on active duty with Uncle Sam. Roy Page and Walt Hall both sent in their regrets from Seattle, Washington where they are doing graduate work in periodontia. The morning of the reunion Jerry Isbell arrived, having come all the way from San Antonio, Texas. John Dempsey and his wife Sally from Morgantown, West Virginia were the house guests of Bill Patteson for this long week-end. At the reception and banquet Dean Aisenberg and his charming wife were present to greet all of the returning alumni. First to bring out a full series of x-rays for the Dean to examine was Bill Johnson; Bill and wife Marty had made the trip from North Carolina. During the cocktail hour, many friendships were renewed and news of the past five years filled the air.

After the banquet, Dean Aisenberg officially welcomed the alumni and gave a most interesting resume of improvements and advances which have been achieved at the dental school in the last five years.

Dancing began at nine to the fine trumpet music of Dr. Fred Erlich and his combo. A few minutes later Frank Verdecchia and Jim Sullivan arrived with their wives, Bobbie and "Tookie". Frank made a quick trip down from New York where he is completing his postgraduate work in orthodontia.

After the class spent an evening of reliving the past five years with old friends, the party broke up into smaller groups that traveled to such places as the China Clipper, Eager House and Peabody Book Shop.

COCKTAILS AT SIX

ETHELBERT LOVETT, D.D.S.

During the next six months every reader of the ALMA MATER will receive an invitation to a social hour where cocktails will be served. This has become so much a part of our American way of life that no dental meeting is considered complete without the cocktail hour.

Twenty-six constituent societies of the American Dental Association, at least fifteen other organizations representing various academies and conferences connected with dentistry, and the majority of alumni associations have scheduled annual meetings some time in May or June. You are going to receive invitations, in a form letter or in the program, to join your associates at the cocktail hour. The chances are that you have already paid something toward this, in the way of dues, for most budgets provide for part of the entertainment expenses.

There are some dentists who, for personal reasons, do not want to drink. There are others who, for religious reasons, never touch alcohol. There are a few who, for psychological reasons, should never take a drink, for it stirs up the devil within them and they become mean and nasty. All that a non-drinker has to do is to say, "No, thank you", and his wishes are respected by his fellow dentists.

The most important thing about this established custom is this: whether you drink or not, the question of alcohol concerns you primarily from the standpoint of human relations. I try to make each senior dental student realize that, "You are no longer an obscure individual. You are a member of the dental profession and your actions as an individual will either raise or lower your profession in public esteem. Among your other actions this applies with greater force to your drinking habits, whether in a public place or at a private party, because your behavior is so easily observed."

It is wise, therefore, members of the Alumni Association, to consider the cocktail hour under the headings of why, when, what, and how.

Why?

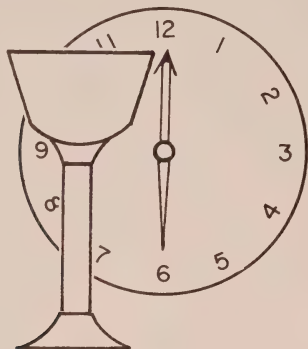

From ancient times alcohol has been considered one of God's gifts to man. An orthodox Jew says this grace before drinking wine: "Blessed art thou, oh Lord, King of the Universe, who createst the fruit of the vine." The first appearance of liquor in Egypt and also in Greece was attributed to a god: Osiris in Egypt and Dionysus in Greece. Wine is used by the followers of traditional Christianity in their religious ceremonies, and fermented and distilled beverages add not only to the solemnity but to the gaiety of such happy occasions as weddings, anniversaries and reunions.

The chief value of the cocktail hour at a dental meeting is to afford relief from the cares and pressures of the day, and especially to release us from timidity. We are afraid to be ourselves, afraid of reality, overcome with inhibitions. A social group, even at a pre-dental dinner, may be dull at first, and then with a few drinks the secret fear of self is overcome, inhibitions relaxed, and a friendly evening begins.

When?

Alcohol does not enable one to do anything better, except to relax. It weakens attention, concentration, co-ordination, memory, judgment, and reason. There is no place for liquor during the working day of a dentist. But alcohol does stimulate appetite, appreciation of food, and conviviality; so cocktails at six.

Cocktails

At Six

What?

The first drinks invented by man remain the best—wine, beer, and malt whiskey. Avoid the unexpected mixture as you would avoid poison. If your hostess comes up to you with a smile, holding out a glass of liquid distemper and saying, "Bet you can't guess what's in this?," watch out, boy, it is treacherous.

Happy drinkers have cultivated a taste for their favorite beverage and know their own capacities. The unexpected mixture disguises its true nature, throws everything out of balance, and taste is no longer a guide to potency. The formula should be this: simplicity, integrity, nothing mysterious, nothing fancy. Always serve the best. We pay tribute to a man when we say, "He's a gentleman, a scholar, and a judge of good whiskey."

How?

The moderate drinker uses liquor to heighten his momentary enjoyment, while the problem drinker uses it to escape reality. T. S. Matthews, in his autobiography, Name and Address, writes of drink as if it were a genie in a bottle, and the genie is powerful; you must treat him with respect and use the proper forms.

Addison's Rule

Joseph Addison, in the Spectator, October 13, 1711, wrote "Were I to prescribe a rule for drinking, it should be formulated upon a saying quoted by Sir William Temple: the first glass for myself, the second for my friends, the third for good humour, and the fourth for mine enemies."

If Addison were the speaker at a dental meeting today, I am sure he would advise us to stop at the glass for good humor.

At a few meetings, all members are guests of the society. Occasionally, the cost of cocktails is included in the price of the dinner. More frequently, a self-treat bar is set up and each member pays for his own drinks. The worst situation exists at a country club when non-members have to buy a five-dollar book of tickets redeemable only in drinks. In order not to lose money everybody drinks too much, some become loud and boisterous, and the result is that old, conservative members of the club are given a bad impression of the dental profession.

The same bad impression of dentistry can be created in a hotel where the hospitable glass degenerates into the social tyranny of "standing the next round, it's my turn to treat."

The phrase, "Down the hatch," or "Here's mud in your eye," is evidence of a philosophy that is crude and disrespectful to both man and nature. "Prosit," from ancient Rome, "May it do good," or its English equivalent, "To your health," expresses the friendly response we hope for.

Liquor, the Servant of Man

While alcohol will always be the master of some men, rightly used it can be the servant of man. At the cocktail hour it can make the critical dentist feel more kindly toward his fellowman; the shy dentist more social; the glum one more talkative; the bundle-of-nerves man more relaxed; the fearful less timid; the unsocial more friendly. After a few drinks, a brilliant man can be more at ease in less gifted company, and can become emotionally capable of feeling the broadening experience of close human contact. In this way, the cocktail hour can exert a democratic influence, and liquor can be the servant of man.

"Prosit, my friends, to your health and happiness."

"The title 'of Doctor' was invented in the twelfth century. Ivnerius, a learned professor of law at the University of Bologna, induced the emperor Lothaire II, whose chancellor he was, to create the title, and he himself was the recipient of it. He was made doctor of laws by that university. Subsequently the title was borrowed by the faculty of theology, and first conferred by the University of Paris on Peter Lombard. William Gordenio was the first person upon whom the title of doctor of medicine was bestowed, he received it from the College of Asti in 1329".*

Alumni Breakfast in Washington

A very enjoyable Alumni breakfast meeting of our Association was held during the District of Columbia Postgraduate Clinic at the Shoreham Hotel on Tuesday, March 6, 1962.

This meeting is usually very well attended, but unfortunately due to the inclement weather the attendance was poor. Approximately 30 alumni attended in spite of the worst snowstorm to hit Washington, D. C., in many years.

President Cappuccio welcomed the group and apprised the alumni of the coming activities of our Association such as the Fourth Triennial Meeting and June Week. The spirit of good fellowship prevailed throughout the affair and the alumni looked forward with great anticipation to the Fourth Triennial Meeting to be held in Baltimore March 30, 31, 1962.

PROGRESS

Close inspection of the photograph of Dr. Drew's operatory will show the primitive armanentarium with which a dentist of that period considered the last word in modern dental equipment. One might do well to recall that one of the earliest descriptions of a dental instrument appears in Aristotle's (384-322 B.C.) De Partibus Animalium.† The description of forceps utilized for the extraction of teeth is given —“two levers acting in contrary sense having a single fulcrum.” (Necessity is the mother of invention).

Early in our country's history, the first dentist to obtain a patent for a dental instrument was Thomas Bruff. This patent was granted in 1797 and he was at that time engaged in the practice of dentistry in Baltimore, the home of the “Oldest Dental School in the World”.

In retrospect, one may well wonder at the strides made in the armanentarium of dentistry just within the past few decades. The mass and maze of the many and varied pieces of dental equipment and instruments are so numerous as to require volumes to be listed adequately. For instance, in the field of equipment in recent years we have seen the development of audio-analgesia, high speed drill, the motor chair, contour seating, pastel shades of equipment, the compressed air-driven drill and many others. Bearing in mind the progress of the past, I wonder what the future holds?

"Alma Mater" Praises "The Plate" for Leadership

Below is a copy of the "Journal" of the Class of 1907. To my knowledge it is the only class journal in existence amongst the Alumni of this Association. It is published by one of our senior dentists, A. Preston Scarborough, who prints and distributes this "Journal" to the members of his class. This "Journal" is appropriately called The Plate. We must admire the energy and enthusiasm to edit and publish this material.

Qualities as these not only set an example but also permeate the entire membership of this organization. Devotion and service to work within organizations must be recognized.

Take note of these qualities, fellow alumni. If only you will become active in our organization, you will find a far greater reward than any financial remuneration—the reward of a job well done. A reward of infinite satisfaction.

When you hear criticism of how this or that was not done or criticism that a job was inadequately completed, you will know that these caviling overtones are emanating from those not active in our organization. Those actively engaged in conducting the affairs of our organization do not vent their censure upon others, but these men who are adept in conducting the affairs lend aid and assistance to their fellow novices. You owe it to yourself to become active in all organizations with which you have become associated—City and State dental societies, but foremost, our Alumni Association. Take heed, fellow alumni. Become active. Join now!

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND DENTAL SCHOOL REUNION AND BANQUET*

DR. RICHARD FERGUSON SIMMONS RETURNING FOR FIFTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF GRADUATION

Dr. Richard F. Simmons, 710 Wainwright Building, Norfolk, Virginia, who resides at 915 Hanover Avenue in Norfolk is among the graduates of the 1907 class returning to Baltimore for the meeting and festivities incident to reunion time. His wife, Ruth Gilliam Simmons, plans to accompany her husband.

He is a Life Member and Past President of the Virginia-Tidewater Dental Association, Life Member and Past President of the Virginia State Dental Association, Life Member American Dental Association, Member Federation Dentaire International, Fellow of the American College of Dentists. Simmons, as his classmates call him, served fourteen years on the Virginia

State Board of Dental Examiners and at one time was its Vice-President.

MAJOR GENERAL ROBERT H. MILLS AND WIFE EXPECTED TO ATTEND BANQUET AND REUNION

Maj. Gen. Robert H. Mills and his wife, Anne, are expected to arrive in Baltimore to celebrate his class reunion. One of the important features of the banquet for Bob and his wife, as well as the other members of 1907, are the special honors to be paid to Dr. Katharine Toomey for her many years of outstanding service to the Dental School and the Alumni Association. Maj. Gen. Mills is himself an honorary alumnus of Northwestern University in Chicago and holds an honorary Doctorate of Dental Science from his alma mater, University of Maryland. He is also a fellow of the American College of Dentists.

Dr. Cappuccio's Report

Fellow Alumni:

It is my sincere pleasure and privilege to address you briefly today for the last time as President of the Alumni Association, Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland. I am fully aware, as I am sure men who have preceded me have been, that this is no small task. It has not been customary in the past to deliver a lengthy and soul-stirring closing address, and I shall not disappoint you by doing so today.

It is my desire, however, to take a few moments to outline for you some of the accomplishments of my administration, and the problems that still need to be solved during future administrations.

I would like to begin by expressing my appreciation for the honor you have bestowed upon me by electing me your President. A year passes very rapidly with the stimulus of facing new problems and their solutions.

This has been such a year and your officers and council have done their level best to resolve these problems. As my term of office draws to a close, I have come to several conclusions on matters that I believe are most important to the Association. I realize fully that we must have a long range program and that there are many new projects that we should undertake. However, we have many problems that have been with us for years and are still unresolved.

Dr. Rudolph Friedrich, a former Secretary of the Council on Dental Health of the American Dental Association, made a very astute observation regarding the development of policies within a dental society in one of his many writings.

"A review of management problems of dental organizations shows that one of the outstanding obstacles to effective society operation is the failure of committees to perform their proper functions. In essence, this failure is based on the inability of individuals to make the transition from individual thought, decision and action to group consideration, compromise and action."

During this past year I have attempted to unify the many personalities and to bring into focus the true value of committee participation. I have borrowed the experience of the past, and the drive of the future to man the various committees. The personnel of all committees was composed of age and experience, youth and vitality. An excellent example of this was the 4th Triennial Committee which had a very late start on its objective, but no one can argue with the final results. The high light of this meeting was the banquet honoring the Distinguished Alumnus for 1962, Dr. J. Stephenson Hopkins, and Dr. Katharine Toomey for her many years of service to the dental school and the alumni. This affair must go down in the annals of our Association as a warm and dignified testimonial for both distinguished citizens of our state. Immediately following the conclusion of the meeting, I had an Interim Committee elected by the Executive Council to help plan the next meeting in 1965. In 1965, we will be celebrating the 125th anniversary of the founding of our school. It becomes imperative that this meeting be planned well in advance to insure success.

Another great objective of my administration was to stimulate life membership in our Association. At the beginning of my stewardship there were 113 life memberships representing all the years of the existence of our Association. Under the very able leadership of Dr. Arthur I. Bell, we have increased the life memberships to 132. This represents a gain of 19 life memberships in 1962. A very dynamic program with an excellently prepared brochure was sent to the membership to stimulate life memberships. The job is not complete as yet and needs to be carried on this coming year. It should be the objective of the new administration to follow up this year's program.

During the past year, the Alumni Association was host to the Class of 1965 at a luncheon held during the Orientation Program of the Freshman Class. This was a very delightful affair enjoyed by the incoming freshmen and members of the faculty. It was the opinion of many of our officers that this activity rightfully belongs under the jurisdiction and support of the Dental School. We have suggested that this policy be followed this coming year.

For many years, the Greater Alumni Fund Drive of the University of Maryland has puzzled and confused our dental alumni. We have been successful along with recent administrations of our Association to bring this problem under the direct control of the Dental School. The soliciting of funds has not hurt the total membership of our Association as it did in past years. It is my opinion that we should continue to cooperate with the Greater Alumni Fund but under our own ground rules. I feel very strongly that our own Alumni should drive for its own funds and that a Student Loan Foundation should be established.

It should not be a practice of the Alumni Association to purchase gifts or equipment for a State Endowed University. At times, as a token of our appreciation, the Dean, Faculty and Student Body should be entertained by the Association. I strongly recommend that a reception be held each September in honor of the Faculty, Assisting Staff and Student Body. This type of an affair would create good will between the Dental School and the Alumni Association.

At the very beginning of my administration, I appointed a special committee of the Alumni Association on the New Dental School. The objective was to stimulate and foster the necessary interest to further the cause of progressive dental education on this campus. This very important project could have achieved considerable progress with a more aggressive policy. It is the opinion of many alumni that a modern facility for teaching dentistry in the oldest dental college in the world is an absolute necessity at this time. Our present school is not adequate to teach the postgraduate, graduate and dental hygiene courses that are necessary at a level that is in keeping with other modern dental colleges. We are moving much too slowly to keep pace with modern dental education. It should be the duty of all alumni and dentists in the state of Maryland to stimulate action on the part of the Dental School, Board of Regents and University of Maryland. We need a new Dental School now, not 10 years from now when we will be falling further behind in the teaching of dentistry.

Another great problem that faces us at the present time is the Esprit De Corps between the Alumni Association and the Faculty of the Dental School. Why should there not be an indestructible bond of unity between the Faculty and the Alumni Association? It is rather evident that both groups at times are not cooperating for the best interests of all concerned. It is difficult for me to understand how one group could divorce itself from the other without affecting the whole.

It is not important to try to put the blame on one or the other because I feel that possibly both groups have made mistakes. The time is now ripe to close ranks and to begin to work as a team. The times are too difficult and challenging for all of us to be caught short. The feeling of autonomy between the groups is not a healthy one since we cannot separate one group from the other and make sense. Together, we represent a most formidable faculty and alumni which is in keeping with the oldest dental college in the world. I place squarely the responsibility for this marriage upon the shoulders of the Dean of the Dental School whose leadership is necessary to accomplish this end result. These remarks are not meant as direct criticism of an individual but rather for the good of the order. We must learn to work together and have respect for each other. The ultimate aim is to improve relationships so that our Alma Mater will be second to none.

In summary, I wish to recommend the following objectives for the coming year:

Recommendations

1. A reception should be held under the sponsorship of the Alumni Association early in September in honor of the Faculty, Assistant Staff and Student Body.
2. Life Membership Drive be continued with another well prepared brochure.
3. A meeting should be held between the Special Awards Committee of the Alumni Association and the Awards Committee of the Faculty to establish a policy for awards.
4. The Committee on the New Dental School should be reappointed by the incoming President with minor changes in personnel.
5. Interim Committee for the 1965 Triennial Meeting should meet as soon as possible to begin to develop plans for the 125th Anniversary Celebration.

6. The Alma Mater Publication should be published once a year in the month of November and the Editorial Board should meet with the Editorial Board of the Journal of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.
7. The Alumni Association should solicit funds for the establishment of an Educational Foundation to help students receive a dental education.
8. A special committee of the Executive Council to be appointed to develop mechanics for the Distinguished Alumnus Award.
9. An alumni office be established in the school in order to keep our records along with securing a secretary under the jurisdiction of the alumni and supported with funds from the Alumni Association.
10. A brochure be developed to explain the awards program and the drive for funds to establish new awards under an established policy of the Alumni Association and the Dental School.

Dr. Gerald Timmons, Speaker of the House of Delegates of the American Dental Association, once said, "There is a milestone labeled 'opportunity for greater service'. There is work to be done. The challenge is formidable, the fellowship stimulating, the result rewarding."

Finally, thanks again, to all of you for having granted me the honor and privilege of having served as your President. I extend my sincere gratitude to all those who have helped me so much this year. It has been the high light of my life, and may God bless all of you.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH P. CAPPUCCIO.

NOTICE

Change in the Constitution. Article VII, Section 10 (last sentence of the section) has been changed to read as follows: The senior delegate shall serve as its chairman and the three delegates shall attend the regular meetings of the Executive Council as observers.

Annual Business Meeting—June 7, 1962

To begin the meeting the President welcomed all members present and thanked them for attending.

The Secretary's report, as published in the last issue of the journal, was accepted. In succession the following reports were made and are to be published in the next issue of the Alma Mater: The Treasurer's report, the Editor's report, the Historian-Archivist's report, the Trustees' report and the Alumni Council's report. All reports were accepted as read.

The Life Membership Committee report was read and accepted. The June Week Committee gave a progress report. The Chairman of June Week, Dr. Henry J. Bianco, Jr., was congratulated by the President for the fine job he had done. No report was made by the Solicitations Committee Chairman. The Special Committee on Awards, by Dr. Arthur I. Bell, gave a progress report. This committee, together with the committee of the Dental School will decide the policy governing awards.

In the discussion of old business, the A.D.A. Convention in Philadelphia was reviewed. It was reported that both the breakfast meeting and the cocktail party were well attended. The attendance at the Washington-Breakfast Meeting was very poor this year, due largely to a blizzard. The number in attendance was a mere 25 or 30 persons. The Triennial Meeting was reported on by Dr. Cappuccio. The attendance was very gratifying, but due to the size and complexity of the meeting, it should have been planned well in advance. With this in mind, the Executive Council has already elected an interim-committee to begin working for the next Triennial Meeting in 1965. This year, the Alumni honored Miss Katharine Toomey, a long time friend of the Association and Dr. J. Stephenson Hopkins, the recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award.

Under new business, the Budget Committee report was circularized and discussed. Dr. Dressel moved that the report be accepted and it was seconded by Dr. Van Natta. The motion was carried. This report will be published in the journal. The Auditing Committee under Dr. Samuel H. Bryant reported the accounts are true and correct, and in accordance with the audit.

The President will appoint a member of the Association for election to the General Alumni Council. Next in order of business was the President's report. The President-Elect assumed the chair and Dr. Cappuccio made his final report. Dr. Devlin, Dr. Noel and Dr. Trager were chosen to prepare the acceptance of the President's report. Dr. Devlin was made chairman. The report and the acceptance will be published in the journal.

The Constitution and By-Laws, as prepared by the committee under Dr. J. Ben Robinson, was accepted as published in the Alma Mater. The motion was made by Dr. Chavoor, seconded by Dr. Broadrup with the recommendation that several areas be reviewed by the new Committee on Constitution and By-Laws for possible changes. Dr. Edward Stone moved to amend that part of the Constitution dealing with Alumni Council Representative, to read "3 delegates of, etc.—shall attend the meetings of the officers, and the Executive Council" and delete "have the privilege of". This motion was seconded by Dr. Bryant and accepted by a three-fourths vote of the group. This amendment will be considered by the new committee.

The election and presentation of the new officers was next in the order of business. The report of the Nominating Committee was accepted. There was one change that had to be made because one of the members declined the nomination. Dr. L. Lynn Emmart was nominated and accepted as President-Elect. Dr. Paul Hoffman was nominated and accepted as 1st Vice-President. Dr. G. W. Gaver moved the nominations be closed, seconded by Dr. Inman and passed. Nominations were opened for alternates to the General Alumni Council at College Park. The following members were elected in the order in which their names appear: Dr. Harry W. F. Dressel, Jr., Dr. Harry Levin, and Dr. Eugene Pessagno.

Dr. Dressel moved that a letter be drafted to Dr. Preis thanking him for a job well done as editor of the Alma Mater. Dr. Chavoor seconded the motion. Motion was carried. The meeting was adjourned approximately 2:45 P.M.

Editor's Report

As this is my last report as your editor, perhaps you will forgive a bit of nostalgia.

Prior to 1959, information concerning alumni activities was presented in "The Journal", a bi-annual publication of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, supported in part by the Alumni Association and the student body and the dental school.

After the students had withdrawn their financial support of "The Journal", thereby increasing the cost ratio between the school and the Alumni Association, the alumni decided to establish an independent publication. The reasons were obvious—necessary activities were expanding, and the increase in dues permitted our venture into journalism.

As editor the publication became my responsibility. What an opportunity! Drs. Douglas A. Browning, Joseph P. Cappuccio, Calvin Gaver, Morton Hollander, and Katharine Toomey were asked to serve as a staff and they all accepted with enthusiasm. We had the directive—we had the money—but no experience—no name—only a job to do. The name came quickly and easily; there could be only one for an alumni publication of the oldest dental school in the world (founded on March 6, 1840)—"Alma Mater", the mother of them all. (I have often wondered why the school "Journal" didn't use that name.)

The size—style—print—news—advertising—etc.—were important matters which required much thought and planning. So with nothing to guide us but ignorance, all went well, and I doubt if there was ever a happier group in our association than your editorial staff when the first issue appeared in March, 1959.

The new "Alma Mater" was a radical departure from the old "Journal" with respect to pictures. We used plenty. They are more expensive than print and must be planned for but are certainly worth the trouble and expense. The first issue looked attractive—bold yet not vulgar—read so easily—enough meat with an interspersing of odds and ends which to some were more enjoyable than the main course—and best of all, without a major "flopperoo" which spread before 4500 receivers, has a way of being remembered.

In any event the six issues are now part of history. Our best wishes go to Joe Seipp, the new editor, and his staff, and we are certain that under his direction our future is in good hands. However, I shall always remember with appreciation and affection the first staff—Douglas A. Browning, Joseph P. Cappuccio, Calvin Gaver, Morton Hollander, Katharine Toomey.

Respectfully submitted,

Kyrle W. Preis

Report of the Life Membership Committee

Your life membership committee has been active during the past year. We have reached the Alumni through a Brochure (that was completely paid for out of Endowment General Funds), through the Journal and through the personal appearance of Dr. Cappuccio at various meetings. At this point, we can indicate a strong beginning—some 19 members responded and now the total membership is 132—9 received in 1961.

This list of names will be published from time to time for all Alumni to see. This is the one way to demonstrate our interest and continuing support for our Association long after we are gone.

At present, 2/3 or $100, is invested in a Trusteed Fund at the Mercantile Safe Deposit and Trust Company. The other 1/3 or $50, goes to our Alumni Association.

It is our recommendation that this project be continued and encouraged throughout the coming year. Through it we can be sure our Association will continue on a strong basis.

The individual member will have a lump sum deduction and he will be paying annual dues without ever having to write another check for this purpose. Why not be a member for life?

Report of the General Alumni Council Committee

During the year 1961-62 our members were represented as follows: Dr. Edward D. Stone—"Exceptional Students Committee"—Dr. Charles Broadrup—"Board of Regents Committee" and Dr. Harry Levin—"Alumni Association and Council Committee".

The vital ingredients for a successful Alumni program include an aggressive alumni nucleus, an interested and supporting administration, a cooperative faculty and an advised student body. The Alumni Association would like as its first objective, the promotion of the interest and welfare of the University of Maryland. The goal of second interest is to furnish mutually beneficial relations between the University of Maryland, the people of the State and its Alumni. An Alumni Association is an outgrowth of a natural desire on the part of alumni to identify themselves with the University, its respective schools and with each other. Obviously, it is conceivable that individual alumni will not always see the same objectives, the same methods of achievement, or the same needs. Differences, however, should never be construed as a lack of loyalty, interest or dedication.

It would do well for the Alumni of our Dental School to find an avenue whereby the great majority will have a chance to express their interest in general and specific ways. The Alumni picture is changing as is the image in society and science. Some of the significant guide posts could be the following:

- 1—A recruitment program.
- 2—A Legislative program.
- 3—Support of a bi-monthly alumni publication.
- 4—Assistance to students thru scholarships and loans.
- 5—Promotion of academic and athletic interests.
- 6—Sponsorship of tours of student organizations.
- 7—Support of the University Development and Endowment program.
- 8—Personal contacts to publicize favorably the entire school.

Many alumni of the general university have, in the past, felt little need of further association with either the Dental School in particular or the university in general. Basic in the activities of the past has been the need to retain individual school loyalties while at the same time bringing about a unified concern for the total university.

Report of Historian-Archivist

The duties of the historian-archivist are "to keep all papers presented before the Association, to keep all records of an (sic) historical nature not included in the secretary's records", and to safeguard records by seeing that they are properly housed.

The "papers" presented at the triennial meeting were of two kinds: those presented at the scientific sessions, and those presented at the triennial banquet.

None of the first group was made available to the historian-archivist.

Those of the second group consisted of the presentation of the distinguished alumnus, Dr. J. S. Hopkins, and of the guest of honor, Dr. Katharine Toomey, and their responses. These papers are being gathered by the editor for publication in the next number of the Alma Mater.

No records that might have been accumulated by former historian-archivists were delivered to the present incumbent. In the circumstances, the housing of any appropriate historical records of the Association has not been a problem.

No recommendations.

Research Grants

Microbiology

The first training grant ever made for dental microbiology by the National Institutes of Health has been awarded to Dr. Donald E. Shay, professor and head of the Department of Microbiology of the University of Maryland Schools of Dentistry and Pharmacy.

This award of $147,000 in addition to research grants of $20,000, makes a total of $167,000 available to the department to expand graduate training in microbiology, and to provide financial assistance to qualified graduate students, both predoctoral and postdoctoral.

Dr. Shay has trained 31 graduate students in the last sixteen years. Of these, nineteen have earned an M.S. and four a Ph.D. degree. Four more are now completing requirements for an advanced degree.

Dr. Shay, who is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College in Pennsylvania, earned his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Maryland.

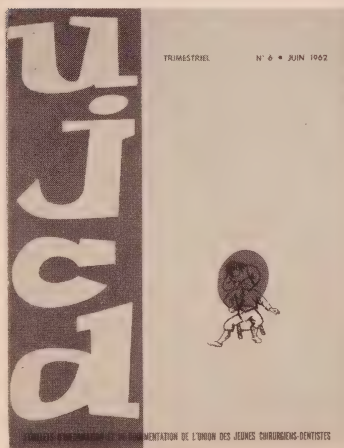

Since returning to Maryland, he has published 38 scientific articles in such journals as: The Journal of Dental Research, the American Journal of Public Health, the Journal of Dental Education, the Journal of the American Dental Association and the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Many of his publications concern the transmission of micrococci in dental and surgical areas.

Histology

Dr. Sue-ning C. Barry, recently appointed assistant professor in the Department of Histology and Embryology, has been awarded a research grant by the Public Health Service. The grant amounts to $17,990 for the first year and $6,968 for two additional years and it is directed in the study of carbohydrate metabolism in oral Streptococci. Dr. D. Vincent Provenza and Dr. Donald E. Shay are the co-investigators and consultants for this project.

The Alma Mater is owned and published by the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland and issued annually in the month of November. Material submitted for publication should be sent to the Editor. Subscription rate is $1.50 per year. For information concerning advertising, write to the Business Manager. "Be it resolved that the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, and the staff of this journal, although publishing reports of the various officers, standing committees, essays and other material submitted to the staff of this journal, accept no responsibility for the opinions, theories, and criticisms therein contained".

President's Message

I wish to extend greetings and my sincere best wishes to all alumni of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, who receive this Alma Mater, whether an inactive alumnus or an active dues paying member.

L. LYNN EMMART

The objectives of the Alumni Association, as outlined in the constitution, are summarized as follows:

1. To foster good will and further the development of the high ethical standards among the graduates.
2. To establish grants, gifts, scholarships, and other endowments.
3. To encourage from the membership loyalty and aid to support and maintain the traditions of the oldest and the finest dental school in the world.

Our active dues paying membership, at the time of publication of the Alma Mater, will be close to one thousand or slightly less than twenty-five percent of those receiving the publication. So to those who receive the Alma Mater and are not dues paying active members, send your check for ten dollars immediately to our treasurer, and participate in the activities of your Alumni Association. You will never regret it.

We hope to see you at the alumni breakfast in Washington this winter during the meeting of the District of Columbia Dental Society and we hope you will join us during our June Week festivities at Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland in June. The year 1965 will be the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of our Alma Mater. At this time our association is planning a large celebration; plans for this have already been initiated as of June 30, 1963.

I am sincerely grateful for the trust placed in me to serve as your president and with the help of all the alumni I will serve you with the best of my ability. In closing, may I again urge you to become active dues paying members and help support your Alumni Association, the alumni association of the oldest and finest dental school in the world.

Editorial

Do You Want The Alma Mater?

One of the largest expenses of our Alumni Association is the cost of the publication of this journal, the Alma Mater. It needs your financial support for its existence. There are approximately four thousand alumni of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland. Not even one thousand are dues paying members. Both at the annual business meetings and at the meetings of the Executive Council, it has been suggested that this Journal be sent only to those who pay their dues. Do not take the chance of missing a single issue. Send ten dollars to our treasurer, Jesse Trager, 687 Baltimore National Pike, Ellicott City, Maryland.

* * * * *

To facilitate the proper functioning of a journal, there should be established minimum standards for the acceptance of advertising copy. Until recently, no such guide lines were available. By adopting an advertising code, the quality of the advertising copy will be maintained, and the staff of the journal would be guided so that the distinction may be made between advertising which is acceptable and that which is not acceptable to this association. Regulations limit activity, or guide activity in a particular direction. Without such a code, the policy making decision is in the hands of an individual or at the most, a small group.

The following regulations are recommended by the Council on Dental Journalism of the American Dental Association and The American Association of Dental Editors. It is to be noted that these regulations will adequately serve the needs of our society and this journal.

GUIDELINES FOR AN ADVERTISING CODE*

1. The advertising code should provide that the publication accept no advertising that might encourage a dentist to neglect his professional responsibility or violate the codes of ethics to which he is expected to adhere.

2. The advertising code should protect the health and welfare of the public by demanding scientific evidence of the safety and effectiveness of the products advertised.

3. The advertising code should provide that advertising uphold the dignity of the profession. Advertising text or illustrations, whether for dental or nondental products or services, should not be blatant, in bad taste or derogatory of other products or services.

4. The advertising code itself should comply with federal and state laws, including antitrust statutes and dental practice laws, and should provide that all advertisements comply with these laws.

* Reprinted from the Journal of the American Dental Association, July 1963, Vol. 67, No. 1, pages 154-155.

Suggestions For Determining Eligibility Of An Advertisement

Dental materials. The formulation and revision of specifications for dental materials . . . are revised regularly and published in the Guide to Dental Materials.

In the case of a product for which no specification has been established or one which does not appear on the List of Certified Dental Materials, the manufacturer should be requested to submit evidence for any claims made in advertising the product.

Sources which might be consulted or contacted for assistance when determining whether an advertisement of a dental material should be accepted are: (1) the brochure, Guide to Dental Materials, published by the Council on Dental Research, and (2) the Secretary of the Council on Dental Research, American Dental Association.

Dental drugs and other therapeutic agents and devices. Sources which might be consulted or contacted for assistance when determining whether an advertisement of such products [drug or other agents] should be accepted: (1) the book, Accepted Dental Remedies, published by the Council on Dental Therapeutics of the American Dental Association, (2) the Secretary of the Council on Dental Therapeutics when the product in question is not listed, and (3) the book, New and Nonofficial Drugs, published by the American Medical Association, [and] . . . Advertising Alert, published and furnished by the Federal Trade Commission without charge upon application.

Insurance. Because of strict government regulations it should not be difficult to determine the acceptability of an advertisement for an insurance company. As a precautionary measure, a dental society might . . . [seek information] . . . from the Insurance Commission of the state in which the company is chartered that the company is in good standing with that office. Additional information may be obtained by consulting a reputable insurance broker or by consulting an insurance company directory such as Best and Company's Insurance Guide (Alfred M. Best Company, 10 S. LaSalle St., Chicago).

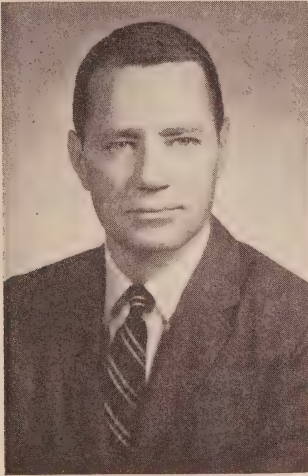

Dental Laboratories. When weighing the eligibility of a dental laboratory advertisement, a dental society advertising manager might be guided by the two following suggestions: (1) The dental laboratory or its advertising should not induce or entice or attempt to induce or entice a dentist to neglect his professional responsibility or delegate this responsibility to one less qualified than himself and (2) the dental laboratory should not advertise to, or work directly for, the public in contravention of applicable dental practice acts.

Dean Salley's Message

It is a privilege for me to have this opportunity of extending greetings to the Alumni of our School. You form an important arm of our total program and the interest and loyalty you have displayed is a source of real satisfaction to those of us who comprise the academic family of your Alma Mater. Already, it is quite apparent to me that the focus of your support is on continued improvement and expansion of dental education here at the University. This is as it should be and I am grateful for it.

You are all aware of the great progress that the dental profession is making. Better scientific and technologic methods to serve our patients are being devised; the complexities relating to oral disease etiology and treatment are being sought out; we are being made more and more aware of the many social and community responsibilities incumbent on us as servants of our fellowman; the rapport between dentists and members of other health professions is being improved. These critical self-evaluations are signs of our times, and this listing of emerging professional patterns could go on ad infinitum. We in dental education must be ever cognizant of these trends and attitudes in the practicing profession—indeed, it is obligatory that we maintain a forward position in the march of progress in order that our graduates will be true reflections of the best that dentistry can offer. While many of these newer concepts and practices gain acceptance, the classic principles founded in previous years must also be watched over and strengthened. These classics are the cornerstones on which our present professional capacities are built and although we may strike a new and more functional design in the stone's surface, its solidity should remain.

Dentistry at the University of Maryland can indeed be considered as one of the cornerstones in the evolution of dental education and practice. There is no question of the unique position which we occupy in dental history and tradition. While we may be rightfully proud of our past accomplishments and heritage, we must keep an eye to our future. In this connection we hope to be moving soon into a period of greater

A SURVEY OF THE DENTAL NEEDS OF NURSING HOME RESIDENTS IN BALTIMORE, MARYLAND*

By HENRY J. VAN HASSEL, B.A.

The United States Public Health Service through its Division of State Services cooperates with state and city health departments in programs which have implications in the national public health program. It has been determined that information on the dental condition and dental needs of nursing home residents would be valuable in determining what type program might be instituted to meet the dental needs of the chronically ill and aged.^{1,2,3} Surveys to obtain such data have been conducted in Kansas City, Missouri; Richmond, Virginia, and other areas as a joint effort of the Public Health Service and local official agencies.^{4,5,6,7,8}

Since forms and methods to be used in the examinations were originated and developed during previous surveys, it was decided that an additional survey in Baltimore, Maryland, might be conducted by a dental student following generally prescribed routines. Accordingly, the Public Health Service under its Commissioned Officer Student Training and Extern Program (COSTEP)⁹ recruited the author when he was a junior student attending the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, for a survey in Baltimore in the summer of 1961. This survey, the subject of this paper, was conducted among the residents of representative nursing homes in Baltimore City.

Preliminary conferences and correspondence between the representatives of the state, city, and United States Public Health Service were held to formalize plans for the survey. Upon being called to active duty the author was assigned to the regional office of the Public Health Service at Charlottesville, Virginia, for several weeks of orientation in survey methods.

PROCEDURE

Final plans for the survey were completed in early July. It was decided that the survey would be limited to nursing homes within the confines of Baltimore City. Time did not permit a survey of all homes in the city, however. The homes to be visited were selected on a basis of availability and their contribution toward a representative sample. Thus, one of the first things ascertained was the degree of cooperation to be expected from a home's administration and residents. Having determined which homes were amenable to being included in the survey, it was next necessary to select those to be visited.

It was decided to include homes of both large and small size in the survey and to examine a population which was in close correspondence on a percentage basis with the over-all population to be found in the city's nursing homes as to race, sex, and financial condition. It was estimated that a population which was one-third male and two-thirds female, one-third nonwhite and two-thirds white, and one-half self-supporting and one-half government supported would meet these requirements.

Thirteen different nursing homes were selected to meet this requirement. They ranged in size from 25 to 129 residents. A total of 1,029 persons were resident in them at the time of survey. The homes were visited to arrange specific survey dates during the months of July and August.

The author was the sole examiner throughout the survey. A dental assistant assigned to the survey by the Baltimore City Health Department recorded the findings.

The actual mechanics of the survey were as follows. The examiner and recorder arrived at the home after breakfast had been served and established rapport with the administrative personnel. Prior to beginning the day's examinations certain information was obtained from the home's records and personnel. This included such items as the resident's age, continence, ability to pay for dental care, length of residence at the home, mobility, and medical history. Most of the examinations were performed at bedside. Mouth mirror, explorer, and tongue blade were used to examine the teeth and adnexa. Dental napkins were provided for denture wearers. Illumination in most cases was provided by a strong flashlight.

Hygienic considerations included the use of freshly sterilized instruments and a finger cot by the examiner in each case. All instruments were autoclaved after use and were stored in a 1 to 500 solution of zephiran chloride in a glass sterilizing container.

The examiner observed the oral cavity and indicated findings to the recorder who completed a form on each patient. After five examinations had been recorded, the examiner reviewed the recorded findings and completed a section on treatment recommendations. It was felt that a more accurate appraisal of the needs could be made while the findings were fresh in the examiner's mind and while the examinee and staff of the nursing home were available for further information if necessary. When the residents of each home had been examined, the information obtained was tabulated. This procedure was adhered to throughout the survey.

DATA RECORDED

Provisions were made for recording various aspects of individual oral and general conditions. Since the number of conditions of interest in the survey was large, and the size of the form used to record the data relatively small, a system of coding was necessary. This coding was so devised that the data might later be adapted for compilation and analysis by I. B. M. machines.

The condition of each individual tooth space in the examinee's mouth was noted. Possible categories included normal, missing, filled carious, replaced normal, replaced defective, indicated for extraction, unerupted, imbedded root, and the like. At times more than one code was required to describe a tooth. For example, many teeth were filled and also carious. Some conditions such as the presence of root canal therapy or cysts could not be adequately identified without the help of radiographic examination, pulp testing, or other adjuncts. In these cases an impression was recorded pending the performance of confirmatory tests.

In the event that an examinee was found to be edentulous, a different recording method was used. Rather than enter a finding for each tooth space the mouth was considered by arches. The categories recorded were edentulous with no replacements, edentulous with replacements, or any combination such as edentulous upper jaw only, no replacements. In each case of an edentulous arch the length of time since the last tooth in that arch was lost was recorded. In each case of a full denture replacement the length of time it had been in service was recorded.

Attention was also paid to the existing teeth in the arch as to the condition of each tooth surface. A recording was made of caries and restorations by tooth surface as found.

The condition of the periodontium about each tooth was an item of examination. This evaluation was based on a universally accepted system of classification.¹⁰ Using this method a score of 0 was given when there was found to be neither overt inflammation of the investing tissues nor loss of function due to the destruction of supporting tissues about the tooth. A score of 1 and a finding of mild gingivitis resulted from finding in the free gingiva an overt area of inflammation. Gingivitis, scored as 2, was considered to exist when the inflammation completely circumscribed the tooth though no apparent break in the epithelial attachment was evident. More severe gingivitis with pocket formation was recorded and scored as 6 when there was a break in the epithelial attachment and pocket formation had resulted. However, only if the tooth were loose in its socket, showed signs of drifting, sounded dull to percussion with the mirror handle, or was depressible in its socket was the final category, advanced destruction with loss of masticatory function, invoked. This condition received a score of 8. Scores of 3, 4, 5, and 7 are based on the radiographic appearance of the supporting bone and were not applicable to this survey. By averaging the score for each tooth it is possible for a reviewer to arrive at an intelligent appraisal of the periodontal condition of the mouth as a whole.

The above system, Russell's periodontal index, was first presented in an article in the Journal of Dental Research in 1956¹¹. It has since become accepted as a standard epidemiological tool for the evaluation of periodontal conditions. Several other systems of periodontal evaluation have been evolved, but Russell's method is the most widely used.¹²

DENTAL CONDITION BY AGE GROUP

With the aid of Russell's system and recourse to examination of the mouth as a whole a further rating of the general periodontal condition of the examinee was made. A recording of 1 or normal indicated that the gingivae were clear, pink, firm, and had the proper amount of stippling for the age of the patient. Non-inflammatory hyperplasias such as are caused by dilatin or hormonal imbalance were recorded as normal but noted elsewhere. The mouth was given a rating of 2 and gingivitis was considered to exist where superficial inflammation of the gingival tissues and the loss of the normally sharply defined margins were observed. The presentation of a smooth, glossy gingival surface which was red or maroon in color was also considered indicative. Periodontitis, rated 3, was considered the result of untreated gingivitis with extension of the inflammation to deeper periodontal structures, actual pocket formation and the loss of alveolar bone. Obvious tooth wandering and extensive bone loss constituted the final division.

Under the category of "other diagnostic findings" a simple record was made of unusual conditions such as epulis fis-surata, severe malocclusion, tori, soft tissue lesions, supernumerary teeth, fluorosis, severe abrasion, leukoplakia, ankyloglossia, abscesses, and the like. In the same section of the form for recording were the "treatment desired" and "ability to pay" sections. As noted previously, the latter was determined by questioning the administrators of the respective homes. All findings are confidential. Once tabulated, statistical information may be considered publishable. If the examinee appeared to be in command of his faculties, he was asked personally whether he would be interested in having his dental defects repaired should such service be available to him.

It is worthy of brief mention that the planned utilization of I. B. M. equipment for data analysis definitely affected the recording code used. Two code types were used. First, where a condition was present or not present as the only two possibilities, a simple code of 0 or 1 was used. That is, 0 was used if the condition were absent, and 1 if it were present. For all data in which there were more than two possible entries a double digit system had to be used. In this system 0 is used for not applicable, and 1 to 99 are then available to code any observed conditions.

FINDINGS

As previously noted, 1,029 persons were in residence in the 13 nursing homes which were included in the survey. Of these, 939 were available and examined, and the findings included in the survey results. It is interesting to note that 463 of 939 examinees, or 49%, were edentulous. Although 68 edentulous persons had a maxillary denture, not a single person was examined who possessed a mandibular denture without a maxillary one. Neither of the two persons examined who were over 100 years of age was edentulous.

Very few partial dentures were found to be in use, nor were more than a few fixed prosthetic restorations observed. In general, if an examinee possessed the former it was displayed in a cup with the comment that it wasn't worn often.

There were 236 of 476, or 49.5%, of the individuals with natural teeth suffering from some form of periodontal disease which was correctable short of full-mouth extraction. Nearly 34% had reached a periodontal condition where full-mouth extraction was necessary. There were, therefore, only 78 persons, or 8%, of the 939 examined who had natural teeth and were without periodontal disease.

Data pertinent to the care of dental disorders but not necessarily dental in character were recorded. Thus, 512 examinees, or 54.5%, could walk unassisted to a dental operating area, 226, or 24.1%, could be conveyed to the area by means of the help of a wheelchair or an attendant, and 201, or 21.4%, were confined to their beds or the immediate area.

Initially the financing inquiry was scheduled to report on those who defray their own expenses, were totally dependent on family, were partially dependent on family, or were financed by one or more government agencies. This detailed breakdown proved to be impractical and the final data were limited to government financed and non-government financed. On this basis 53% were of the former and 47% of the latter classification.

DISCUSSION

That approximately 10% of the residents were not examined may be attributed to such factors as a lack of cooperation on the part of the patient, extremely deleterious medical condition, and psychological reasons. Of the 939 examined, 308 were men, and 631 were women. There were 641 white and 298 nonwhite examinees. These figures correspond quite well with the two-thirds to one-third ratio forecast during the original procedure of selecting the homes to constitute the sample. The ages of the residents ranged from 26 to 103 years with a mean age of 76 years. Length of residency in the nursing homes varied from one day to 25 years, with an average of 31 months. It is to be understood that the length of residency recorded was of the particular examinee in the particular home. A person who had transferred from a different nursing home might have had a longer total nursing home residency.

Recommendations for treatment included all procedures necessary to restore the mouth to the best possible dental health considering the examinee's present situation and future prospects of maintaining good oral hygiene. Periodontal treatment would generally be recommended in all cases of periodontal disease except where the advanced stage of the disease made full-mouth extraction and the construction of dentures more advisable. The number of teeth to be filled was not necessarily the number of teeth found to be carious in examination for prevalence of these items. Some of these teeth may not be filled, because the placement of full dentures may require their extraction. Other teeth warranted extraction which were not carious or even periodontally involved but which were inadequate in themselves to support partial dentures. These teeth were considered for extraction for the placement of full dentures.

Generally speaking, the indications for the construction of a fixed or removable partial prosthesis were based on accepted dental practice. These recommendations would, of course, be subject to review after radiograph and study cast analysis.

The treatability of an examinee was an area in which it was necessary to be as consistent as possible in evaluation for the study to be meaningful. An examinee was considered fully treatable if he could be given complete care, and it would be wise to give such care. Should, for example, an edentulous examinee need full dentures but be too mentally disturbed to use them, he would be adjudged to be untreatable. Should the same person have had two remaining teeth which were being retained to the detriment of his general health, it would be considered that extractions were feasible, and he would be classified as partially treatable. Some cases fitted into no exact classification and were recorded as questionable.

In this study 165 persons, or 18%, were classified as untreatable. This figure may be compared to that reported by Lotzkar in Kansas City from a similar survey in which 35% were considered untreatable.¹³ In the latter study, however, no "questionable" category was used. If one-half of the 226, or 24%, considered "questionable" in this study were to eventually be adjudged untreatable (which is a reasonable possibility) there would be good correspondence between the results of the two surveys.

If the designation "untreatable" were given to a patient in the present survey, an endeavor was made to show why. A person was medically untreatable if he was in the terminal stage of an illness that rendered him incapable of receiving dental care. Likewise, if a patient had a medical condition that made it impossible to give him dental treatment except under general anesthesia or if he might have suffered a reaction which would place his life in danger as a result of dental treatment, he was considered to be medically untreatable. A dentally untreatable person was one who had no ridges for the support of dentures or a like condition. Should a patient prove to be so mentally disturbed that it was apparent that dental treatment could neither be accepted nor utilized, he was considered to be psychologically untreatable. The category "other" includes, among other conditions, extreme advanced age.

The mobility of a patient is rightly considered in arriving at a treatment recommendation. This factor indicates the number of patients who might present special problems in treatment. It should be noted that persons classified as "walked only with the help of an attendant" and "never walked" were those who were able to sit in a chair. They were not confined to bed as were those who were categorized as "bedfast."

SUMMARY

The findings of this survey indicate that the nursing home residents examined are in need of dental care. The most pressing and prevalent needs are for periodontal treatment, extraction, and full denture construction.

It is to be stressed that the study reported here is but a segment of a larger nation-wide survey. Until more data are available based on a broader sample it is perhaps best to reserve judgment on the significance of the material reported here. It is hoped that this survey did demonstrate, however, that a dental student may be utilized to gather meaningful information on dental conditions provided prescribed procedures for examination and reporting are followed, and frequent supervision by dentists in the public service is maintained.

June Week 1963

June Week 1963 opened Thursday morning, June 6, with registration of returning Alumni held in the lounge of the Student Union Building on the Baltimore Campus. The annual business meeting was held the same morning following the meeting of the Trustees of the Alumni Association. Minutes of these meetings appear elsewhere in this issue of The Alma Mater.

Afternoon activities on Thursday began with an open Past President's luncheon served on the patio of the Student Union Building. For golfers, the annual outing was held at the Hillendale Country Club in the Dulaney Valley, north of Baltimore. The tee-off was preceded by luncheon served at the club.

Individual class reunions were held Thursday evening, June 6, at various hotels and meeting places in Baltimore and vicinity. Reports from each class correspondent will be found following this article.

Friday, June 7, was highlighted by the morning Pre-commencement Exercises, which for the first time were held in the auditorium of the Health Sciences Library. Awards were presented to the degree candidates and the hooding ceremony completed. The speaker for the morning was Major General Joseph Bernier, Chief of the United States Army Dental Corps and Assistant to the Surgeon General of the United States Army. His inspiring talk was well received and greatly appreciated by those in attendance, particularly by the Class of 1963.

Luncheon followed the morning exercises and was served buffet style in the dining area of the Baltimore Union with two hundred and forty-five in attendance. It is hoped that in future years a similar luncheon will be planned. During the afternoon free hours the time was utilized for rest, relaxation and individual sight-seeing in the rapidly changing downtown Baltimore.

Friday evening the scene of the festivities shifted to the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel for the annual dinner-dance. Cocktails were served in the Assembly Room of the hotel and were followed by a dinner of roast beef or Maryland imperial crab served in the Main Ballroom. After din-

Gaver's absence, Dr. Calvin J. Gaver accepted the award in his uncle's behalf. (Later that evening, Dr. Grayson W. Gaver passed away.)

On behalf of the Alumni Association, Dr. Toomey presented the University a portrait of retiring Dean Myron S. Aisenberg. Dr. Elkins accepted it on behalf of the University. The portrait was unveiled by Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Aisenberg and was found to depict Dean Aisenberg in his various areas of interest—hunter, pathologist, teacher and administrator.

The formal part of the program was concluded with the presentation by Dr. Toomey, of the new president of the Alumni Association, Dr. L. Lynn Emmart. After Dr. Emmart and his new officers were installed Dr. Emmart's first official act was to present Dr. Toomey with a past president's key.

The evening continued with dancing and concluded with the serving of buns and coffee.

Reunions

Class of 1913

Reservations for six members of the Class of 1913 were made at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel. On the afternoon of June 6 we had a delightful cocktail party. This was followed later in the evening with dinner at the Pimlico House where the memories of the past were discussed by all. On Friday, June 7, we attended the program of awards at the Library Auditorium. At this time we were issued a certificate for personal merit and professional achievement for 50 years of service. A luncheon was held at the Student Union Building. The class reunion dinner was held at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel along with the Alumni Association dinner and dance honoring retiring Dean Myron S. Aisenberg, Distinguished Alumnus for 1963, Dr. Grayson W. Gaver and the graduating class. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. George A. Bunch, Dr. and Mrs. Elbert C. Carpenter, Dr. Joel Fleishman and guest, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Jenkins, Dr. John W. Ross, Dr. and Mrs. Durward T. Waller and Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Niedentohl. There were no class pictures. The class of 1913 is grateful for the cooperation of officers of the Alumni Association and the chairmen of the Arrangements Committee.

N. L. NIENTENTH, Chairman

Class of 1918

The Class of 1918 celebrated its forty-fifth anniversary during June Week 1963. On Thursday evening, June 6, the members of the class attended a dinner in the Red Room at the Sheraton Belvedere.

Those present were: John E. Abbott, Pulaski, New York; Brownie Lewis Biales, Durham, North Carolina; Joseph W. Baker, Mineral, Virginia; Clarence Cohen, Hampstead, New York; Harold R. Cooper, Perryville, Maryland; William A. Gray, Baltimore, Maryland; Leonard E. Hamel, Baltimore, Maryland; Walter E. Hutson, Baltimore, Maryland; E. Leroy Knoebel, Baltimore, Maryland; William J. Murray, New London, Connecticut; Samuel L. Slovin, Baltimore, Maryland; Dr. Katharine Toomey, Baltimore, Maryland; and Dan O. Via, Charlottesville, Virginia.

The graduating class of 1918 was a large one and in some respects an outstanding one from the old dental school on Greene Street. Dr. Katharine Toomey was our guest of honor. We were delighted and happy to have her with us. Especially so, because we all started about the same time in the old building on the east side of Greene Street.

We are already looking forward to a gala reunion of fifty years in 1968.

EDWARD LEROY KNOEBEL, Chairman

Class of 1923

(U. of M.)

Seventeen members of the Class of 1923 returned for our reunion. The 40th Anniversary seemed a very important event, and it was hoped that we could have one hundred percent present, but seventeen out of twenty-six (still alive) is a good average. We feel that those of us who have survived the rigors of forty years in practice and enjoy good health are most fortunate.

Aside from receding hair lines and a little bulge in the waist line, all appeared in good shape.

The reunion was held in the Blue Room of the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel. The social period preceding the dinner gave all a chance to reminisce many amusing events of our school days; the fathers and grandfathers had a chance to brag about their children and grandchildren. Bill Kiser appears to hold the record for the most grandchildren. Visiting with us were our good friends Dean Aisenberg, Drs. Katharine Toomey and Gerard (Red) Devlin.

It is our prayer that we will all be around for our 45th and 50th anniversaries and in the meantime enjoy good health and prosperity.

Letters of regret were received from Perry, Davidson, Prather, Hogan, Schmalenbach and Miss Brickner (Mrs. Joseph Reich).

Those faithful members present were:

Adair, Ashby, Brown, Cook, Coward, Crowley, Karn, Kayne, Kiser, Nimocks, Pressly, Richards, Silberman, Walsh, Wasserberg, Whitehead and Dean McCarthy of Baylor University.

Class of 1923

(B.C.D.S.)

The Alpha and the Omega

The year was 1923. The month was June. The day was unbearable. The group sweating it out was the last graduating class of B.C.D.S. As usual, the rumors were as thick as a sot's tongue, and just as clear. No one knew who would take over the school. Would it be U. of M.? Will it be Hopkins? Who will graduate? Who would flunk? The expected tragedy, in such a quandry would be "which" school would accept you.

The actions of the men varied. Some just continued to drink, others were busy chewing their nails to the quick. The rest were just doing the usual worrying.

There you have the Alpha and the Omega.

The last graduating class of the first dental school in the world. I undertook the gathering of the clan with trepidation and a sense of foreboding, but I had promised our Dean Aisenberg, that I would.

Out of 75 men who graduated, thirty-five are known to be alive as of 1963. Twenty-five are now attending the class of the "Great Dean". Ten letters were returned—"Not At". Of the thirty-five living graduates, nine were present at the 40th reunion. A number had written me that, because of illness and other things they were unable to attend. Most of the letters were very touching and sentimental.

I had prepared the following itinerary. The boys were to meet at The Lord Baltimore Hotel, where a sightseeing bus would take them on a tour of the city in which they, not only received their education, but spent four beautiful, youthful years, with all the worry, work, and heartbreak. Starting with a visit to the U. of M., the next stop was the old school, B.C.D.S. on Howard Street. A number of tears were shed silently, in fond memory of those youthful years. Just to have the privilege of recalling our school days, was worth the trip.

IN RETROSPECT

In some far corner of the clinic, you could see Barry Moss trying to sell someone the idea of making an easy buck or Perly trying to borrow a plugger without success. Harry Spritz trying to plug a Class IV, but to him, it looked like a Class XIV. Those were the days.

Anyway, after the rubberneck tour of the city and the unsuccessful attempt to try to find some of the old hangouts, the young nine were taken to the Gaslight Inn where the boys were regaled with drinks, followed by a menu that was fit for a king. Lend me your ear for a while and listen. They started with shrimp cocktail, olives and celery. A prime sirloin steak ($6.75 each, if you please), baked potato, asparagus, followed by a green mint parfait, coffee and a cordial. All this was served to the men by two attractive young ladies with the briefest of costumes.

After relating their experiences since the last reunion, the men were finally in a condition to return to their hotels.

The anticlimax was that I was sick ten days before the event and was forced to miss what I had planned for the past three months. It almost broke my heart. But like true soldiers, Dan Mack and Barry Moss took over, and in their grand way of fellowship and brotherhood, carried on. God bless them.

The stars of the entire day were Mrs. Moss and Mrs. Beerman. They made the day, when they appeared and met the following men who were present:

H. P. Beerman

Gerard A. Devlin

Leo F. Gervais and Friend

Dan Mack

Clement McGrail

Vincent J. McGrail

J. Harry Morris

Barry Moss

My sincere hope is, that our Maker will be good enough to permit us to return for the 45th anniversary. In friendship and brotherhood, I am,

JACOB E. POLLACK, Chairman.

Class of 1928

In order to pay homage to Doctor Aisenberg and Doctor Gaver, the Class of 1928 changed its style and date of reunion and met on Friday, June 8th. We gathered in the Red and Homewood rooms at the Belvedere Hotel beginning at two in the afternoon for refreshments and fellowship. One of our classmates, Dr. Paquita Guerra, of San Turce, Puerto Rico, was hospitalized at The Johns Hopkins Hospital with a broken leg and the large, heavy cast prevented her from coming to the hotel. At 3:30 P.M. the assembled group went in taxi-cabs to Hopkins to see Paquita. We presented her 28 red roses and of course everyone had to sign the cast on her leg. After Les Gallen took the picture we returned to the Belvedere to continue with our reminiscences. At 6:00 P.M. we closed off the afternoon session to attend the Alumni Banquet. Thirty-four classmates returned for our reunion. They were:

Class of 1933

On the evening of Saturday, June 8, 1963, at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel, history was made. Never before that memorable evening had the Class of 1933 held its 30th Reunion, and the memory of the happy event shall linger on until the 35th.

The surprised and bewildered shouts of recognition, the warm, firm and friendly hand clasps and the profusion of clumsy, masculine embraces all blended to create a nostalgic camaraderie that stamps a 30th reunion as one at which the participants are too old to be boisterous but sufficiently young to be rambunctious. Sixty ladies and gentlemen (including 29 class members) partook of cocktails, a dinner and dancing.

The occasion was saddened by the prior death of Dr. Grayson Gaver, who was one of the two invited guests, and it was more than brightened by the presence of genial and engaging Dr. Walter Oggeson and his charming, affable wife.

Class of 1938

The 25th reunion of the Class of 1938 was held on June 6, 1963 at the Belvedere Hotel. Following a cocktail party those who attended enjoyed a banquet dinner and each couple received a silver cigarette box as a permanent memento. There was continuous music throughout and it was gratifying to know that there are some in our class who can twist.

Dean Aisenberg and Dr. Katharine Toomey were pleasant surprises as were the returning graduates who came from distant parts of the country to help make the evening a success.

Preliminary plans are now underway for the 30th with the New Jersey contingents as the host group and Atlantic City as the site.

Of the total class, there was approximately fifty percent representation with sixteen graduates coming from out of the state.

We were pleased that nearly all of those returning brought their wives, who added so much to the decor and the general conviviality of the evening. The local committee is to be congratulated for their efforts to small details which gave us an evening long to be remembered.

Class of 1943

(March and November)

At 6:30 P.M. on Thursday, June 6, the crowd began to gather at the Emerson Hotel. The main ballroom was decked out in a gala manner for the celebration. Our old favorite tunes were played on the piano while we toasted each other and exchanged greetings during the cocktail hours. By the time the festive crowd of graduates of 1943 and their wives sat down to dinner, Lee Ogilvie's orchestra was already enlivening the occasion with his swinging dance music. Lewis Libby and Morton Hollander rose to formally greet and welcome the assemblage, which now numbered 114, and asked a blessing before dinner was begun. A sumptuous, full course repast to delight the heart of an epicure was served and followed by trays of cordial brought in by candlelight as the main lights were dimmed and the band played an appropriate strain. Very few people left after dinner, and the dancing and festivities continued until 1 A.M. Many who attended had not seen their classmates for the twenty years since graduation. The reunion seemed to end too soon, as reluctant goodbyes were said.

The Blue Crest North in Pikesville, Maryland will never be the same after the ten year reunion held there by the Class of 1953. In a luxurious setting and with the decor worthy of a king and his entourage, the class with accompanying wives consumed their weight in pre-dinner hot hors d'oeuvres and cocktails. Following a delicious dinner, those that had enough energy danced to the fine music of "The Staffords".

Favors were received by everyone present. The ladies received lovely orchid corsages of varying colors, and the men received beer steins, engraved with the school seal. No doubt some of the fellows were using their beer steins as martini containers, for no one seemed to be bored all evening. Not to be outdone by their Yankee cousins, the southern contingent kept the party alive with their Rebel yells and their southern style twist. It would be impossible to single out any one person or persons who were live wires because everyone seemed to be participating in the fun.

Of the 106 present, 50 came with their wives and the 6 who came stag had the most fun of all. We are sorry to report that Louis Medeiros was in town but was unable to attend because he was ill.

Class of 1958

The Class of 1958 held its five year reunion on Thursday evening, June 6, 1963, at the Holiday Motel West, located on Route 40 at Rolling Road.

Sixty-eight classmates, including wives, enjoyed a cocktail party from 6:30 to 8:00 P.M., followed by a dinner of roast beef or imperial crab.

Dr. Yam Hin Louie was our honorary class president. Dr. and Mrs. Louie were our guests of honor for the evening. Invocation was given by Dick Hemphill. Bob Goren made an excellent master of ceremonies, and called on Dr. Louie for a few words but not on the physical properties of amalgam. Each class officer brought greetings to the class. Each man was then called on to tell where he is practicing.

Everyone is looking forward to the tenth reunion; we are hoping for a better turnout.

The A.D.A. Meeting

The annual reception and cocktail party of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland was held at the meeting of the American Dental Association in the North Card Room of the Hotel Fontainebleau, Miami Beach, Florida, on October 29th, at 6:30 P.M. The reception was a great success. It was observed that of all the receptions going on at this time, this was the most enjoyable and best attended. Everyone enjoyed seeing old acquaintances and reminiscing about their school days at Lombard and Greene Streets.

The breakfast was held at 8:00 A.M. the next morning. Seated at the head table were: Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg, Dean of the Dental School, Dr. Katharine Toomey, Dr. Joseph P. Cappuccio, Dr. L. Lynn Emmart, Professor Gardner P. H. Foley, Dr. Ernest B. Nuttall, Dr. Irving I. Abramson, Dr. William Fridinger, Dr. Lawrence W. Bimestefer, Dr. Kyrle W. Preis, Dr. C. Adam Bock, and Dr. J. Ben Robinson, Dean Emeritus. Dr. Cappuccio, presiding officer, called upon Dr. Aisenberg to bring the membership up to date on the progress of the new dental school and changes in the present school. Dr. Aisenberg pointed out many of the problems in obtaining adequate facilities for a new dental school. He noted that the new dean would have not only the problem of assuming leadership of a new school, but also would be faced with the task of drawing up the final plans for a brand new physical plant. Dr. Robinson was then called upon for his comments. He described, in general, the facilities and functioning of the Dental School at West Virginia University. He suggested that this new school could provide many ideas not only for the physical plant, but also the organization and functioning of a new dental school at our alma mater.

As the final order of business, the Alumni were reminded to attend the activities of the association which would be planned during the A.D.A. meeting in Atlantic City in 1964.

Alumni Luncheon In Washington

A luncheon meeting of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery was held in the Terrace Banquet Room of the Shoreham Hotel on Tuesday, March 12, 1963. A luncheon was tried this year in hopes that it would be more convenient for the alumni to attend.

The luncheon was called to order by President Toomey who then asked Dr. William Strahan to give the invocation. The members present were encouraged to attend the June Week activities, and these events were described in detail. Dean Aisenberg was unable to be with us and sent a letter of regret explaining a prior commitment at the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology.

Those seated at the head table were: Drs. George B. Clendenin, L. Lynn Emmart, Joseph P. Cappuccio, Lewis C. Toomey, Major General Robert H. Mills, Richard F. Simmons. Dr. Joseph Cappuccio was asked to bring the members up to date on the progress of the new dental school and the selection of a new dean. Dr. Cappuccio encouraged all to join our association as life members, and explained the economy to the younger alumni.

Many of the old stalwarts were absent, but we were honored to have Major General Robert A. Mills and Dr. Richard F. Simmons of the Class of 1907 at the head table. We hope that those present will be with us next year and will endeavor to bring a friend.

New Jersey Alumni

The annual meeting of the New Jersey Alumni section of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, University of Maryland, was held at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, New Jersey on November 28, 1962.

The scientific program started at 3 P.M. with presentations by Dr. William Joule—Orthodontics for the General Practitioner, Dr. Joseph Martini—Temporo-Mandibular Joint Triad Syndrome, and Dr. Joseph Cappuccio—Surgical Diagnosis. These clinics were most informative and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

A cocktail hour followed, and dinner was served at 7:00 P.M. The blessing was given by Dr. Saul M. Gale.

Following dinner a short business meeting was conducted by our President, Dr. Nicholas A. Giuditta. The minutes were read by Secretary James Mahon and accepted as read. Our Treasurer Sam Byer reported a paid membership of 50 and a balance on hand of $758.56.

The nominating committee report was made by Dr. Gerard A. Devlin. The recommendations of the nominating committee received the unanimous vote of the membership.

The committee on Constitution and By Laws reported. Dr. Gerard Devlin, Chairman of this committee, explained that the New Jersey Constitution was patterned after that of the National Alumni Association. The recommendations of the committee received the unanimous vote of the membership.

The speakers followed. Dr. Joseph Cappuccio led off with a real pep talk stressing the role of the alumni in maintaining the outstanding reputation our school has enjoyed for so long.

Dr. Saul Gale then introduced our guest of honor, Dr. G. W. (Dick) Gaver. Saul's warm and genuine tributes summed up our feelings toward Dr. Gaver.

Dr. Gaver claiming to be out of character as a speaker, proceeded to give the New Jersey Alumni one of the most factual and informative talks we have ever heard. He explained the workings of the admissions board and brought us up to date on the progress and planning of the new dental school.

Telegrams of congratulations to Dr. G. W. Gaver from Dr. Lewis Toomey and Dr. Katharine Toomey were acknowledged and our meeting was adjourned by the new President, Dr. Elwood Snyder, Jr.

Alumni of Puerto Rico

On November 2, 1962, the Puerto Rican Chapter of the University of Maryland Dental School had their annual meeting at the elegant San Juan Yacht Club. As it has been the custom for the last several years, our "Maryland Night" was the first "buena fiesta" of the island dental convention. This was a very successful party with the largest number of alumni, with their wives and guests, in attendance.

Our party was even more of a success this year because our honor spotlights were focused on Dr. Katharine Toomey and Dr. José Medina.

Dr. Toomey was asked to honor us officially for the first time this year although we have enjoyed her visits, and her stories, several times before. She was lovely that evening, and to say it better, these were the words of her great friend Pilar Reguero: "She looks younger and prettier than when I was in Baltimore years ago".

Puerto Rico: Left to right 1) Pilar Reguero, Fernando Haddock, Katharine Toomey (receiving gift) 2) Jose Fuentes, 3) Jose Medina, 4) Louis Toro, 5) Alumni of Puerto Rico.

After Dr. Toomey brought us up to date on the affairs of our alma mater, the alumni presented her with a gold charm adequately inscribed so that she could add it to her "career high lights bracelet" and thus remember frequently "her boys and girls from Puerto Rico" for many, many years to come.

It was also a great honor and pleasure to have with us that evening Dr. José Medina, Professor and Chairman of our school's Department of Operative Dentistry, and an excellent teacher for many of us and, most important of all for us that evening, a fellow countryman. Dr. Medina was an honored guest, not only of the Maryland Alumni, but of the Puerto Rican Dental Association who had invited him as a clinician for their annual convention.

We also heard some inspiring words from this prominent colleague, excellent teacher and now (after graduation) a great friend. A friendly atmosphere predominated the evening; among other things, I remember hearing a former student of Dr. Medina say, "Now really, José, do you still make your students memorize the formulae of all those instruments?" Seriously, we did have a wonderful time that evening and we thoroughly enjoyed dedicating this "Maryland Night" to Dr. Katharine Toomey and Dr. Medina.

I must take advantage of this opportunity to express my personal gratitude and that of the Alumni Chapter in general to all the members that helped organize this celebration; particularly, Pilar Reguero and the officers, Fernando Haddock and our past president, Jose Fuentes, who did an excellent job last year.

LUIS TORO ALBARRACIN.

Our Heritage

Creative Imagination

ETHELBERT LOVETT, D.D.S.

Under the title of "Our Heritage" previous issues of The Alma Mater have carried this caption: "PROGRESS—THE MOST IMPORTANT PRODUCT". This expresses the truth that progress is a result. If you think of progress as a result, you must think of it as the result of something that has caused it; in other words, the product of something that has gone on before. Behind every step in human advancement, before any progress can be made, there has to be a spark to start the action, and that spark is creative imagination.

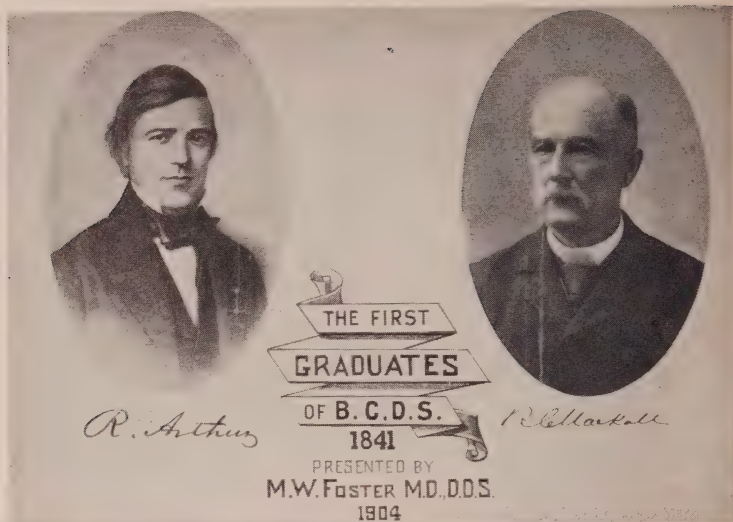

Creative imagination is the beginning of progress. It is the beginning of physical progress, it is the starting point of moral progress, it is the foundation of professional progress.

Civilization is essentially the result of man's creative ability. The discovery of fire, the invention of the wheel, and the bow and arrow, the use of the sail, and the domestication of animals, are records of human imagination. This quality is, without doubt, responsible for man's physical survival. Beyond mere survival imagination has caused man to conquer the physical world and it may lead him to subdue the universe. Einstein said, "Imagination is more important than knowledge." Certainly the harnessing of atomic energy was a spectacular triumph of human imagination over almost insuperable odds.

Shelly said that imagination is the greatest single instrument of moral good. By use of vicarious imagination we can form a mental bridge and put ourselves in another's place. The Golden Rule embodies the noblest use of vicarious imagination, for to "do unto others", we have to imagine how they would like to be treated, and we have to imagine also how we would like to be treated in the same circumstance. Without vicarious imagination man would not have progressed beyond the animal stage.

In the professions imagination plays a dominant role. Ralph Adams Cram, in his delightful book, "My Life In Architecture", says that the three things that make an architect are historical imagination, creative imagination and the ability to visualize the finished structure in three dimensions. An architect does not have to be a good draftsman; he can hire all he needs. An architect does not have to be a good structural engineer; he can employ one. But imagination—historical, creative, and visual—is essential.

Our heritage, the heritage of the dental profession, is from men of culture, intelligence, and creative imagination. The founding fathers exhibited the three types of imagination Mr. Cram mentions. They had historical imagination. They knew the pain and the disfigurement caused by dental disease from the earliest days of civilization. They knew what efforts had been made to take care of the situation and how inadequate these efforts were. They faced reality. Of the estimated 1200 men who assumed the title of dentist in 1839 there were many competent practitioners and a large number of poorly trained ones. The public was not protected from charlatans, and a young man desiring to enter the profession had no opportunity to get an academic training in the science and art of dentistry.

With creative imagination the minds of the founding fathers formed the ideal concepts of dentistry, the profession it should be, the profession it could be, if based upon the practical tripod of a specialized school, a national journal, and an organized society. Creativity is more than mere imagination. It is imagination inseparably coupled with both purpose and activity. The master mind is the one which combines mastery of knowledge with mastery of imagination. Together they account for outstanding leadership. Our founding fathers exhibited this leadership and the result was the formal establishment of a new profession.

The year 1840 is considered the beginning of organized dentistry, for by that time we had acquired the three legs of the tripod that support our profession: a specialized school, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery; a national publication, the American Journal of Dental Science; and an organized society, the American Society of Dental Surgeons.

The founders of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery showed their creative imagination in forming a faculty composed of two dentists and two medical men, and in establishing a system of instruction where the basic sciences were considered of equal importance to the practical application of the art of dentistry. The first two men to get the benefit of all this, the first two men to earn the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery were Robert Arthur and R. Covington Mackall, both of Baltimore. Because of previous experience they had received advanced standing and were graduated on March 9, 1841.

Creative imagination continues to support the profession. Thomas A. Edison could not be accused of idea piracy and yet his advice was to "make it a habit to keep on the lookout for novel and interesting ideas that others have used successfully. Your idea needs to be original only in its adaptation to the problem you are working on". We have seen this many times in dentistry. Horace Wells did not invent nitrous oxide, but he had the creative imagination to adapt its use to surgical operations. The result was the discovery of surgical anesthesia, which many regard as America's greatest contribution to human welfare. John V. Borden did not invent the turbine, but he had the creative imagination to adapt its use to the dental handpiece, and the "Airotor" marks a great step forward in our operative equipment.

Creative imagination flourishes under a democracy, for its "spirit giveth life". This is our heritage, the heritage of American dentistry.

Obituary

Dr. Grayson W. Gaver graduated from the Dental School, University of Maryland in 1922 and was awarded a gold medal for his excellence and outstanding ability as a student. He was born and received his early education in Frederick County, graduating from Middletown High School in 1918.

DR. GRAYSON W. GAVER

Upon graduation from the dental school, he was appointed instructor in the Department of Prosthetics. Over the years, he was promoted to Assistant Professor, Associate Professor and finally Professor and Head of the Department of Prosthetics.

During World War II, he became the dental consultant for the Third Service Command of the United States Army and in 1951 to 1957 served in the same capacity for the Veterans Administration. He was a member of the Board of Governors of the Red Shield Boys Club, a fellow of the American College of Dentists, a member of Psi Omega Fraternity and a charter member of the Baltimore Chapter of Omicron Kappa Upsilon Honorary Fraternity. Dr. Gaver has appeared before many of the state societies presenting clinics and numerous papers on dental prosthetics. He has served as President of the Maryland State Dental Society in 1946. He was the recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award for 1963.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hickey and two grandchildren. Mrs. Hickey desires to establish a memorial fund in the name of her late father. You may send your contribution to: Dr. Arthur I. Bell, 1009 Frederick Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland. Make your check payable to the National Alumni Association of the B.C.D.S.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

The fifth Triennial meeting of the Alumni Association which will be held in Baltimore on March 4, 5 and 6, 1965 will be dedicated to the 125th anniversary of the founding of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery on March 6, 1840. Accordingly, a program which will include an historical exhibit and brochure—an address on the history of dentistry or on dental education—scientific presentations—social functions and a special banquet is being contemplated. A rather large committee has been appointed by Dr. L. Lynn Emmart to carry out the proposed objectives.

Obviously preparations for such as we envision requires much time, hard work and inspired interest not only by the committee but by all who feel a sense of gratitude and love for their Alma Mater. We invite your suggestions and support.

Dean Salley's Message

service to the profession. In May of this year a committee of the dental faculty began extensive discussions directed at an orderly programming of a new physical facility for dentistry on the Baltimore Campus. It has occurred to all your faculty leaders that this also is a most propitious time for a general evaluation and revitalization of our curriculum. Bricks, mortar and new equipment in more spacious surroundings notwithstanding, an academic institution can be no better than its program and the people who staff it. As in the past our central theme must be the instruction we offer to dental students. We must give a great deal of time and thought to improving this nucleus in our total program of dental education. On the other hand we cannot overlook other such requisites for the modern school of dentistry as expanded activities in graduate and post-graduate instruction, continuation education for area practitioners, and the training of dental auxiliaries. All must be undergirded by a strong research effort in fundamental, applied and clinical investigations in both the biological and physical sciences. I think it is quite evident that we are confronted with a monumental task, but also one filled with great excitement and challenge. We will need not only your active support but your wise counsel. To this end may I say that the door of the Dean's Office is always open and we solicit and welcome your ideas and suggestions.

My thanks to your editor for his invitation to convey these words to you. In the days and months to come I will look forward to meeting you personally.

Octogenarian and Twice A Dean

DR. J. BEN ROBINSON

Dr. J. Ben Robinson, dean emeritus of the West Virginia University School of Dentistry, was born April 16, 1883, in Harrison County, near Clarksburg, the son of Joseph Blackwell and Martha Fox Robinson.

He received his early education in the rural schools of Harrison County, attended Fairmont Normal and Marshall College, (now University). Prior to entering dental school, after his graduation from Marshall in 1908, he took summer graduate work at West Virginia University while teaching at Magnolia High School, New Martinsville.

He also taught in the country schools of Harrison County between the years he was graduated from Fairmont Normal and the time that he enrolled at Marshall College.

As a student in the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, University of Maryland, at which he enrolled in 1911 he made such an outstanding record that when he was graduated magna cum laude in 1914, he was invited to remain at Baltimore as instructor in operative dentistry. Successively, he became professor of clinical dentistry, operative dentistry, dental anatomy and operative technique.

In 1922, Maryland's Governor Ritchie appointed him to the Maryland State Board of Dental Examiners, a position he held until 1924, when he resigned to return to the university as dean.

He was president of the Maryland State Dental Association in 1921-22. In 1931, he was made professor of dental history and dental ethics, a title which he retained with the deanship.

He was president of the American Association of Dental Schools in 1932-33; American College of Dentists, 1934-35; American Dental Association in 1942-43; American Academy of the History of Dentistry in 1951; and was supreme grand master of Omicron Kappa Upsilon, national honorary dental society, from 1931 to 1948.

In 1950-52, he was consultant to the U. S. Public Health Service in a study of dental education in the United States. In 1943, he represented the Department of State as a good-will ambassador at the Mexican Medical Congress in Mexico City.

At the time of his appointment as dean of the West Virginia University School of Dentistry in May 1953, he was dental adviser to the library of the Surgeon General, and was a consulting editor to the President Toomey's Report

Annual Business Meeting—June 3, 1963

Dear Fellow Alumni:

I wish to thank you for being with us today at our annual business meeting. It is fine to see so many old friends again and it does wonders for the morale of your officers and committees.

It is only proper that I mention briefly some of the important programs and events of last year. Our greatest surprise was the unexpected announcement of the retirement of Dean Aisenberg. This immediately called for many decisions of your Executive Council. A proper tribute to Dr. Aisenberg was a must from the Alumni Association. A committee composed of Dr. George Anderson, chairman, Dr. Harry Levin, and Dr. Conrad Inman, Sr., contacted Dr. Aisenberg regarding this matter. It was decided that a portrait of Dr. Aisenberg, to be hung in the Dental School, was most pleasing to him.

The Executive Council was also concerned about the selection of a new dean and what part the alumni might play, if any. A committee was appointed by Dr. Elkins, and was charged with the responsibility of screening qualified men. The results are reported in great detail in The Journal of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland of last week so I will not repeat. Dr. John J. Salley, the new Dean, was invited to attend the June Week Program, but had prior commitments and could not be present.

Our new constitution was put into effect this year. This will give greater cohesiveness and continuity to all phases of our Association. From now on, one man will be added to most committees each year for a term of five years. This will carry forward (into the next year for final solution) the thoughts, desires and unfinished business of the committee.

Dr. Paul Hoffman was appointed chairman of a special committee to establish rules, regulations and requirements for the "Distinguished Alumnus Committee". His report is an example of hard work and a job well done. I urge that his new proposed committee be made a standing constitutional committee and that its working rules and regulations be attached as an appendage to the constitution in order that it might be perpetuated.

I wish to thank Dr. Joseph Seipp and staff for an exceptional publication of the Alma Mater. This was Joe's first attempt at such an awesome assignment and I feel that his result deserves the highest praise. He is also a member of the American Association of Dental Editors. Next year he will publish a News Letter to fill the gap between Alma Mater editions. Gentlemen, this department is in conscientious hands.

The One Hundred Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery will fall at the same time as our next Triennial Meeting in 1965. These two events should be held at the same time in order to assure adequate attendance in commemorating such an historic event. Dr. Joseph Cappuccio is chairman of the Interim Triennial Committee and will follow through with this assignment. A committee has been activated by Dr. Aisenberg to consider publishing a history of the Dental School. Alumni members are Dr. J. Ben Robinson and Dr. Joseph Seipp.

A "Maryland Club" is also proposed to be established on the periphery of the campus. This will be controlled by Baltimore Alumni groups. Dr. Cappuccio is our representative in this new idea. Incidentally, his "Life Membership Brochure" is excellent and has been well received.

The new dental school naturally is in everyone's mind. At present we receive "managed news". The information is as vague and uncertain as a communique about Cuba. I can only urge that our association work with the Faculty Committee and the Maryland State Dental Committee to further the best interest of the Dental School.

There is one awkward situation which I hope can be eliminated by the establishment of a necrology committee. Previously in times of sorrow, flowers, cards, letters or some other fitting symbol of our condolence has been sent to families of deceased members. Many times we received our information too late for our response to be effective. This item has been deleted from our budget for the last two years. I, therefore, recommend that at our annual business meetings the names of deceased members be read and a short announcement of our tribute be sent to their families by the committee chairman. This is a fair and equal consideration for all.

I want to thank all committee chairmen and committee members for their cooperation and hard work in making this a successful year. After our banquet you will know that Drs. Veltre and Heese, our co-chairmen for arrangements, have given us the best. Drs. Clendenin, Trager, Bryant, Emmart, Schunick, Preis, Abramson and Lynch, all committee chairmen, have graciously responded whenever needed. Your Executive Council, Alumni Council Representatives and Endowment Fund Trustees have been exceptional in their attendance, interest and loyalty to the school and Alumni Association. Further thanks must be extended to Drs. George Anderson, Joe Cappuccio, Paul Hoffman and our able secretary Calvin Gaver, for their noble efforts and assistance.

In conclusion I wish to make the following recommendations for next year:

- (1) The Executive Council should make plans for welcoming Dean Salley into our group.

- (2) The Constitution and By-Laws should be printed in a convenient form.

(3) The Interim Triennial Committee should be continued and should assist in planning the 125th anniversary of the B.C.D.S. in 1965.

(4) The Life Membership Drive should be continued.

(5) The Committee for the new Dental School should be continued.

(6) We should make a standing committee of the "Committee to Select the Distinguished Alumnus" and in some manner attach its functions and procedures to the constitution.

(7) A Necrology Committee should be established as mentioned.

(8) Further attempts should be made to revitalize our sectional groups. A cocktail party at the Greater New York Meeting has been suggested.

(9) Canvass the Alumni with pertinent questions in the form of a "tear off" in the Alma Mater or News Letter regarding their opinion and suggestions for improvement.

It has been a great honor and a privilege to have been your president during this year. I humbly thank you for the opportunity. I wish Dr. Lynn Emmart success and good fortune as your next President, and know that his vast experience in dental affairs will make for a productive year.

Respectfully submitted,
Lewis C. Toomey, President

Annual Business Meeting—June 6, 1963

The meeting was called to order by President Toomey about 10:30 A.M. There were approximately 75 members present.

Minutes of the 1962 Annual Business Meeting were approved as published in the Journal. Dr. C. Adam Bock, the Association Treasurer, made a complete report for the year. This report was accepted and will be published in its entirety in the Alma Mater. The Editor's report, the Trustees' report, and University Alumni Council report were also accepted and will be published in the aforementioned Journal. There was no report from the Historian. Under committee reports the Association accepted the Budget and Audit report by Dr. Samuel Bryant, the Solicitations report by Dr. Trager, the Life Membership report by Dr. Cappuccio, the Awards report by Dr. Abramson, and the Nominating Committee report by Dr. Cappuccio. All these committee reports are on file with the Secretary, and will be published as last year.

The Arrangements Committee report by Dr. Veltre briefly outlined our June Week Activities and mentioned that tentative plans were made for a cocktail party in Atlantic City during the American Dental Association Meeting. At this point, Dr. Giuditta, from New Jersey, asked if there was anything the New Jersey section of the Alumni could do for the general Alumni during this meeting. He pointed out that his state section would like to sponsor some affair. He felt that if there was some way to establish better liaison between the parent organization and the sections much more could be accomplished. A general discussion followed regarding the section's responsibility to the parent organization and vice versa. The President-elect, the present secretary, and representatives from the sections will meet to try to resolve this problem.

The special committee appointed for honoring the retiring dean under the leadership of Dr. Anderson reported the portrait will be ready for our annual dinner-dance on Friday, June 7.

A report of the Special Committee for the Triennial Meeting, 1965, was given by Dr. Cappuccio. This report will be published in the Journal. At the conclusion of this report the Committee was released, and the Committee which will actually function during this meeting was appointed to assume this responsibility.

Dr. Edward Stone asked if there was some way of having the official name of the organization abbreviated. He felt it was too cumbersome. After a rather lengthy discussion, the recommendation made by Dr. Stone was rejected by the members present.

There was no report from the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws, but Dr. Anderson, the incoming Committee Chairman, asked that all recommendations of the past year be forwarded to him and that the committee would review them and make their recommendations regarding constitutional changes.

Following new business, Dr. Toomey read his report as retiring president of the Association. This report was accepted by Dr. E. A. Leatherman, Chairman of the Committee to accept the President's report. The other members of the Committee were Drs. Bianco and Dressel. Both the President's report and the Committee's report will be published in the Journal.

After the election and presentation of the new officers was completed, Dr. Seipp, the editor of the Alma Mater, asked the members present to accept the disclaimer clause he would like published with each issue. This disclaimer clause absolves the Association and editorial staff from the responsibility of any misinformation published. This recommendation was approved unanimously.

As a parting gesture to the retiring Dean, Dr. Cappuccio offered a resolution which was accepted and is to be made a part of the minutes.

The following is Dr. Cappuccio's resolution:

Resolved, that the members of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, are much indebted to Dean Aisenberg for his many years of service to our profession and alma mater. He has served our school both as a teacher and a dean from 1922-1963.

We realize that at this annual meeting of our Association held June 6, 1963, Baltimore, Maryland, that Dr. Aisenberg has served for the last time officially as the dean of our alma mater.

He has served as the dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, with great distinction and integrity. It is with a great deal of regret that we recognize his official retirement as the dean of our alma mater.

As members of the Alumni Association we wish to thank and congratulate Dean Aisenberg for his many contributions to our Alumni Association and alma mater and to wish Dr. Aisenberg many years of good health and prosperity.

The resolution was passed with a unanimous vote.

The meeting adjourned at approximately 12:25 P.M.

Report of the Solicitations Committee

After due deliberation the Solicitations Committee concluded that an active campaign for capital funds at the present time would not be advisable.

However, it was suggested that the next year's committee insert information relative to solicitations in the next issue of the Alma Mater and the committee should begin planning an active campaign.

JESSE TRAGER, Chairman.

Report of the Interim Committee for the 1965 Triennial Meeting

The Interim Committee for the 1965 Triennial Meeting of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, met on March 7 at the Student Union Building to develop and consider preliminary plans for the 1965 meeting. It was reported by the chairman of the committee that the year 1965 would represent the 125th anniversary of the founding of our Alma Mater. Governor Grayson signed the charter that started our school on March 6, 1840. The committee was of the opinion that this date which is of historical significance should play a part in our 125th celebration. It was decided after much discussion that the dates of the 125th anniversary meeting should be March 5, 6, 7, 1965. The next consideration was to determine what part of the greater University of Maryland and the schools of the Baltimore campus should play in this meeting. It was the opinion of the committee that the entire University should play a rather major part in our meeting. The committee felt, after much deliberation that a two and one-half day meeting starting on Thursday morning, March 5, and ending on Saturday afternoon, March 7, would be adequate. Some consideration was given as to the exact location of this meeting. Many facilities were mentioned as possible locations, such as the Belvedere Hotel, Lord Baltimore Hotel, and the new Statler-Hilton Hotel (possible erection time about December, 1964). A member of the committee was charged with the responsibility to check out the new facility of the Statler-Hilton Hotel. The latest information available to us indicates that this hotel would not be ready in time for our use. During the discussion it was pointed out that University officials and well-known clinicians could be used at the formal program of the meeting. Also, the possibility of the writing about the 125 years of history of our school should be considered and this could be made a part of the formal proceedings of the meeting.

The committee felt that a general arrangements committee should be appointed by the incoming President, Dr. L. Lynn Emmart. This would be a permanent committee which would organize and produce the 125th anniversary meeting. The complement of the committee should be approximately 12 members; with a sub-committee of 12 women. The women's committee would be a separate committee answering to the general arrangements committee. It was our opinion that the general arrangements committee should be a separate committee of our Association and should be appointed immediately after Dr. Emmart takes office. The duties of the present interim committee would end with Dr. Toomey's administration. The problem of money and budget was considered. It was felt that the 1963-64 budget should make money available to initiate the planning of this special meeting. The figure mentioned during the discussion was $5,000. This money could be made available to the committee immediately and added monies could be allocated, if necessary, in the 1965 budget.

The Executive Council of our Association considered the above suggestions and proposals of the interim committee, and gave general approval and sanction. The incoming President, Dr. Emmart, has already contacted individuals to serve on this very important special general arrangements committee. The General Arrangements Committee for the 125th Anniversary Meeting will start its work immediately after the conclusion of June Week, 1963.

It is the feeling of this committee that with this report and the appointment of the special committee, that the work of the interim committee is completed. As chairman of this committee, I wish to thank Drs. Anderson, Emmart, Leatherman and Michael for a job well done.

JOSEPH P. CAPPUCIO, Chairman.

Editor's Report

In order to sell advertising space one must be an excellent salesman. Think of the obstacles which the first business manager had to overcome to obtain advertising space in a journal which has never been published. This was a challenge aptly suited to our retiring business manager, Dr. Cappuccio. He was able to obtain more than three hundred dollars worth of paid space in the first issue of the journal. Let me point out to you that he is leaving with an excellent record. The income from the advertisers in the last issue has increased almost 50%. This reduces the cost of publication of that issue to about $1,500.00. In addition to his capacity as business manager, he has written material upon many occasions. I am deeply grateful for his outstanding service to this journal.

Without such capable assistance from my staff, Dr. Jack Wooden and Dr. Calvin Gaver, it would not have been possible to publish such a fine issue in November. Incidentally, both of them have been actively soliciting potential advertisers.

The advisory board, Dr. George M. Anderson, Dr. Morton Hollander and Dr. José Medina, provided me with the wisdom and the know-how of managing and publishing a journal. I am especially grateful for the many, many hours that Dr. Anderson spent proof reading the material of the last issue. Without such assistance, many grammatical errors would not have been eliminated. My thanks to Dr. Kyrle W. Preis, who provided material and his years of experience with this journal.

My indebtedness is due to Dr. David Heese, our new business manager, who is undertaking a comprehensive and aggressive program to procure more advertisers.

I should like to thank Dr. Ethelbert Lovett for his contribution. He received many favorable comments on his article.

Edward J. Meredith, Jr. and Raymond C. Dilzer contributed the cartoons for the page entitled All In A Day's Work. I take this opportunity to extend my appreciation to them.

My appreciation is due to all chairmen of the various committees, the secretaries or editors of the component societies and the contributing members and especially Dr. Katharine Toomey for the material they have submitted.

Please don't forget to send me any news and photographs concerning the members of this association.

Report of the Public Relations Committee

The Public Relations Committee has secured the services of a Public Relations Consultant, The Joseph Shaner Co., to publicize the academic, social and scientific events of June Week. The names of the Officers and various Committee Chairmen and the biographies of our honored Alumni, Dean Aisenberg and Dr. Gaver, have been sent to radio, television and the press.

Prior to this meeting, five different news releases were sent to the daily press in the Baltimore area to report that the convention was scheduled. One of these releases was written so that it could be sent to newspapers all over the State, the Washington dailies and surrounding areas. Another of the five releases was sent to all radio and television stations in the Baltimore-Washington area. Mr. Shaner and staff will be present to assist reporters during the meetings.

It is recommended that the expenses incurred for the publicity of June Week should become a budgetary item of our Association.

Report of the Committee on Life Membership

The committee on life membership of the Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, wishes to report that it met on March 7 at the Student Union Building to discuss possible ways and means of stimulating more participation in life memberships. It was concluded by the committee that the attractive brochure which was sent out in 1961 had done much to stimulate interest in life memberships. The Association enjoyed continued success along these lines during the year 1961-62. There was no question about the fact that the brochure had made the difference. It was the unanimous opinion of our committee that another brochure along the same lines of the previous one should be sent to the membership. The following recommendations were made by the committee:

1. Another attractive brochure should be sent to the general membership.
2. A list of all life members should be printed on the brochure. This is an addition to the original brochure.
3. An attempt should be made to acquire more life memberships during class reunions in June, 1963.
4. The complete list of life members should be printed once again in the next Alma Mater.
5. An attempt should be made to get father-son combinations as life members of our Association.

These recommendations were accepted and approved by the Executive Council of our Association. The program as stated above was carried out. An attractive brochure, with minor changes of our 1961 brochure, was mailed to the membership on May 17, 1963. We have already received two new life memberships as of this date. During the June Week activities we will drive for new life memberships. It is my opinion that the Association should do much better along these lines.

At present there are 134 life members in our Association. As you know, this represents a very small percentage of our total number of graduates which is considered to be about 4,000. In recent years we have made tremendous strides toward increasing the number of life members. It is our hope that this follow-up brochure will bring about the necessary results which we have envisioned for it.

Summary of Alumni Council Activities—1962-1963

The University of Maryland Alumni Council, representing eleven schools and college Alumni groups, and a number of geographical groups, consists of 48 full members and twelve ex-officio members. The financial structure of this organization is arranged on a fiscal year basis from July 1 to June 30 of each year.

Last July the annual elections were held and the program for the year established. Working committees were named to deal with the major interests of the Alumni Association, including Alumni Clubs, Board of Regents, Exceptional Students, Solicitations, University Expansion, Alumni Association and Council, Publications and the Alumni Magazine, Special Events, and Membership. All Committees have functioned on an active and aggressive basis with reports being rendered at each of the Council meetings to date. In addition to four such formal meetings there have been a number of special committee meetings workshops.

Among the accomplishments of the year were the active support of legislation to provide the additional branches of the University, the establishment of a new Alumni Club on the Eastern Shore, meetings with a Faculty Committee to establish an outstanding Honors Program and Recognition for Gifted Students, the establishment of a list of Outstanding Alumni for consideration as members of the Board of Regents, and a membership campaign which brought approximately 400 new members into the Association.

An outstanding feature of the year was sponsorship of the Madrigal Singers in Salisbury in connection with the dedication of the new stage at the Civic Center. More than 1500 people attended this affair. The Council and its members assisted in promotion of Homecoming, Alumni Day, Class Reunions, individual College Alumni Banquets and functions, and undertook extensive surveying and studying of problem areas.

Special attention was directed toward a review of the Alumni Association, the Council and the functions of the Alumni Office. A review was also made of the Solicitation Policy as it relates to both dues and the Greater University Fund. This effort resulted in comprehensive reports and meetings with representatives of the University Administration, to work out the best approach to the problems and to solve the differences which have been a handicap to University-Alumni relations. Much remains to be done in this area, but the groundwork has been laid, background data assembled, and agreement established through which both the Alumni Council and the Administration of the University will establish respective areas of operations and in turn strive to achieve mutually satisfactory programs, projects and directives.

Through the efforts of the Association and Council, both Homecoming and Alumni Day Programs have been successfully carried out. Assistance has been rendered for individual school banquets, class reunions and alumni club functions. The annual European Tour has been conducted, and plans laid for another. Support has been given in the form of scholarship assistance, in athletics and in student functions. Council representatives have participated in Commencement Activities, Convocations and other special events.

Possibly the two highlights of the year were an extended session with the Deans of all of the schools and colleges, and the self study which was made of the Alumni Association. In the first instance, we learned of functions, programs, and goals of both the central Administration and the respective components of the University. In the second, the Council learned where the Alumni Association has failed, and the road it can best travel to achieve its maximum potential.

EDWARD D. STONE, JR., Chairman.

Distinguished Alumnus Award Committee

The following are the rules under which the Distinguished Alumnus Award Committee will operate:

1. There shall be a Distinguished Alumnus Award committee consisting of 10 members who are broadly representative of the geographic areas of the dental alumni membership, each of whom shall have been a member of the Dental Alumni Association of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, for not less than three years. To the fullest possible extent, nominees to this committee shall be actively interested members of the Dental Alumni Association.
2. No member of the Award Committee appointed for a full term shall be eligible for reappointment until the expiration of one year after the close of his term. A vacancy occurring in the committee between periods of regular appointment shall be filled for the remainder of the term by the President of the Alumni Association with the approval of the Executive Council.
3. The Distinguished Alumnus Award committee is charged with the nomination of the recipient or recipients of the Annual Distinguished Alumnus Award. In preparation for the performance of its duties, the Committee shall formulate a detailed procedure to be approved and published by the Executive Council. The nominee or nominees for the award shall have the approval of the Executive Council of the Alumni Association.
4. The Committee shall meet formally once a year before the month of October to organize itself and fix the time of its future meetings. The Committee shall elect its own officers. Its proceedings should be secret and all information given to it should be confidential. It may invite and shall receive and consider all communications in reference to persons proposed as recipients of the Distinguished Alumnus Award. The Committee shall make careful examinations as to their eligibility. Absence of a member of the award committee from two consecutive meetings, without a valid reason communicated to the chairman of the Committee, shall vacate the member's position on this Committee.
5. It shall not be mandatory that the Distinguished Alumnus Award be given annually. If the Committee is unable to decide on a candidate in a given year, it would be best to make no award for that year but to continue the investigation of candidates for another year. In this way deserving candidates who have been thoroughly investigated will receive the award.

6. The Committee shall be fully responsible for investigating, selecting, nominating and conferring of the Distinguished Alumnus Award on the candidate or candidates.

7. The award shall be bestowed on the candidate in the name of the University and the Dental Alumni Association during graduation week at the time of the regular student award exercises unless a more appropriate time is selected by the Awards Committee.

8. The chairman of the Award Committee shall present the award unless for good and sufficient reasons he wants to nominate another person to make the presentation.

9. The form of the award will be selected and made by the Award Committee. The chairman of the Award Committee shall be responsible for securing the award and having it suitably inscribed and presented to the recipient or recipients.

10. The candidate to be selected must be a graduate of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland and show outstanding qualities of leadership in one or more of the following categories.

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------|
| A. General Dentistry or its Specialties. | E. Administration. |
| B. Education. | F. Federal Dental Services. |
| C. Political Science. | G. Community Service. |
| D. Research. | |

11. The Award Committee shall at periodic intervals advise all graduates of the B.C.D.S., Dental School, University of Maryland, of the duties of the Committee and ask for the names of potential nominees to be submitted in writing to the Chairman of the Award Committee.

12. The Award Committee shall maintain a continuing file of all potential candidates for the use of the members of the present and future Award Committees. The file shall be kept in the possession of the current chairman of the Award Committee. It shall be the duty of the retiring chairman to transfer the file to the new chairman within a period of sixty days. In the event this is not done within the specified time limit it shall be the responsibility of the President of the Alumni Association to see that it is done as soon as possible.

13. Each year the Executive Council should provide an adequate budget for the Award Committee work.

14. The chairman of the Award Committee will be responsible for all publicity regarding the work of the committee. It should be his duty to see that all publications of the Dental School and the University of Maryland are promptly notified of the details of the presentation ceremony and all matters related to selection of recipients for the Distinguished Alumnus Award.

15. Because of the nature of work and the responsibility of the committee, it is suggested that the Award Committee elect from its own members one person who will be both Secretary and Chairman. The Secretary-Chairman will serve a period of two years and cannot be reelected.

16. The Award Committee shall meet at least twice a year. The time and place of the meeting shall be set by the chairman. It will be the duty of the chairman to communicate with the members of his committee immediately upon his appointment and to begin gathering information on possible candidates for the nomination of the Distinguished Alumnus Award. The entire file of candidates will be considered each year by the Award Committee.

17. Ten men should be appointed to the first committee. At the end of three years, two men chosen by lot by the Award Committee will retire from the Committee and two new men, who are members of the Alumni Association of the Dental School, will be appointed by the President of the Alumni Association with the approval of the Executive Council, to replace them. This form of selection and appointment will continue until all of the original ten committeemen are replaced. Thereafter the two oldest members in years of service on the Committee will be automatically dropped and two new members will be added by the President and the Executive Council. The changes in the personnel of the committee should coincide with the annual change of administration of the officers of the Alumni Association.

The Committee of the President's Message

The Committee of the President's message commends the President for his deliberations and concentrated efforts on behalf of the Alumni Association. The committee concurs in the following:

1. The Executive Council should make plans for welcoming Dean Salley into our group.
2. The Constitution and By-Laws should be printed in a convenient form.
3. The Interim Triennial Committee should be continued and should assist in planning the 125th anniversary of the B.C.D.S. in 1965.
4. The Life Membership Drive should be continued.
5. The Committee for the new Dental School should be continued. We recommend that this committee work with the State Committee and Dean Salley.
6. "The Committee to Select the Distinguished Alumnus" should be made a standing committee and in some manner attach its functions and procedures to the constitution.
7. A Necrology Committee should be established. We further recommend that the plans for this committee be finalized by the Executive Council.
8. Further attempts should be made to revitalize our sectional groups. A cocktail party at the Greater New York Meeting has been suggested. We further recommend that this be given consideration by the Executive Council. We recommend that this activity be self supporting.
9. Canvass the Alumni with pertinent questions in the form of a "tear off" in the Alma Mater or News Letter regarding their opinion and suggestions for improvement.

BOOK REVIEW

An Approach To Ethics

By. Ethelbert Lovett, D.D.S. Second Edition, 126 pages with illustrations. Price $5.00. Waverly Press, Inc., Baltimore, Maryland. Distributed by Campus Bookstore, University of Maryland, Baltimore, Maryland.

The second edition of "An Approach to Ethics" by Lovett fits well with the recent revision of the "Principles of Ethics" by the American Dental Association and the latest "Opinions" of its Judicial Council. Dr. Lovett has updated this work and has added new material, much of which appeared in his column "The Winding Path" that appeared in Dental Survey.

The book is divided into twelve chapters, with Chapter X covering the Principles of Ethics of the American Dental Association and containing the Advisory Opinions of the Judicial Council. Chapter XI goes into more detail in interpreting these principles. The other ten chapters lay the basis for the reader's approach to ethics, from the ethics of professional activity to that of one's whole life. It is illustrated and although the author calls these illustrations "primitive", the effect is startling and at the same time refreshing to the reader accustomed to the usual stereotyped text.

The author has masterfully presented, in a flowing readable fashion, a subject that in other hands could easily have been dry and stilted. Dr. Lovett's style is best summed up in part of a quotation from the text; he presents "a familiar story in an unfamiliar way". In doing so, he has prepared a volume that is a must for every student of dentistry and highly recommended for the practitioner of any phase of dentistry.

Editorial

In determining the acceptability of advertising from dental and dental auxiliary educational institutions and teaching hospitals, reference might be made to the lists of approved educational programs prepared by the Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association. However, only programs conducted by or under the auspices of voluntary, nonprofit dental and dental auxiliary institutions and hospitals are evaluated for approval by the Council.

Books. Most books offered for the advertising in dental journals are of a technical or scientific nature and are published by well known reputable medical publishing houses. Rarely must books from these sources be questioned. Books from little known sources or books about which there may be some question should be reviewed and appraised by a competent reviewer before being advertised to the publication's readers.

Miscellaneous nondental products or services. Advertisements for the nondental national or local products or services which are of interest to the dentist, such as advertisements of banks, laundries, milk companies, pharmacies, telephone answering services, florists, etc., should meet the same standards as dental advertisements. The text and illustrations of such advertisements should be dignified and not blatant, in bad taste or derogatory of other products or services.
